SUMMARY.

Fighting with the utmost violence continues north of Arras, but the progress of the Allies is maintained.

The Germans are multiplying their efforts to retake the lost trenches north of the Aisne.

The enemy made desperate attempts to pierce the Allies' line near Pervyse.

The Allies sprayed the trenches at Vauquois with burning liquid by way of reprisal.

An artillery duel of extreme intensity occurred at Notre Dame de Lorette and Ablain. The enemy's attacks failed.

The Germans made counter-attacks north of the Aisne, but they were unsuccessful. The Allies maintained their position.

The frontier between Zeeland and Flanders is to be closed for nine days.

Krupps have erected a cannon hospital at Saint Quentin for repairs to worn-out guns.

The German raid in the Baltic provinces was determined and ferocious.

The Russians were finally victorious, and their artillery advanced over many thousands of German corpses.

It is estimated that there are 40 German army corps in Galicia. The battle is expected to last another month.

The enemy made obstinate attacks east of Przemysl. Prolonged hand-to-hand fighting took place.

German and Austrian communiques claim that the Austro-Germans have gained a footing on the northern bank of the Dniester.

It is stated that 33,805 Russians were taken prisoner at Przemysl and in battles since June 1.

A telegram from Vienna states that the Austrians are within 10 miles of Lemberg.

The German Emperor has arrived in Vienna.

Servian troops invaded Albania, and occupied the region of the Lower Dibra unopposed.

All establishments hitherto manufacturing luxuries in Russia are being adapted to the production of munitions.

The masters in Lancashire are rapidly organising shell-making.

Of 80,000 skilled engineers in the Manchester district 18,000 are engaged in making munitions. Women are offering their services.

The French mine-layer Casabianca struck a mine at the entrance to a bay in the Aegean Sea.

Krupps have established a large factory for the manufacture of shells and explosives at Constantinople.

The Aberdeen steamer Star of the West and the barque Sunlight have been torpedoed by German submarines.

The trawler Arctic has been sunk by a submarine. Five survivors landed, the rest of the crew being killed by shell-fire.

When the House of Commons met on Monday the new Ministers were warmly welcomed.

The debate on the second reading of the Minister of Munitions Bill was proceeded with.

Labour members warned the Government that any attempt to introduce conscript labour would lead to strenuous opposition.

The good start of the week in recruiting was well maintained yesterday, about 230 men being enrolled.

The "fit and free" who neglect to enlist were the subject of unfavourable comment at a City Council committee meeting.

Lieutenant-Colonel Gould, second in command of the 25th Infantry Regiment, has died in Brisbane.

One of the volunteers for the front from Ulmarra was accidentally drowned while crossing the river in a punt.

The barque Antiope arrived at Newcastle yesterday with a cargo of 1,100,000 feet of timber.

The Antiope is the last of the old ships that brought emigrants from England to Australia.

Yesterday's contributions from 141 schools to the Children's Ten Thousand brought the total to date up to £25,119.

The Government is arranging to import fodder to tide over the shortage.

In the meantime, Mr. Hall says, steps are being taken to bring existing stocks on to the market.

Mr. Hall told a deputation of master bakers that stocks of wheat on the water would be sufficient to carry on.

These stocks are to be supplemented from time to time as occasion may require.

The Minister for Mines has been inquiring into the industrial situation at Broken Hill.

The miners are to be put on half-time next week owing to the disorganisation of the metal market.

The legal aspect of the question prevents a settlement of the anti-German strike at the Waterloo Glass Bottle Works.

J. S. Cotter, night officer, was acquitted of the charge brought against him in connection with the Binalong collision.

Milk producers at Dapto have resolved that the price of milk to the dairy farmers should be increased to 1½d per gallon.

The butter shortage was more pronounced than ever in Sussex-street yesterday.

It was announced in Melbourne that there would be no advance in the price of butter this week.

Mr. Wade has been in communication with the Chief Commissioner on the subject of the Milson's Point terminal station.

The Chief Commissioner has agreed to receive a deputation on the subject at 11.30 a.m. to-morrow.

According to a Japanese official from Yokohama, trade between Japan and Australia has expanded remarkably of late years.

It is intended to open an Australian branch of the Yokohama Specie Bank in Sydney.

Mr. Cann has taken preliminary action to secure electoral uniformity between Commonwealth and State.

The question of erecting more workmen's dwellings at Chippendale was discussed by the works committee of the City Council.

The municipal flats in this area were said to be a losing concern. A report is to be called for.

It is estimated that over 50 per cent. of the sheep in Riverina will be lost owing to the drought.

Since being brought back from the mountain pastures sheep have perished in thousands.

Queensland is feeling the effects of a serious dry spell, amounting practically to a drought.

The slaughtering of stock for export at Snake Island and elsewhere has ceased for the present, owing to the scarcity of stock.

Owing to the shortage of cream supplies, a number of hands have been put off at North Coast butter factories.

The chaff famine has reached serious dimensions in the Hay district.

Judge Murray took exception yesterday to the method usually adopted in the administration of the oath to witnesses.

At the Central Criminal Court two men were sentenced to two years' with hard labour for stealing military stores.

Two men were seriously injured by a blasting accident at the White Bay deviation works yesterday.

At the resumption of the wool sales yesterday all good wools ruled at prices equal to the best rates of the season.

A moderate amount of business was transacted on the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday at easier prices.

A fair distributing business was done in groceries. Complaint was still made of the shortage of sugar and condensed milk.

There was a strong demand from the country for cornsacks for season's delivery.

A good inquiry for bacon was noted, and all grades advanced. New-laid eggs met with a steady demand at late rates.

Further heavy advances were made in several metal manufactures yesterday.

The unprecedented price of zinc has resulted in a big rise in zinc white in oils.

Forecast.—Unsettled generally, with rain over the greater part of the State; winds veering to cold southerlies, strong to gales on the South Coast; snow on the Southern Highlands.

FARMER'S TO-DAY.

MY LADY'S WRITING TABLE.

LETTER PAPER CABINETS DE LUXE.

DAINTY PAPERS FOR PERSONAL NOTES.

THE CULT OF THE CORRESPONDENCE CARD.

THE LADY OF THE HOUSE'S STATIONERY.—WHEN THE DAUGHTER WRITES.—LOVE-LETTERS SUGGESTED.—"HIS" DUTY.—WHAT "SHE" REQUIRES. — CORRESPONDENCE CARDS, GILT AND NOT GILT. —A FOUNTAIN PEN FOR EVERY LETTER.—PATRIOTIC BRIDGE.

The gentle art of letter-writing is a matter of much moment to "Madam," not forgetting "Miss Sweetheart," and even the "Kiddies" are catered for in our Fancy Stationery Department. "My Lady's Writing Table" is a shrine to which much devotion will be paid during the coming months.

The American Stationery House of Great Repute—the celebrated Hurds—have all their special lines for the "Lady of the House," and the "Daughter of the House," especially stocked by us in "Cabinets de Luxe." Hurd's Large Size Stationery Cabinet contains 5 Quires of (a) Large Size Letter Paper and Envelopes, (b) Medium Size for answering invitations, (c) Small for dainty personal notes, (d) Gilt-edged Correspondence Cards. The colour is the beautiful steel white, and the price 20/. Hurd's "Lawnette" is a smaller Cabinet, containing paper in 4 sizes and envelopes, and has been especially manufactured for the "Daughter of the House." This Cabinet can be had in steel white, grey, pink, or pale blue, price 15/.

Correspondence Cards, which have largely taken the place of notepaper for the general letter and invitations of "Madam," are packed in the "Neapolitan" Cabinet, in pale blue, purple, aster, or grey, price 10/6. Hurd's "Lawnette Correspondence Cards, Gilt-edged, are stocked in boxes containing 3 sizes, in pink, pale eblue, grey, or coffee, price 9/6. Hurd's Gilt-edged Long Initial Correspondence Cards, 3/9 per box, with embossed initial.

There is no doubt if "He" is going to the front, and expects regular letters, "She" should be presented with a dainty box, such as Hurd's Linen Notepaper, 2 sizes, in dainty upstanding box, beautifully decorated with roses, 5/; or Hurd's Flat Boxes of White Linen Finish Notepaper and Envelopes, the boxes decorated with "Her" favourite flower, Carnations, Pansies, Violets, or Roses, 1/9 per box.

Young Ladies have been specially catered for by Hurd's in striking red and green small Cabinets of one size, White Linen Finish Paper and Envelopes and Correspondence Cards, price 6/9; while birthday felicitations to friends should go on Gilt-edged Note in pale blue, pink, coffee, or mauve, price 4/6.

English Court Notepaper is represented by Goodall's "Baskerville" Vellum Wove, 2 quires (48) sheets, letter size, and Envelopes, 3/9; in Mourning Italian border (very narrow), narrow and middle, 4/6. Note size plain "Baskerville," 3/. Goodall's Academic Cream Wove, 50 sheets and Envelopes, 2/3. "Society Bond," a Court Notepaper, 30 octavo size sheets, with fashionable mauve tissue-lined Envelopes, 1/6; or Morano Linen, 30 sheets and Envelopes, green tissue-lined, 1/6. A fashionable novelty is the "Alexandra" single-sheet Notepaper, 10in x 8in, with 8in long Envelopes, in white and blue, 1/4½ the box; or the York, 8½in x 7in, at 1/4½ the box.

For serious and lengthy letters, the Wedgewood Grey Smooth-finish is particularly suited, either in ruled or plain—two quires (48 sheets), and Envelopes, 1/4½; and for foreign mail work, Linen Bank with mauve tissue-lined Envelopes, per quire (24 sheets), 1/6 per quire.

There is a pretty custom now in vogue, when the Stork comes, of sending a little announcement to one's friends. The daintiest conception is a little narrow Card and Envelope in pink, blue, and weight, decorated with a Stork, and "His" or "Her Majesty's" weight, and the date and time of arrival. These are packed in wee boxes of 12, price 3/6 per box.

Kiddies' Little Letters are always lovely, and the happiest designs have been printed for their letter paper, at 9d per box, such as "Happy Hours" and Gollywogs.

Now that bridge parties are being held in aid of patriotic funds, Bridge Invitation Hand-made Notepaper, with headings of cards in colours, 8/ per box, is a special feature, while Bridge Markers are listed at /6, /10 and 1/. Playing Cards, /10½, 1/, 1/3, 1/6 and 2/ per pack.

Little fitments for "My Lady's Writing Table" make dainty reminders, whether in the form of one of the famous Fountain Pens, such as the Swan, Onoto, Conklin, or Waterman, or something more prosaic.

TWO WEEKS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

THE PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION
is now open. Forty-one Nations represented at the Exposition emphasises its International Character. It is the most colossal of Expositions the world has ever seen; and its interest to the man of business and to the tourist is something that may not be duplicated for many years. Like Niagara Falls, this great Exposition, which has taken years to prepare, cannot be adequately described, but we have literature on its wonders which will be sent to you on application.

SEVEN WEEKS IN ALL.
Approximately from Sydney to San Francisco and back occupies 7 weeks—5 at sea, 2 on shore. In these 2 weeks you can see the Exposition, the Yosemite Valley, the Grand Canyon, Rocky Mtns., etc. No other line has so fast a time-table; but our return tickets are interchangeable with the other trans-Pacific Companies. Our route is via Honolulu going; Honolulu and Samoa returning.

LONDON IN 29 DAYS.

The great war has made little difference on our time to London. In conjunction with the Trans-Atlantic "fliers," we are landing Australian passengers in London in less than one month.

LASSETTERS'

BLACK DRESS GOODS

AND

ARE

LIGHTLY PRICED.

Woollen Material of all kinds will be very scarce and very dear as soon as present Stock is sold, owing to the scarcity of dyes, the decrease in raw material, and the increased cost of manufacturing. We strongly advise Ladies in need of Black Material to take advantage of our present Stocks, as they are large and varied, as the following list shows:—

Black Mercerised Poplin, 40in, always a favourite, at 1/11½ yd, and 2/3 yd.

Black Panama, 40-42in wide, all wool, highly recommended for hard wear, 2/6, 2/11, 3/6, 3/11.

Black Amazonian, 40in, a very strong combination of wool and cotton, splendid wearing, 1/11½, 2/6.

Black Wool Ottoman Poplin, 40in, 42in, 3/6, 3/11, 4/6, 5/6, 5/11.

Black Cashmere, 40-42in, all wool FRENCH MANUFACTURE. These will be unprocurable shortly. Buy now and save disappointment, 1/11½, 2/3, 2/6, 2/11, 3/6, 3/11.

Black Resilda, 42in. Absolutely one of the best wearing cloths imported, 3/6, 3/11, 4/6, 4/11, 5/11 yd.

Black Cheviot Serges, 40-44in. The ever-popular cloth for hard wear, 1/11½, 2/3, 2/6, 2/12, 3/6, 4/6 yd.

Black Gabardine, the newest of all dress goods, all wool; wears splendidly, 40in wide, 4/3, 4/11; 54in, 9/6.

Black Coating Serges. The scarcest line in the city. All wool, very durable, and splendid for Children's Coats, Maids' and Ladies' Costumes.
40in, 1/11½, 2/3.

—A PRACTICAL MEANS FOR SAVING.

To economise one does not necessarily need to stint oneself. True economy involves laying one's money out to the best advantage so that further outlay will be minimised.

Men who are economising on clothes need not sacrifice style, or take to garments of inferior quality.

The Peapes' Economic Suit to Measure introduces true economy.

The cost is comparatively little—yet the workmanship is good.

The garments are cut, made, and finished entirely on our own premises, every process being supervised.

Thus you get a good suit made just as carefully in the parts that are not seen as in those that are visible. As a consequence, the garments hold their shape and do not sag nor curl at the fronts like so many of the moderate-priced suits produced at the present period. We are still quoting usual prices:—

63/ TO 84/ THE SUIT.

May we send you a range of the new Winter Woollens? They are so distinct from the ordinary that we feel sure they will appeal to you.

Self-measurement Form and Catalogue will be included.

CONSTRUCT AHEAD OF THE TIMES—WORK OUT THE COST OF YOUR FLOOR SPACE. You will be surprised at the waste of the old idea of a bed. Assuming there are four bedrooms in a house. Each bed takes up 30 square feet. With a room 11ft high that means 1320 cubic feet are taken up of valuable space that can be saved by using Oscillating Portal Wall Beds.

These 1320 cubic ft., at an average value of 9d per cubic ft., cost you in house value	£49 10 0

You can Save this amount by installing OSCILLATING WALL BEDS.

PROFIT BY AMERICAN EXPERIENCE. Submit your Plans to us before Building. We will show you how to get extra bedrooms at a nominal cost by using OSCILLATING PORTAL WALL BEDS. They make every bedroom a sitting-room. Our Bed can be built in the walls both for in and out door sleeping. 100s of our beds are installed in the Temperance and General Residential Flats, corner of Elizabeth and Park streets, and in an instant beds, bedclothes, etc., disappear. Every time the bed revolves the fresh air is swept into the recess. No fluff, dust, or dirt can accumulate under our bed. They can be converted into a perfect fumigator if necessary. Write for our illustrated pamphlet of Flats and Bungalow Plans. Of interest to Architects, Builders, Estate Agents, Speculators, and those contemplating Building. Just imagine a full size double steel and malleable iron bed revolves in 22 inches. Suitable for old buildings as well as new.

BUILDING UP CHARACTER.

The council of the Y.W.C.A. has brought the association prominently forward during this current fortnight, by the vigorous and enlightening addresses made at the Government House reception last week, and also by keeping up the interest in various ways, culminating in the public meeting in connection with the League of Honour for Women and Girls, to be held next Friday evening in St. James's Hall. This activity really means that the association is keenly sensible of the value—either for good or evil—of every person in the community towards every other member of that community. To leaven the mass and to work from within outwards is the sound way of raising the ideas and the ideals of the whole body of the State, that body of collective identities which together and between and among themselves form that valuable indicator called public opinion. When public opinion is right everything goes on fairly well, because people in general are very apt to take their colouring from each other. What one thinks another will very often think also. This is only human. There is something very chilly and unnatural about the too-lofty soul who stands aloof from his or her fellows, and lets their sentiments and emotions appeal in vain.

Yet there is in every one of us a little touch of individuality, a something unlike everybody in the world. That is the inmost core of being; that is what every human person on this earth really is. When the baby spoken of by the poet grows old enough to say "This is I," what does he mean by "This?" Anatomists say that this seat of consciousness is a little knot at the back of the head, the medulla, through which all sensation passes to the brain. We might talk or listen to learned arguments all day long, but we should never get any nearer understanding what "This" really is. It is simpler to take a short cut out of mystification, and say that each individual is a separate soul. This soul, which dwells in every girl—unless, of course, she happens to be a Turkish girl—is the ultimate object of the search of the Y.W.C.A. Nobody who listens to the kindly thoughtful plans made by the association, the care and interest taken in the welfare of girls, can fail to be struck with this outstanding fact. The leaders believe in girls, believe in their capabilities, their honesty of purpose, the future of usefulness open to those who are workers, and, above all, in the unfading beauty of the human soul as shown in character.

Miss Heard in her address on "The Girl of To-day" at Cranbrook, showed an almost touching belief in this beauty being a common possession to girls as a general rule. Miss Nicolson and Miss Barnes were equally emphatic, and it was noticeable that the girl as a worker was the theme on which their remarks were built up. No modern woman thinks to-day of the girl as an idle dreamer. That time, if ever there was such a period, has gone for ever with the sentimental Miss who fainted at every opportunity, and was afflicted with "sensibility," a dire disease apparently worse than the nervous breakdown which is the pet affliction of the twentieth century. The practical side of the work for girls was brought out in the addresses, and it fitted in with the practical side of the nature of the girl of to-day. Of course, the girls who are most in touch with the above association are girls who work for salary or wages, call it what you will, and it stands to reason that the better energy and the more heart a girl puts into her work, the better will her prospects be. But the crowning grace of working, "as ever in the great Taskmaster's eye," can only be achieved by the girl herself possessing just that touch apart from every other girl, that total absence of commonness—not meaning the merely social kind of commonness—which high character alone can give.

This is, perhaps, rather like a sermon, but these are very serious times, and a sermon now and then does not come amiss. The special application and moral attached lie in the special efforts made in war time to meet the unusual demands that arise not only for help but for personal effort and example. This is the object of the League of Honour, which has already been explained on this page, and which will be still further elucidated at the meeting on Friday evening.

The Y.W.C.A. are launching the League of Honour, which is entirely of the present time, as it relates to the war, with the idea of making it a national affair. It is quite non-sectarian, and [illegible] the association belongs the credit of introducing the League to this part of the world, yet it is in no way connected with its working, which will be described by speakers at the meeting. Mrs. H. E. Barff will take the chair. The idea of personal service is the leading note appertaining to the League. To understand the war and our place in it, to be possessed of the sense of devotion to duty and good behaviour, and to resolve that what personal service women can give in this time will be freely given, will be the objects of those who join this league.

GENEROUS SCHOOL CHILDREN.

A great many stories describing how the money for the School Children's Belgian Fund was raised are told by the teachers.

The anxiety to practise self-denial and give all the help they possibly could was shown by all the children, from the Kindergarten to the top class in the High School. One little Kindergarten fellow, his face aglow with delight, came running up to his teacher one morning calling out "Here's some brekfus money for a Belgian boy. I've sold two bottles," and he put a sticky halfpenny in the money-box. The next day a number of indignant Kindergarten boys brought along a class mate who was blushing and hanging his head, calling out "Here's Jim Smiff, teacher, he sold a bottle and bought hisself a lolly stick," and one of them held up the lolly stick they had taken from poor Jim. They were astonished at being made to return it, and stood watching Jim in stern disapproval as he ate it, firmly refusing to accept any pieces from him.

Another infant class was having a spelling bee, and a bright penny was the reward for the winner. Two boys and a girl came out equal in the contest, and three pennies had to be awarded. The boys at once put their pennies in the box, but the girl kept hers, and returned to her seat. The class looked at her in horror and amazement, and one child burst out "Oh, Nellie, the Belgians!" They had to be reminded that after all the penny was Nellie's to do with as she pleased. However, public opinion must have been too strong for Nellie, for after recess she dropped her penny into the box. A big boy had a prize puppy given to him for the fund, and he offered to give it to the child who could guess its name, charging a penny for the privilege of guessing. As the puppy was carried from class to class he created great amusement by yawning and blinking and looking bored to death. Another great source of fun was a fat duck, whose age was to be guessed. This seemed to annoy Mrs. Duck, who quacked and quarrelled at a great rate while she was being exhibited, but she was the means of realising a fine harvest of pennies. Too much cannot be said in praise of the generosity of the parents who provided the pence for all the competitions, and who patronised to their utmost ability the concerts, sales of work, and other schemes devised by the teachers for the purpose of raising funds. Nor must we forget the teachers, who toiled early and late giving all their available time, strength, and energy in order to organise the schemes, and so help along the glorious cause.

WORKING FOR THE WOUNDED.

Our thoughts bend now entirely towards our own wounded. We intend to show them when they come back to us in need of our attentions, how great is our admiration of their bravery, and how poignant our sympathy for their sufferings. There will be a rush of helpers and workers. The difficulty will probably be to classify them and sort out the work. An English medical journal came bluntly out with the statement recently that the best way for women to help in Red Cross work was "to keep in the background and obey orders." A woman who acts as dish washer for wounded in an improvised hospital, may be doing better work than one who perhaps stands in the limelight and attracts notice for her self-devotion.

We are all growing accustomed to curt military plain-spokenness, and so we are far too sensible to take offence if anything is said by an official which might, in other and softer times, wound our feelings. But much friction and loss of energy may be avoided if our Red Cross authorities make their arrangements now, and make them public. We women have rallied around the Red Cross banner, and we will continue to do our part. Mistakes perhaps there have been, but one has only to read the English papers to see that our mistakes have been nothing to those made at the very beginning of the war at Home, when everybody was too confused and bewildered to know exactly what to do. It was only the fine organisation, already in existence, of the Red Cross that saved confusion from being worse confounded.

Now, the British Red Cross Society has taken the practical steps of issuing a weekly statement, setting forth exactly what are the requirements most needed, also what are not needed. The list is only current for the week, and it has worked a great change in the kind of things sent in. Useless articles are not sent now, because a glance at the statement is enough to show what exactly is wanted. Our Red Cross should follow suit. If the executive were to issue such a list to every Red Cross centre in our State—it might not work well for the whole Commonwealth, as the distances are too great—workers would be informed and stimulated.

From the Lady Mayoress' sewing rooms, there certainly does appear in the press a statement of what is actually being made on the machines. Then the Red Cross Record, a monthly, gives detailed information in a collective form of the work all over the State, but there still remains the necessity for such a working list as the British Red Cross now issues. The P.M.O. would almost be certain to authorise gladly the requisite information which he could obtain from the various hospitals and convalescent homes. These preparations should be made at once, as the boys will soon be here, and we should like to have everything ship-shape for them.

MELBOURNE NOTES.

The Chief Inspector of Victorian State Schools (Mr. Fussel) stated last week that the Education Department had had correspondence with the "Hands Across the Sea Movement" in Canada with respect to encouraging an exchange of teachers. A notice had been inserted in the Victorian "Education Gazette" intimating that if any teachers liked to exchange with Canadian teachers, facilities would be afforded. About twelve teachers made inquiries; but, owing to the outbreak of war, the proposed exchange was deferred until peace would be declared, as there was a scarcity of teachers because of the number of men instructors going to the front. The applicants included men and women. The department has been advised that Miss Belle Eady and Miss Edith Airth, members of the Public school staff, Renfrew, Canada, were granted a year's leave of absence to come to Australia to participate in the suggested innovation.

Miss F. M. M'Loskey, who recently resigned from the inspector's staff of the factories branch, and was married to Mr. J. Bergin, factory inspector, was presented with a handsome wedding gift by former fellow-officers. This is the second instance within the last few years in which a factory inspector has resigned her position to marry a factory inspector. Miss E. A. Anderson, of the Neglected Children's Department, has been appointed an inspector of factories, and will occupy the vacant position arising from Miss M'Loskey's resignation.

Mr. T. Livingstone, Minister of Education, is of opinion that the statements made as to the hardships inflicted on children in dairying districts of Victoria are generally much exaggerated. A State school inspector, on the contrary, reported that the results of inquiry were astonishing, and showed that the south-western district is a veritable plague spot of child-slavery.

The hon. treasurer (Mrs. Addison) of the fund being raised by the lawn tennis players of Victoria for the purpose of strengthening the medical equipment of the Australian Imperial Forces reports that the subscriptions received to date bring the total amount of the players' fund well over £800. The deciding matches in the ladies' doubles handicap tourney (in which 130 competitors were engaged) were played on the 3rd inst. In the semi-final round the interstate pair, Mrs. M'Arthur and Miss E. M. Browning, won an exciting contest on the post. Their opponents were Miss Sutton and Mrs. Wilkinson. The gate receipts were augmented by the activity of the joint hon. secretaries, which resulted in over £50 being realised for the fund being raised by the lawn tennis players of Victoria to fit up a motor operating theatre for the Australian Imperial Forces.

Mrs. Marion Miller Knowles was again elected president of the Women's Catholic Club at the last annual meeting. This is her third year of office. Satisfactory progress has been made during the year, and the club has now 1037 members. Members have devoted time and energy to many philanthropic movements. Nearly 900 garments were made for orphan children, and many comforts for the soldiers were forwarded to the Lady Mayoress. The educational classes have met with support and appreciation, and also the circulating library, while the registry office has become a strong financial asset.

VERONICA.

NERVES AND TRAM DANGERS.

Not so long ago the Tramway Commissioners were thinking of barricading the off-side doors of the tram cars to prevent people from entering and alighting on that side. One or two cars were fitted with gates for this purpose, but the idea was abandoned, and is now forgotten. If carried out, it would have greatly minimised the possibility of accidents. Most people who use the trams have seen many hair-breadth escapes of unthinking women and girls who have boarded cars on the wrong side, and have also seen many saved by passengers from the inside of the cars, who have caught hold of them just in time to prevent them from falling back into the street. After having given everybody's nerves a good shaking, these thoughtless creatures very often sit down and laugh. There are others, too, whose nerves they have very little consideration for, namely, the tramway employees. One driver, who has been forced to leave the service, a complete nervous wreck, explained to the writer that unthinking women chiefly were the cause of his breakdown.

"You see, it's this way," he said; "before a driver starts his car he has to see if the off-side is clear, and to look through the car to see if any more are getting out, and very often after this procedure some woman will get up just as the car moves and make a halt to get off; the bell is either rung by a quick passenger or the conductor. In this way brakes are strained as well as nerves. During an eight-hour shift the same thing happens very often, more especially in the busy hours of the day, and I think myself it is wonderful how their nerves stand the racking they are subject to. If women would only think of this, and on no account attempt to board or alight from a tramcar on the wrong side, especially in the city, and make up their minds before the tram stops whether they are going to get out at the next stopping place or not, and not make up their minds to do so just as the tram is likely to start, they would be assuring their own safety and also saving the nerves of the drivers."

TRAM TRAVELLER.

FROM NEAR AND FAR.

Lady Hughes, wife of the new knight, Sir Thomas Hughes, has been receiving many congratulations on her access of dignity. As Mrs. Thomas Hughes she is very well known in our city, of which she was the first Lady Mayoress. At present most of Lady Hughes' time is taken up with Red Cross work, for since the indisposition of the Lady Mayoress the daily supervision of the workers at the Town Hall Sewing Circle has fallen to Lady Hughes. Another field of energy very near her heart is municipal reform. One of the most active members of the Citizens' Association, and the president of the Double Bay Circle, already several minor improvements in the cleanliness of our streets are to be voted to her initiative. Keenly alive on all points of interest to her own sex, and a member of the National Council of Women, Lady Hughes may be said shortly to have been in touch with all the principal social and philanthropic movements which Sydney has known during this century.

Women are now working as hospital porters in some of the English hospitals, to replace men who have answered the country's call.

A quaint hat composed of flat rosettes of pinked out corded ribbon, and one of the new veils.

By rearranging the duties of various men officials it was found that women can easily and congenially replace men. They take dispensary work, attend to the telephone, and perform the usual duties of a hall-porter. They wear a simple dark uniform, and the plan answers well.

The town and district of Orange are about to lose one of their most prominent women workers, in the person of Mrs. W. Lamrock, who, having leased her beautiful home to Mr. E. B. Dalton, of Ammerdown, has decided to reside permanently in one of the suburbs of Sydney. For very many years Mrs. Lamrock has been the honorary State visitor of the Children's Relief Department in the Orange district, and her work in this respect has been exemplary. The waifs and strays "boarded out" at the various homes have always had an untiring and faithful friend in her, and any hint of unkindness or unnecessary hardship to one of these was immediately and strictly investigated, no personal feeling being allowed to interfere in any way with the performance of this duty. At the end of each year she brightened the lives of her little wards by a Christmas treat. As a member of the local benevolent society, almost from its beginning her advice and assistance have been invaluable, her experience as a State visitor being always at the disposal of the committee. Mrs. Lamrock was also for many years an active member of the Parents' and Citizens' Association. The local hospital, for which she was an enthusiastic collector, has also been largely benefited by her labours. Altogether, she is a citizen whom all regret to lose. As a crowning glory, she has cheerfully given her son to the service of the Empire.

The Ministering Children's League of Randwick Presbyterian Church are performing their share in the noble mission of working for sick children. During last year members made the following articles:—35 children's dresses, 28 under-garments, 15 nightdresses, and 6 pillow-slips. The sum of £60 was sent to the Dr. Ethel Talbot Memorial Cot in the Royal Alexandra Hospital for Children. Help was also administered to other deserving institutions. The work of this league speaks for itself. Such examples cannot fail to spur others on individually to fresh effort in response to Mr. Moss's appeal in last week's "Page."

The monthly meeting of the Women's Section Town Planning Association yesterday was presided over by Dr. Grace Boelke. Correspondence dealing with tree-planting, destruction of flies, removal of fences, and straying animals was dealt with. Dr. Boelke moved for a sub-committee to report upon hygiene in public buildings. Miss King proposed joint action with the Parks and Playgrounds Association to ask for a playground for Woolloomooloo.

Lady Hackett, of Perth, has hit upon a novel way of raising money for charity, by bringing out a household guide. The book will be called "The Australian Household Guide," and will be, if expectations are fulfilled, a reliable and comprehensive guide to all matters needing care and knowledge within the home. An appeal is made to housewives in every part of Australia to lend a hand by sending for publication one or two known and tried recipes for any household work. The profit from sales will go to the Children's Hospital, Perth.

Miss Gladys Marks, who spoke to women graduates on the subject of women's work in war time, will read a paper on the same subject next Tuesday at the Queen Victoria Club, as the first of a series of war monthly lectures, which are now a feature of the club. During her visit to England Miss Marks was enabled to see much of what was being done in that direction.

HOME AFFAIRS.

MAKE-SHIFT FURNITURE.

A friend recently showed me some snapshots of her kitchen which she had furnished with her own hands. It was hard to believe that the strongly and neatly contrived dresser, table, with shelves underneath, towel rack, and several small etceteras, had been contrived out of packing cases and other old boxes by amateur labour only. Yet such was the case, and a short explanation of "how it was done" was to me most interesting, and I pass it on for the benefit of readers who may be gifted with carpentering powers. Of course, no guarantee was given as to the durability of said furniture, nor was that a great consideration, as the kitchen belonged to a small week-end cottage on land which my friend had bought out of her own earnings—for she is a business woman—and everything was per force to be done as cheaply as possible. The table, dresser, etc., would last for some years, and when old and wobbly could be used for firewood without compunction. The same applies to a pretty dressing table for the bedroom, made out of a large packing case, with a partition in the middle allowing of three compartments each side, the largest at the bottom for hatboxes, and the two shallow shelves for blouse or skirt boxes. The whole thing, table, shelves, and boxes, was covered with a rosebud and green garland cretonne. It all looked very dainty.

Packing cases, glue, hammer, tacks, gimp pins, a plane, a saw, some pieces of composition used for lining rooms imitating old oak, small brass hinges, some cheap and gay wall-paper, and some cretonne are about all the materials necessary for a start in the home-furniture-maker's line of business. Unless a woman has a knack for quick and neat work of this kind, she had better not attempt it, unless she care to do so for the fun of the thing. Doors are the all-important item for the amateur. Enough skill to fit in small doors is required to start with. A large case will serve for the dresser cupboard. All marked roughness should be planed away, and two doors can be made out of composition material. Shelves can be added for the top, and the whole dresser should be painted the same colour as the doors. The top of the cupboard in front of the shelves can be covered with white wax cloth, which should also be tacked firmly on to the box-table. A knife rack may be fashioned out of a fruit case, taken to pieces, and made much smaller, and stood on end against the wall, to which it is screwed or nailed. Small pieces of wood, with shaped holes for the knives are placed across. Two rows of knives should be provided for, and underneath is a shelf forming a receptacle for the knife polish, etc. A three-cornered set of shelves was fashioned to go between the dresser and the door underneath, the brooms, large and small, were hung. For this kitchen, as in most small cottages, had to hold everything useful that was not needed in either sitting-room or bedroom.

Lids of packing-cases are often broken. They may be mended with patches of tin cut to the size, and tacked closely to the wrong side. A long box will make a useful window seat. The lid must be fixed, and put on with hinges. Then the whole is covered with cretonne. Some stuffing is needed for the seat. If all else fails, old newspapers are handy, folded smoothly and firmly nailed down; then covered with cretonne, finished with an edging nailed on with gimp pins. Galatea or heavy linen or casement cloth are serviceable for these coverings, and if stencilled or trimmed with a flowered bordering, a plain material is often preferable to a flower patterned chintz. Lastly, I must not forget the sink—always more useful than ornamental. A cover was made for the sink, which was a zinc one, with waste pipe and plug, said cover being of wood covered with white wax cloth, and fixed with hinges. When not in use, the sink was transformed into a table, and when required the cover was hooked back. This completes the tale of the self-made kitchen furniture. In mountain and seaside cottages, there is a kind of appropriateness about these simple arrangements. But they must be well done. A yawning porter case covered with a muslin frill, or a mustard or soap box thinly disguised with badly affixed wall-paper deceives nobody. Then, again, time is a consideration. If quickly and deftly done packing-case furniture is a success, but the result does not repay days and weeks of strained and anxious attention and toil. To quote the well-known lines, "If 'tis done, then 'twere well it were done quickly."

SEASONABLE RECIPES.

Cauliflower Soup. One good sized Cauliflower, 1 small onion, 1 pint milk, 1½ pints of vegetable stock, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter, 1oz dripping, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, small piece of lemon rind, salt, pepper, and nutmeg. Break the cauliflower into sprigs, chop the best pieces of the green leaves small, do not use the coarse outer leaves, peel and slice the onion. Melt the dripping in a saucepan, put in the cauliflower and onion, and saute without browning for about five minutes; add boiling water, a good teaspoon of salt, a very small pinch of carb-soda, and the teaspoonful of sugar and lemon rind. Boil until the cauliflower is soft. Strain, keeping back 1½ pints of the stock, rub the cauliflower and onion through a sieve, keeping back a few sprigs of cauliflower. Melt the tablespoon of butter in the saucepan, add the flour, return to the fire to cook without browning, add the milk and stock, stir until it boils and thickens, add the pepper, a dust of nutmeg, more salt if required, and the puree; bring to the boil, add the sprigs of cauliflower and chopped parsley; serve with croutons of fried bread.

Cauliflower Fritters.—Make a smooth batter with 4 level tablespoons of flour; saltspoon of salt, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon melted but not too hot, ¼ pint of tepid water (two parts cold and one boiling), put the flour into a basin, make a well in the centre, drop in the yolk of the egg and butter, stir round, and as the flour gets worked in, add the tepid water gradually; lastly stir in lightly the stiffly beaten white of egg; into this dip small branches of cooked cauliflower, wet fry until a golden brown, drain on paper, serve very hot.

Artichoke Souffles.—½lb artichokes, 4oz breadcrumbs, 2 eggs, salt and pepper, 1 dessertspoon butter. Cook the artichokes, strain and rub through a sieve, mix with the fresh bread crumbs, yolks of eggs, pepper, salt, and squeeze of lemon juice, add well-beaten whites of egg, stirring them in lightly, put in a souffle case or a pie dish, bake in a hot oven 10 to 15 minutes, fold a napkin round and serve at once.

A GOOD FLOOR POLISH.

Having used the beeswax and turpentine mixture for many years, a few months ago a friend gave me a recipe which is not only much easier to use and prepare, but also very much more economical, a most important thing in these days of dear living. With the wish that it may help some other women as it has me, I pass it on:—2½oz of beeswax, 1 cup of boiling water, 1 cup of turpentine, 1 dessertspoonful of ammonia. There is a right way of preparing the recipe, shredding the wax and stirring till cold after pouring the boiling water on; but I have found by experience that this recipe is a kind one, and the result is the same however one mixes the ingredients, the easiest way being to melt the beeswax on the side of the stove away from the fire or on very low-turned gas; just allow it to melt carefully, a little at a time to start while stirring, pour the cup of boiling water on, then the cup (breakfast cup in each case) of turpentine, finally the dessertspoonful of ammonia. The polish can then be left and just given a stir occasionally till cold; when finished, it is a thick, creamy mixture. It costs about 5d when beeswax is 1s 6d a lb. Dark beeswax does just as well as that which has been refined, and the polish is just as white when ready for use. Two and a-half ounces is a piece about as large as a woman's fist. Just as little as possible of the polish rubbed well into the linoleum, and then polished off with a soft cloth once a fortnight, will keep floors (other than halls) in good condition if rubbed over every day after sweeping with either a mop of some kind or a large floor duster (an old print or muslin skirt cut down one seam makes a good floor duster), an old hairbroom, with something thick and soft tacked on where the hair once was, makes a splendid polisher to use with the duster. Linoleums last years longer if polished and never washed. Linoleum makers will tell you that to wash (even wash, to say nothing of scrubbing) the linoleum, is to spoil it. It is very much easier to sweep and dust when polished, for the dirt seems to slide off the polished surface. This floor polish is equally good for polished wood, and is not too slippery, and pleasant, and safe for very young or old folk to walk on. Always remember never to polish under door slips or rugs. The polish is a very good disinfectant, and insects object to it.

PENELOPE'S WEEKLY NOTES.

Now is the time of year when suet should be liberally introduced into the general diet. Many housekeepers regard suet as a foodstuff chiefly good for nursery fare, overlooking the fact that it is also extremely valuable for the adult section of the family, particularly in cold weather. For some purposes lambs' suet is preferable to the beef variety so almost uniformly used. Poorly-nourished people with delicate digestions, who, while needing fat in their diet, are yet unable to take it, can quite frequently take lambs' suet finely chopped and thoroughly cooked. A little may be carefully introduced into the morning porridge, for instance, and the quantity be gradually increased. As a safe beginning half a teaspoon of the finely-shredded suet to each cup of the dried oatmeal may be used, and (by those who can afford milk) milk and water in equal proportions—one and a half cup of each to every cup of meal. Later, and little by little, the quantity of suet may be increased until three or four teaspoons of it are used to each cup of dried meal. Long cooking—an hour at least—is most necessary. If the porridge is cooked in a double saucepan or a gourmet boiler there will be no fear of it burning, and only occasional need of stirring it. Made thus, the porridge is extremely nourishing and palatable—tasting as if cream had been used in the making.

As suet keeps fresh for some time now, and as ½lb (enough to serve for several mornings) may be bought for 3d or 4d, expense cannot be urged as a reason for withholding this nutritious dish from the family breakfast-table.

Lambs' suet mixed in a milky rice pudding greatly adds to its value, and a baked bread custard is delicious with this suet sprinkled on the top of and between the slices of bread, along with the currants and sultanas.

Suet may be kept for a long time fresh for pudding or pastry making if treated as follows:—Choose the firmest portion of the suet, and, after freeing it from all skin and veins, cut it into slices, and place it in a saucepan. Set the saucepan upon the stove, where the suet will melt gradually. When melted pour it into a basin of clean cold water, and leave it to grow cold and hard. Then dry it, cut it into wedges, and fold it in grease-proof paper. If kept away from the air and in a cool place it will remain in winter time in excellent condition for weeks treated thus, and the cook need never find herself in an emergency bereft of shortening for puddings, pastry, etc. In France but little lard, comparatively speaking, is used. Everything is fried in what the French call graisse, and we suet, excepting such delicacies as demand the use of butter. Several pounds of suet are bought at once, melted down, and poured into jars ready for use. At present lard (like butter) is very scarce; therefore the housekeeper will do well to provision herself with such a store of "shortening" that she is independent of lard—which, by the way, is as much as 1s and 1s 1d a lb.

Butter this week remains at its lately fixed price—1s 5½d delivered. Eggs last week rose to 2s 8d a dozen, but have again fallen to 2s 6d. Cheese, an excellent article of diet for winter time, is 1s and upwards per pound. Bacon may be specially recommended at present. Rashers cost from 1s 2d to 1s 5½d a pound; and bacon by the piece 11½d to 1s 3½d, according to the cut and brand. The poultry merchants report a somewhat poor demand for chickens and ducks; as the cold season progresses people seem to prefer butchers' goods to poulterers'; yet the price of poultry remains as high as though the demand for it was excessive. The high price of poultry feed, of course, is sufficient to account for this condition. Yet such a factor cannot be said to influence the cost of fish, which is very much higher than it should be. The latter end of last week saw our fish markets so abundantly stocked that a glut obtained. The public ought to have been able to dine very cheaply upon this rich harvest from the sea; but it did not. In point of fact, the shopkeepers failed to lower their prices, and housekeepers knew nothing about the overflowing condition of the markets. Here and there a few itinerant fishmongers asked moderate prices for bream, whiting, and mullet. But the average housekeeper, who longs to regale her family with fish dinners or breakfasts all too frequently finds herself quite unable to do so. Firstly, because fish in this country is a luxury; and, secondly, because even as a luxury one finds it difficult to obtain—unless one journeys to town to buy it, which, of course, greatly adds to its cost.

In the fruit markets, citrus fruit is coming in less freely. Oranges that were obtainable a week ago for 9d a dozen, are now 1s, but they are good, and well worth buying. Navel oranges are as much as 3d a piece. Mandarins of excellent quality may be bought for 8d a dozen; less good ones for half that price. Lemons run from 10d and 1s a dozen to 1s 6d. A good supply of apples and pears has just arrived from Tasmania; while Fiji has sent us excellent bananas. These latter are selling at 9d and 1s a dozen; fried and served with rashers of bacon, they make a good breakfast dish; or dropped, in slices into batter (made without eggs), they will be found to be a well-liked sweet.

Vegetables are very dear. Cabbages are as much as 10d each, though they may be bought for a penny or so less here and there. Small cauliflowers are 6d each, large 1s. Parsnips and carrots are 3d and 4d a bunch; beetroot 3d; while tomatoes of any size and quality are hard to obtain under 3d each.

WOMEN AND WAR NEEDS.

A. E. M. writes from London, 30/4/1915:—Two days ago the War Office appealed to the women of England to supply the soldiers at the front with respirators, which would save them from the poisonous fumes, the Germans' latest method of warfare. To-day a notice appears that no more are needed, for so instant has been the response that in one day enough respirators have been provided. It seems almost incredible, for each one had to be made separately. Yet there the fact is, there are enough made in one day to supply the need. It just shows what can be done in an emergency, and it shows, too, how eager women are to help. The socks and shirts, mufflers and body belts, which kept women busy all the winter, undoubtedly meant salvation to many a woman, whose thoughts were thus taken for a while from the horrors of the war by the manual occupation. There is not much knitting now, and the request for respirators must have come as a God-send to many a woman whose hands were idle, and whose thoughts were at the front with her loved ones. It is almost a pity—for the women—that the occupation ceased so quickly; but it is a blessing untold for the soldiers that their women were able to provide them with this simple but necessary armour in so short a time.

I saw a letter from a soldier in the trenches written to thank a friend of mine who had been sending comforts to her son's regiment. He apologised for writing without knowing her, but said: "I wanted to thank one of the kind ladies who have been so good to us. It has been so awful in the trenches all through the winter that I don't know how we would have stuck to it except for the comforts the kind ladies of England have sent to us."

This friend of mine—she is a Sydney woman—has lost one son in battle; the other is now in the fighting line, and her husband is at the field hospital; but she has no time for sitting down to mourn, or to think of her loneliness. All her days are filled with work for the men at the front, and with planning how she can help the officers' wives who are suffering financially from the war. And this last duty is by no means a small one, for as officers are given no separation allowance, and their pay is not very much, many wives are in absolute poverty. The rank and file are given a separation allowance, but officers, both in the army and the navy, are not supposed to need one. In times of peace this, no doubt, is more or less true, but since war began many men have given up good billets and their whole income to take commissions, and it seems very dreadful that their wives should have to suffer hardships and deprivations, as well as the agony of mind which is inevitable with a husband at the front. A fund has been raised for helping officers' wives, but naturally they are not as a rule the kind of people who will ask assistance; so it takes much thought and tact to help them; and this Sydney woman, with the tact that comes from affection, gives much of her time to making things easier for her less fortunate sisters, and succeeds.

SOMETHING ABOUT HOME PRODUCTS.

There was not a dull moment at the recent meeting of the Women's Commonwealth Patriotic Association; each of the women who spoke handled her subject with a facility which showed that she could claim exception from the accusation—alas, too true—that the majority of Australians possess a profound ignorance of all things Australian.

There was a good deal of talk about what we can do—the range is limitless—what we must do, and what we are doing. This last is the most important, because it can be dealt with straight away, and, from the sensible facts set out by the speaker, it is being done along faulty lines.

Take, for instance, our foodstuffs. Australian produced foodstuffs are unrivalled for the purity and excellence of their quality, but in most cases the deplorable lack of taste displayed in the manner of putting them up for presentation to the consumer prejudices the purchaser.

The manner of opening a tin does not permit of the article being served daintily at table. A jagged edged tin which has to be delved into to obtain the contents is scarcely ornamental; the other alternative is to scrape out the contents into an untidy heap. It may be a little more convenient, but it is just as unsightly. These seeming trifles are things of big importance to a woman.

Manufacturers would be wise to consult housekeepers in these matters, and take their advice as to the setting up of the goods in a more attractive manner, and the canning of them in a more convenient way. It would surely be no more expensive to can the goods so that when opened the contents would slide out of the tin intact. Everyone agrees that the plainest fare acquires relish if served in a dainty manner.

It seems almost farcical to say so, yet the fact remains that it is often difficult to obtain in Sydney the home-produced articles. The big stores do not stock them; they are mostly to be found in the smaller city and suburban shops.

Australia grows the finest olives in the world; yet, ask for Australian olives in the big stores, you will be told, "We don't keep them," or "They are not packed." Ask for olive oil, and unless you specify that you want the home product, an imported article will be placed before you.

Now, if women wish to show a little practical patriotism they will invariably demand the home-grown articles, and taboo the storekeepers who will not stock them.

If Australian manufacturers are wise they will take the kindly hint, and ask the co-operation of the housekeepers in the setting up of foodstuffs to the mutual benefit of both consumer and producer.

A LETTER FROM MRS. PARKER.

Mrs. Strong, president Willard Women's Union, Wahroonga, has received the following letter from Lord Kitchener's sister, Mrs. Parker, who has strong opinions on the subject of temperance:—

"4 Greycoat Gardens, Westminster, London, April 9, 1915.

"Dear Madam,—Thank you very much for your letter. It is truly delightful to hear of the success of temperance at present. Everywhere the feeling is becoming more and more pronounced. We ought to get civilian men and women to feel they can help by giving up drink. Now that King George and Lord Kitchener have set an example, I hope all and everyone will follow, and public-houses, instead of being a disgrace to civilisation, will become, without alcohol, useful places of refreshment. Lady French, Lady Jellicoe, myself, and many other have been, and are doing all we can to establish clubs for women. From what I have seen of the results, I think them very satisfactory, and doing good work. Of course, they have to be run on right lines. In this country I think civilians are terribly to blame for the drinking amongst our soldiers and sailors. The stupid idea of 'treating' any man in uniform as a sign of good feeling is very prevalent, and very mischievous. I do hope so much that this idiotic idea will be given up. Our men, to go through the horrors of war, want all the strength and nerve they can have, and we, who cannot fight, must help them all we can. Thanking you again for good news from beautiful Sydney, believe me, your sincerely,

"FRANCES E. J. PARKER."

MASSAGE FOR THE WOUNDED.

In appealing to the public in yet another direction for our wounded, the Australasian Massage Association feels that every man and woman in Australia must realise that it is the imperative duty of those who stay at home to see that the men who are fighting should have the very best treatment available to help in their recovery after being wounded. The masseurs and masseuses of New South Wales are looking forward to a great work in the treatment of those who come back; but so far no provision has been made for the ones who are unable to return. It is on their behalf that this appeal is being made. The association has started a fund with the object of sending at least five of its members.

Massage is now routine treatment in a great number of the cases in all modern hospitals. The Royal Prince Alfred Hospital, Sydney, has a staff of 15 hon. masseuses, which speaks for itself as to the great scope of the work, and its need amongst the wounded is undoubtedly very great. Its early application will mean the saving of months of convalescence, and even the prevention of permanent disablement in a very large number of cases.

A letter has recently been received from Miss L. Armstrong, the first hon. secretary of the association, who is working in the military hospitals in London. She says: "It is ordered for nearly every wounded officer and man. In my experience in Dorchester House I found that before surgeons would permit patients to leave London for country convalescent homes strict inquiry was made as to whether massage was available, and if not, then some other place was suggested."

In England a massage corps has been formed by Miss French, daughter of the Field Marshal, and thousands of cases are being treated daily; but they have their own wounded to care for, and as it is now certain that at least 900 Australians have arrived there we should do something, if only a little, to help, and not leave all the added work of our men for those who have already more than they can do. Lady Helen Munro Ferguson is taking a great interest in the proposal, and has written to London to interest the British Red Cross in the scheme. It is estimated that it will take £200 to equip, send, and maintain one masseuse abroad for 12 months, and already Mrs. Hugh Dixson has opened the fund with £200. The ultimate destination of the masseuses is not as yet decided, as they will be sent where there is the most pressing need.

Subscriptions may be sent to the hon. secretary, Miss Yates, or to the hon. treasurer, Mr. Schmidlin, Vickery's-chambers, 76 Pitt-street, Sydney.

AUSTRALIAN OLIVE OIL.

The Imperial Government, noting the possibility of longer duration of the war, has appealed to the people to exercise economy in the use of meat, an economy till lately unknown in Australia, where from our geographical position we should not take a place amongst the larger consumers of meat. Australian cooks have never been brought to realise that olive oil makes a palatable and fairly inexpensive substitute, and is, in a measure, a local production, though the culture of the olive has not taken that place with us to which its food value entitles it.

Quite lately my wanderings have taken me into a district like that of the Promised Land of the Scriptures, a land rich in corn, in figs, in wine, and in oil. The olive is endeared to us from association; the tree has relations with some of the most beautiful myths in the classics. It is familiar in Scripture as the emblem of peace. For these reasons the writer looked with pleasure at the groves of olives all shining like shields of silver after the recent rains. Not only groves of olives, but avenues and promiscuous hedges and picturesque shade groups of these trees are on every side, adding as much to the beauty of the autumn landscape as their fruit tends to the utilitarian side of life.

Some facts learned later at the oil cellars are worth some attention from agriculturists in other parts of Australia, for the tree is not delicate, nor very hard to please in a situation. It adapts itself to several kinds of soils, provided there be a fair supply of moisture and plenty of sunshine. Hill slopes or well-drained valleys seem to be equally agreeable, and the method of propagation is at the same time simple and inexpensive.

Who plants an olive tree, says a Spanish proverb, is the best philanthropist, for he plants not for himself, but for posterity; and this in part is true, for the planter has the expense and the trouble, his heirs have only the benefits for succeeding generations, for the olive tree lives and crops well for a hundred years, nor does the crop deteriorate in quality nor much in quantity even in an extremely gnarled old age. The tree fruits lightly, given favourable conditions, in its fourth year, bears well in its fifth, and matures up to its tenth or twelfth year. In Australia the berries are ripe enough for plucking in May, but develop in flavour and in oily matter if left till July, attaining a fine perfection in August. Picked before the end of May, they are a loss to the grower.

Picking is an expensive item, but is light work suitable to women and children. The tree is developed in such a way that it assumes a fairly circular form, and great height is not encouraged, central wood is also cut away so that light and air circulate with freedom. The picker is paid at the rate of £4 10s per ton, a fair rate for an expert picker, but not a large wage. When the berries are ready they are first crushed in a machine very like an ordinary corn crusher; from this the pulp falls to a huge concrete vat, in which great granite rollers rotate and revolve. When the pulp has been most fully reduced by the rollers it is ladled out into mat bags, made of esparto grass (these are imported from Marseilles), which hold about 14lb each, and these are piled in layers of forty beneath a lever which brings to bear the necessary pressure to extract the first oil, other pressings follow until the pulp has been squeezed dry.

This pulp serves as fuel, and is also in request as a food for poultry, and in this capacity has been greatly in demand since the drought. Fowls and ducks [illegible] well on it, and lay well also. She[illegible] will acquire a taste for this "waste" when green food is scarce.

The expressed oil finds its way from beneath the press, through a pipe which conveys it nearly to the bottom of a deep tank. After various treatments, including filtration through the finest sand, the oil becomes very clear and light, and now undergoes its final washing; after bottling, it is ready for the market.

In this, the only considerable oil cellar in Australia, about ten to fourteen thousand gallons marks the yearly output—a low one this year, from the drought of the past four years. It is remarkable that the olive has withstood the severe strain of the past four years better than the trees in the orchards—these had been used to a good irrigation service, and had put out more surface than deep roots, consequently when the water gave out and irrigation failed the fruit trees suffered frightfully, whereas the olives maintained a steady growth though the crops have been reduced.

Four hundred young French olive trees have found their way quite lately to an enthusiast in Mildura, and the demand for young stock is growing, also a demand for a good table variety, most suitable for picking. The tree has these advantages for growers. It needs no coddling; it can be planted as a shade tree in groups in pasture paddocks, or about lawns, stables, pleasure grounds, etc., and only needs a good start. It is a tree to be depended upon. It is a tree eminently suited to our climate and to the ultimate needs of a people's diet.

The good housewife can soon learn to use, not to misuse, this invaluable help to her diet list—with cereals, with macaroni, or other manufactured grain foods it makes a delicious dish when judiciously combined, and its use would save many a sufferer from the pangs of indigestion.

The olive was introduced to South Australia by the late Sir Samuel Davenport, who also introduced French colonists for the culture, and it is due to this pioneer, and to his splendid assistants, that the present perfection has been reached.

HOW THE CORSET AFFECTS THE FIGURE.

Too much emphasis cannot be laid upon the importance of correct corsetry—because the corset will, when properly fitted, change and improve the figure contour. It is really astonishing the grace of line made possible when the proper corset is worn.

The whole success and art of corseting is dependent on choosing a corset formed to suit the figure.

THE ROYAL WORCESTER COMPANY

have made successful corseting easy to accomplish—they have designed a model to exactly suit each individual figure, no matter what price you pay.

Every model is a masterpiece of quality and workmanship, and performs a definite function and service. It is cleverly and scientifically fashioned, to assure a perfect moulding of the figure, and create the silhouette that inspires the gown.

It lends pleasing poise, and an unequalled suppleness and grace to the figure, with utmost comfort.

We invite you to see the display of Royal Worcester Models in our Window and Showroom, ranging in price from 5/11.

To be sure of obtaining "Your" Model, it is most desirable to be personally fitted. Expert Corsetieres are always in attendance.

YOUR TEETH.

TEETH TEETH

I make a close individual study of every case. There are many features peculiar to any particular mouth which call for the exercise of special skill and discretion. And it is by this individual method that I succeed in the most difficult and intricate cases—and secure results that are satisfactory and lasting.

Do you know of my painless method of extraction? Thousands do. Thousands have learnt such confidence in my method that they submit to my treatment of other teeth without a tremor. I forfeit £5 to any patient if I cause the least pain during an extraction.

I FILL TEETH PAINLESSLY. Note carefully, this is a definite unqualified offer. I possess an apparatus—the only one in Sydney—which permits the most sensitive tooth to be drilled painlessly. You suffer no more pain during fillings than during extractions. And that's no pain at all.

I guarantee in writing all my comfortable and perfect-fitting plate work, and all fillings for five years. If any rare fault develop, I remedy it free, and quite cheerfully.

THE TURF.

The Kensington Racing Club holds a pony and galloway meeting this afternoon, and owing to the number of entries several of the events will be run in divisions, necessitating a commencement at noon. The track is excellent going, and the customary transit arrangements will be in vogue. The results may be anticipated as under:—Maiden Handicap: First division, Flying Angel or The Gamester; second division, Black Havoc or Brewery Girl; third division, Sea Mistress or Little Dorrie. Flying Handicap: First division, Blacklock or North Star; second division, Sabella or The White Chief; third division, Cerise Colours or St. Moritz. Fourteen-one Handicap: Mary, Secrete, Mary Mimer. Encourage Stakes: Calexto, Pure Gold, Cash Box. Kensington Handicap: First division, Wherry or Benrohan; second division, Shaftesbury or Lady Unville. Fourteen-two Handicap: Bobadil Maid or Timagog; second division, Chorus Girl or Ballos. Fourteen Hands Handicap: My Dove, Iola, Lady Hope.

Entries for the "Thousand Trot," to be run on the Richmond racecourse about the end of next October, under the management of the Melbourne Trotting Club, close to-day with the secretary, Mr. A. J. Gray, 161 Russell-street, Melbourne. The event is open for all trotters and pacers, 2.25 and better, and the distance 1½m.

The prize-money paid out in connection with the A.J.C. Winter Meeting aggregated £5966, distributed as under:—Messrs. A. Foley, £763; C. Hebden, £515; A. W. Whiting and J. P. Fagan, £488; J. M. M'Master, £424; S. M. Wilson, £374; Geo. Morton, £365; A. Balgowan, £365; S. Hordern, £360; J. Chipple, £300; Mrs. W. H. Dean, £299; Messrs. A. E. Cordeaux and G. W. B. Ring, £287; T. Hannan, £281; W. Stafford, £200; J. S. Agnew, £150; J. S. Brunton, £135; J. P. Cox, £120; V. G. Benyon, £100; A. G. Morton, £100; J. Glasheen, £60; Geo. Barnett, £60; A. M. White, £60; J. Lloyd, £40; H. Oxenham, £30; Sir W. Cooper, £30; Messrs. G. M. Currie, £30; C. O'Rourke, £30.

The total receipts in connection with the race meeting held at Randwick by the Australian Jockey Club in aid of the Belgian National Fund were £11,229 7s 6d.

The next race meeting of the Gosford Racing Club is fixed for the 22nd inst, and for the half dozen events on the card the prize-money amounts to 270 sovs, of which 80 sovs. goes to the Gosford Handicap. Entries must be lodged with the secretary, Mr. H. R. Evans, before 4 p.m. on Monday, the 14th inst.

The entries received yesterday for the half-dozen events on the card for the Canterbury Park June Meeting on the 19th inst total 101, distributed as under:—Hurdle Race, 12; Flying Handicap, 21; Park Stakes, 24; Nursery Handicap, 19; Canterbury Handicap, 7; and Welter Mile, 15.

The Rosehill Racing Club is in the field with the programme for the Prince of Wales' Birthday Meeting on the 26th and 28th inst. The prize-money for the dozen events on the card aggregates 1425 sovs., of which 150 sovs. each endows the Rosehill and Birthday Handicaps, 125 sovs. each the First Hurdle Race, Maiden Juvenile Stakes, Second Hurdle Race, Prince of Wales' Stakes, and Nursery Handicap, and 100 sovs. each of the other races. Entries close with the secretary, Mr. Geo. W. S. Rowe, at 4 p.m. on Monday next, the 14th inst.

The weather was ideal for training work yesterday morning at Randwick. The middle grass track was in use, but very few horses were in attendance, owing to having raced the previous day. Football and Lingard opened the morning's work by running half a mile in 57½s. Frasca negotiated a round at a strong pace, and steady work was done by Miss Mooltan. Nombi and Speedfast galloped six furlongs in 1m 24s, while Gillallambi was sent over five furlongs at a fast gait. Coat o' Mail spurted half a mile in 52s, as did Valerie O., Chid, Fordell, and Flamboyant. Sequarious went a circle at a useful rate of speed. Silver King and Miss Bob went easily, and Barraconda closed proceedings on the grass by running a mile in even time. Noticeable among the tan patrons were Ulva's Isle and his new stable mate, Secret Service. This pair, looking big, trotted round several times. Aymer King, Golden Hop, Simon Frisco, Relievo, Torone, and Royal Laddie went early on the bruised bark, where Spadix ran a mile in 1m 50s, and Nizan covered six furlongs at a smart pace.

Occasionally, at Randwick, the bell which warns the public that a race has started does not ring until some seconds after the rise of the barrier, and much amusement was created on Monday when its deep tones announced that the Steeplechase had started when the field was over a hundred yards beyond the point Mr. Mackellar despatched them from. But it transpires the start was made from a distance beyond the real starting post, to give the horses a better run at the first fence. The bell tolled when the white flag fell. This bell is connected with the electric starting clock, and when the lever which sets the clock in motion is pulled the electric current is communicated to the bell. Occasionally, however, the bell does not work, and requires a second pull of the lever to set it going.

Nearly two years ago Mr. Francis Foy, of Sydney, sent five mares to France to be mated with the great French stallion Prestige, but could not get nominations for them all. Late advices from England inform Mr. Foy that his mare, Miss Ora, has produced a splendid filly foal to Prestige, who holds a unique record. Every one of his stock that had been trained had won races, and his son, Sardanaple, winner of the Grand Prix, is far and away the best horse of his year in France.

Muswellbrook Racing Club (July 5) and Deniliquin Licensed Victuallers' Racing Club (July 16) race meetings have been granted registration by the A.J.C.

LATEST SCRATCHINGS.

The following scratchings were recorded yesterday:—

VICTORIAN SPORTING NOTES.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Wireless was sold by auction to-day to Mr. J. Currie, for 85 guineas.

The stipendiary stewards had before them to-day J. P. Edwards, who rode Ungala into second place in the steeplechase at Flemington on Saturday, and their finding was officially announced as follows:—"The stewards are of opinion that J. P. Edwards was not in a fit condition to ride in the steeplechase on Saturday, June 5, though apparently he was all right on the day. They therefore suspend him from riding in races till June 30."

COURSING.

The Metropolitan Coursing Club advertise to-day their programme at the Fifefield Enclosure, Liverpool. The entries are good, and there are plenty of well-trained hares, and, as the enclosure is in perfect order, this should guarantee two days' good coursing. The draw takes place to-day at Bateman's Hotel, George-street, at 11 o'clock. A special train will leave Sydney at 10 a.m., returning from Liverpool at 4.40.

The N.S.W. National Coursing Association also advertises its programme for the Australian Waterloo Cup, which takes place on the Woodstock enclosure, Rooty Hill, next Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. Entries have been received from Victoria and Queensland, and the New South Wales coursers are nominating freely.

LACROSSE.

COMPETITION MATCHES.

The lacrosse competition matches were continued last Saturday, and again some excellent games were enjoyed by the followers of this sport. The match between Eastern Suburbs and Balmain, played at the Domain, was by far the best game of the season. The final scores were 8 goals to 7 in favour of Balmain. The play was very fast and keen throughout, and the last goal was scored just on time. The best of the winning side were Grose and Young in attack, and Noble was prominent in defence; for the losing team Stewart in attack did good work, and Hooper defended very soundly. Two of the games were won by forfeit; Sydney were unable to fulfil their engagement with Mosman, and Petersham Federal B were in a similar position with regard to their match against Y.M.C.A.

It is gratifying to know that the efforts of the Lacrosse and Hockey Associations in connection with the Belgian Fund Carnival have been amply rewarded, and the returns to date show that £100 will be available.

LADIES' LACROSSE.

The only game played by the Ladies' Association was that at Moore Park between Karweens A and Manly, when the former team won by 6 points to 1. Allowance must, of course, be made for the limited experience some of the lady players have had in this game; but it may be pointed out that more attention should be given to the stick work. On Saturday the Manly team showed that they were deficient to a dangerous degree in manipulating their crosses. However, practice and coaching will do away with this fault. On the other hand, the Karween ladies played a very good game all round. Probably Miss A. Hatfield showed the most scientific knowledge, and Miss Joseph also did well. For the winners, Miss D. Stewart (2), Miss M. Joseph (2), Miss P. Bird, and Miss A. Hatfield were the scorers, and Miss T. White scored Manly's goal.

The games for Saturday are:—Karweens B v Karweens A, at Moore Park (early), Olympians v Manly, at Moore Park (late).

HOCKEY.

GENERAL NOTES.

On Saturday Bandits and Pilgrims met at Marrickville Oval, but both sides were depleted owing to the absence of selected players. However, with the inclusion of other club members the game proceeded, and, as the Bandits were the more fortunate in their emergency men, they won by 5 goals to 4. For the losing side R. Newsome, the well-known interstate player, and T. Bray were the most prominent, and Shelley and Fell were the mainstays of the Bandits.

On Monday a team from Goulburn representing "J" Company came to Sydney and played a team chosen by Mr. K. Flockart; but the metropolitan men were too strong, and won by 7 goals to 5. Mr. Flockart received a very nasty blow in the mouth from the ball, which caused his retirement.

At the last committee meeting of the association it was decided that it would be unwise to attempt to hold a Country Day or an interstate carnival this year; and the various associations will be communicated with and advised to that effect.

Club secretaries should forward their returns in connection with the Belgian Carnival as early as possible, so that finality in this matter may be reached.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY.

The Women's Hockey Association held a meeting last week to consider what arrangements should be made in connection with the Patriotic tournaments, which will be held on July 30 and 31 at Rushcutter Bay Oval. It is proposed to include matches between the two selected teams, the two strongest clubs, and schools and affiliated clubs.

Following are the results of matches played: Cooeyanna beat Kookaburra by 11 goals to nil, at Rushcutter Bay Oval; Culwulla beat Mulwarree (Goulburn) by 3 goals to nil, at Rushcutter Bay.

In the school competitions, the matches resulted as follow:—North Sydney Girls' High School and Fortians played a scoreless draw; Witchela beat Double Bay Superior Public School by 3 goals to nil; Burwood Ladies' College beat North Sydney Church of England Girls' Grammar School by 3 goals to 2.

MOTOR CYCLING.

RELIABILITY TRIAL.

The Motor Cycle Club of New South Wales will hold a reliability trial for all-powered and side-car machines on Saturday afternoon, starting from Saunder's Bros. garage, Parramatta, at 2 o'clock. The course, which measures roughly 35 miles, lies through Pymble, Hornsby Valley, Hornsby, Turramurra, finishing at the North Sydney P.O. Machines with an engine capacity in excess of 560 c.c. will be required to average 25 miles per hour over the first stage of the journey to Pymble, and those under 560 c.c. 22½ m.p.h. The remainder of the journey, however, must be covered by all classes at an average speed of 20 miles per hour. The time of a competitor's arrival at a control will be taken from his own watch, which, in all cases, will be synchronised and sealed by the officials at the start. The trial will be decided on points, one point being registered against the competitor for every minute he may arrive late at a control or for every minute in excess of the two minutes' latitude he may arrive early. There is no margin granted for a late arrival. Entries will close with the club secretary on Thursday evening, at 8. Already about 20 entries have been received.

GRAND PRIX RACE.

The Motor Cycle Club has arranged to hold the annual Grand Prix race at Yetholme on Monday, June 28, and will be in the form of an open handicap, run under the auspices and conditions of the Auto-cycle Association. The triangular course, which is described as being in excellent and safe condition, will start at Kirkconnell Corner, with Sunny Corner and Meadow Flat the turning points, one circuit measuring about 16½ miles. In all six circuits will be run, bringing the total distance up to as near as possible 100 miles. The prizes will include trophies valued at £10 10s and £5 5s, together with prizes valued at £2 2s and £1 1s, presented by Messrs. T. W. Henderson and W. W. Reynolds respectively, for the first and second unplaced private riders to finish.

In connection with this meeting the Auto-cycle Association has decided to promote the annual Triumph Cup contest in the Bathurst district, on Saturday, June 26. The conditions have not been definitely fixed, but riders will rendezvous at Brooklands Park, where the contests end, and remain over the week-end for the Grand Prix contest, on the Monday.

The newly-formed Goulburn Motor-cycle Club has decided to affiliate with the Auto-cycle Club of New South Wales.

BATHURST-GOULBURN RACE.

BATHURST, Monday.

On account of the difficulties of the roads the motor cycle reliability test from Goulburn to Bathurst and return was abandoned on the arrival of the competitors at Bathurst. The best records to Bathurst were taken as final. The results were:—P. Roach, 3½-h.p. Douglas, 1; I. Arthur, 2¾-h.p. Douglas, 2; A. S. Turner, 3½-h.p. Rover, 3.

CYCLING.

CARBINE ROAD RACE.

The final of the "Carbine" nine miles road race, promoted by the City Club under the auspices of the New South Wales Cyclists' Union, will be held over the Western-road course at Parramatta on Saturday afternoon. The first and second heats were held under ideal conditions last Saturday, 31 riders qualifying for next Saturday's race, which will be held under the same conditions. The start, however, is fixed for 3.30 o'clock.

Although the record established by E. W. Pedersen in the second heat of last year's race (22m 28s) was not lowered, some excellent performances were registered.

FOOTBALL.

RUGBY UNION GAME.

There were only two matches played last Saturday, owing to the suspension of fixtures for the third fortnightly drill for players and officials. The attendance at Government House grounds was not so large as formerly, due, no doubt, to the holiday week-end taking many men out of town; but a very serviceable roll-up formed six squads for the first day at rifle drill.

The two games referred to were played at Manly Oval, where first and second fifteens of the local club beat Mosman and Bondi Junction respectively. The early match resulted in an easy win for Manly, but Mosman and Manly were so well matched that the late game provided some excitement right up to the finish.

The Newcastle Union, although it has sent 60 per cent. of its players to the war, is still intent on a busy season, and will send a team to play Maitland every Saturday, and a trip to Armidale is proposed for the next holiday. The combined forces of Newcastle and Maitland may visit Sydney later in the year. Messenger (of last year's Glebe team), Bond (who played for South Sydney last season), and Price, a very nippy five-eighths well-known in Sydney, are among the members of the Newcastle side likely to be picked.

Next Saturday the series of social or non-competitive matches will be resumed. Mosman club will visit Liverpool and play the soldiers in camp. Five Dock has entered the first grade ranks, and will play Glebe at Randwick. The South Sydney and Randwick clubs will combine against University. There will be no matches in the Great Public Schools' competition for a few weeks, owing to the winter vacation. The next contest will be the annual fixture between the combined schools and University, on July 16.

RUGBY LEAGUE GAME.

INTERSTATE MATCHES.

The Queensland team, in charge of Mr. Sunderland, secretary of the Queensland League, arrived in Sydney early last week and secured the services of Mr. Arthur Hennessey, the ex-international forward, as coach. The visitors, as they took the field, created a very favourable impression, and 20,000 spectators, many of whom had seen previous Queensland teams in Sydney, must have admitted that, physically, the men led by C. Hodgins were the tallest and heaviest set of players that had visited this State.

The best laid schemes in Rugby, as in many other things, go amiss, and the first fifteen minutes' play in Saturday's game showed the Northerners that physical ruggedness, even when backed up by enthusiastic confidence, is futile against speed and science in this game. Very early it was apparent that the visitors had evolved a tactical code, but in their anxiety to keep the ball the off-side rules were ignored. Egan's (last man down of the pack) tactics in particular proved disastrous to his side.

HOPELESSLY BEATEN.

New South Wales' scoring began within four minutes, and was well distributed over the remainder of the play. Their passing was electrifying, and every man was at the top of his form. The loose rushes of Gray, Ryan, and the others were irresistible; in fact, they were so successful that for the greater part there was only one team in the game. The outstanding feature of the game was Horder's and Cubitt's brilliance. They played grandly, and rarely has the South Sydney winger infused greater dash and determination into his play than he did on Saturday. Several of his tries were magnificent efforts, and his quota was 5 tries 8 goals (31 points) out of a total of 53 points. Cubitt, although not so much in the picture as Horder, was "full of tricks," and did much to deceive his opponents.

Queensland's form, collectively, was below ordinary club standard, and allround was lamentably weak. But there were several players on the side, who, as individuals, did good things in their endeavours to stem the tide. Notable amongst them was Thompson, at half-back, who must be classed as a player of merit, and he played a gallant game throughout. He appeared to be the only one of the Queensland attacking force, who had any idea of the value of the straight run. Another to do well was A. Olsen, but in his case the merit rested in defence.

THE RETURN MATCH.

The Queensland team underwent considerable alteration for the return match played at the Sydney Cricket Ground on Monday, no fewer than five new men being brought into requisition—viz., three forwards, Hoolahan, Dean, and Pack, and two three-quarters, Foley and Wixted. The alteration certainly had a beneficial effect, as Queensland, in their second encounter, were a much improved side to the one which experienced such a crushing reverse on the previous Saturday. Those who stayed away from Monday's game will probably say, after reviewing the result, that Queensland's second effort did not reflect marked improvement, judging by the points scored for and against. However, New South Wales' victory by 39 points to 6 does not reveal a true indication of the trend of the game. On Monday the Northern men at times displayed really good form, and repeatedly they got to within reasonable striking distance of their opponents' line, only to lose the advantage at the critical moment through over-anxiety. Egan's off-side was again detrimental to Hodgins and his men; and, in view of his transgressions on Saturday, it was remarkable that his services were persevered with. The Queenslander plays purely and simply "a Rugby Union breakaway" game, and, as the off-side law of the two codes is so vastly different, it is beyond comprehension why he persisted in those tactics. Hoolahan, the new "rake," was quite a success, and his quick heeling in the first half gave Thompson ample opportunities of starting his third line moving. To the latter's credit it must be stated that these favours were made the most of, but his supports were outpaced and out-manoeuvred by the alert men responsible for New South Wales' defence.

DEFICIENT IN FINER POINTS.

Summed up, Queensland's all-round poor display as an attacking force (their tackling was particularly sound in both engagements) was due to the failure of Hodgens and his third line to bring into play the rudiments of scientific three-quarter back play. It is not easy to say definitely where the controlling element of a team in a League game is located, as offensive movements can be and frequently are initiated by players (both forwards and backs) from any part of the field. But since the greater part of tactical play is so largely dependent for its execution on the three-quarter line, it must be obvious to the Queenslanders now that the forwards and scrummage worker, however important a part they may play (and certainly these sections of the Northern team did more than their share of good work, particularly on Monday), in the carrying out of a manoeuvre, must, after all, mainly subordinate themselves to the stand-off half and third line. The fatal mistake, so glaringly apparent in Queensland's offensive movements, was the inability of the man in possession to "draw" the defence before tranferring to his support. Hodgens and his centres repeatedly indulged in passing when the recipient was in a worse position than the previous possessor of the ball. Fraser, Halloway, and the alert breaking New South Wales forwards, particularly Watkins, Courtney, and Gray, soon noticed this shortcoming on the part of their opponents, and thus many excellent movements were nipped in the bud. Queensland have paid the price for lack of knowledge of the finer points of the game, but if they only reflect and take to heart what they were shown in this year's interstate games they can still look forward to years of football not so lean as 1915.

HORDER TOPS THE HALF-CENTURY.

The outstanding feature of Monday's game was again the brilliancy of Harold Horder. In the second half he was well-nigh irresistible, being a veritable Will-o'-the-wisp, with his swerves, feints, and hare-like sprints. He went within two points of his Saturday's record, and thus brought his tally for the two matches up to 10 tries 15 goals, or 60 points out of a possible 92 points—a wonderful individual performance.

THE AUSTRALIAN GAME.

A good attendance, reminiscent of former years, witnessed a splendid contest between Paddington and Central-Western at Rushcutter Bay Oval on Saturday. A keen struggle was in doubt until the final bell rang. Five minutes before time the scores were equal—37 points each—when a behind secured by Paddington gave the side their winning margin. Central-Western lacked the finishing essential—accuracy at goal. On the previous Saturday, against South Sydney, they scored 8 goals out of 34 attempts, and exactly the same average was maintained in their contest with Paddington, as out of 17 attempts they only found the goal four times. Paddington are getting quite a new side together, additions to the team coming from Wagga, Broken Hill, and South Australia, and of the new men Butcher, who hails from Wagga, was an excellent forward. Webb, for Central-Western, gave an exhibition of high marking that has never been excelled in local football.

South Sydney's failure, after their brilliant play last season, must have occasioned surprise, owing to their defeat by Sydney. But reverses do not bring dismay into the South Sydney ranks; for the team has always stood out well from a good sporting view-point.

The decision of the League to play a third round of matches, before entering upon the semi-final games, has apparently improved South Sydney's prospects, as the return of certain players may assist the team in future games. Sydney has a good forward line, and the presence of L. Chamberlain in the team will considerably strengthen it in that department. Newtown won their first match this season, when they beat East Sydney, which side went all to pieces during the second half of the game. At the end of the second quarter Newtown held a slight advantage of 4 points, which was minimised by the retirement of Ellis, their serviceable half-back, owing to an injury. It would appear that Paddington and Newtown will again occupy prominent positions in the second grade competition, which is, however, being affected by compulsory training. The hon. secretary of the League has received encouraging reports from the Riverina; and the Narrandera and Wagga Associations are arranging a big interdistrict fixture for this month.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION GAME

NEW SOUTH WALES.

Matters in connection with the visit by Queensland at the end of the month are proceeding apace, and the success of the tour seems assured. The programme has not been definitely drawn up, pending replies from the branch associations concerning games in one of their areas; but the first interstate match has been definitely fixed for the 28th inst, at the University Oval. It is practically certain that the continuity of interstate school games will be maintained, as the Q.B.F.A. notify that it has decided to send such a team south also.

The inter-association games last Monday were a success, and, judging by the form displayed, the side to represent the State will be as good as ever. South Coast failed to hold Sydney in the first half, but, in the second they rallied to such good purpose that the odd goal was the deciding factor for Sydney. The Newcastle game again resulted in a draw—the third in succession—a tribute to the districts' selectors. No goals were taken, but Lowe displayed marvellous form, with Jones, little, if any, his inferior. The game provided the State selectors (Messrs. Lynch, Johnston, and Rae) with much food for reflection, and their task of trying to please all with the final selection is not an easy one.

Glebe have placed themselves in a good position on the list with a meritorious two-goal draw with Pyrmont at University Oval last Saturday; though, perhaps, a slight error took victory from them. Drummoyne played Granville a scoreless first half, but after the accident to Morrison they lacked cohesion, and the champions set to work with such precision that Drummoyne were well beaten, but did not lose all the honours. Northern Suburbs found Annandale too sound.

The Newcastle Association played a match—"Australian v British born"—last Saturday, in aid of the Belgian Fund. A scoreless draw resulted, but the object aimed at was achieved, over £25 being taken.

METROPOLITAN ASSOCIATION.

A successful series of carnival games was played at Epping racecourse on Monday, under the control of the Metropolitan Association, and the matches played produced some exhilarating and high-class football. There was an excellent attendance. Scotland beat England by 2 goals to 1, and the scores indicate that the game was keenly contested, and that the selectors had done their work well. The best match of the day, however, was that between Australia and the British Isles, in which the defence of both sides was severely tested. Phillips, the custodian for the British Isles, and Mitchell, who was in charge for the Australians, cleared many shots that were prematurely cheered by the opposing partisans. The British Isles in the second half had to play on without "Locky" Robertson, who was rather badly shaken and retired.

In the First League competition, Balmain and Sydney are at the top of the list with 11 points each; but Burns Anniversary is running them very closely, being only one point in arrears. The position of the clubs, therefore, makes the settlement of the premiership very interesting. The Balmain Caledonians Club, with 12 points, is leading in the Reserve League 2 points ahead of St. Paul's, and Balmain is next with 8 points.

The first round of the Dewar Cup competition will be played on Saturday, the draw for which will be published later. The competition matches this season show that the Metropolitan Association possesses players of the first rank, and if this good playing quality can be maintained the association should command a large following.

SAILING.

QUEENSLAND 18-FOOTERS.

TWO NEW BOATS NEXT SEASON.

In addition to the 18-footer, which J. H. Whereat is building for Mr. Maurice Barry, Queensland will boast at least one more new boat of this class at the beginning of next season. Mr. Charlie Solomon, son of Mr. Geo. L. Solomon, the old-time sculler and owner of the original 18-footer Arline (in which the veteran skipper Geo. Ellis won so many races), has given Norman Wright an order for a boat from the design which this builder submitted to the Queensland Flying Squadron when the question of who should build Mr. Barry's boat was being considered.

Writing to his father, Mr. Solomon says: "This boat is going to be an improved Vanity, and if she is as good as Vanity she will do. I am buying Frank Coleman's spars, which he had imported for Colonial. They are all hollow, like Australian's, and I am thinking of buying all his gear, including all Colonial's sails and extras, also two centreboards. These hollow spars have never been used, and as Colonial will not race again he has no use for them. The boat will be called Langham, and I am going to use your old colours (blue and gold crescent) on her sail."

Vanity, which won the interstate handicap for Queensland at Perth in 1914, has been sold by Mr. Colin Clark to a syndicate, of which Mr. Alf. J. Sapsford is a member, and it is understood that he will in all probability go in for a new boat. The advent of these new "eighteens" will undoubtedly give a strong fillip to the sport at Brisbane. All things considered, the Queenslanders seem to be determined to leave no stone unturned in their efforts to defeat New South Wales and Western Australia for the Mark Foy challenge cup at Brisbane in January next. The fact that Wright's model was turned down by the club has made him all the keener to produce something that will beat the boat to be built from the selected model, and there will be a good deal of rivalry between these two, to say nothing of the others.

Followers of sailing will doubtless be glad to hear that veteran George Ellis is still hale and hearty at Vancouver. In a letter to Mr. James Young, he says he did not see the name of his old rival, G. Holmes, on the list of prize-winners amongst the 18-footers last season, being apparently unaware of Holmes's retirement. He goes on to say that things have been very bad at Vancouver on account of the war, and that really the only chance of work is when a yacht meets with an accident or breaks her spars. He sends his best regards to all sailing friends.

GOLF.

WEEK-END PERFORMANCES.

So far as the general condition of the courses and the weather were concerned, Saturday was an ideal day for golf, and, consequently, the performances of the winners at the various clubs were in the majority of instances above the average. Undoubtedly the best performance of the day was that standing to the credit of J. B. Ferrier, who at Manly won the club's A grade bogey handicap, with a card of 1 up from plus 2. The card being a particularly good one, and of interest, it is given hereunder:—

Out: 4, 5, 3, 4, 5, 5, 2, 4, 4=36
In: 4, 5, 4, 3, 7, 4, 3, 3, 5=38

Excluding the 6th, the 14th, and, possibly, the 10th, the round was without a flaw. In all departments of the game Ferrier seemed to be at home, and missed few opportunities of scoring at the expense of "The Colonel." The B grade event went to J. Harding (16) with, however, only a moderate card of 4 down.

Another performance of merit was that of P. G. Rudd (5) 2 up at Bonnie Doon, in the bogey handicap. Rudd is another of the young players that the premier suburban club possesses, and, if he progresses at the rate he is doing, he will shortly be causing some concern to those who at present stand above him in the handicap list.

Concord members played the qualifying round of the club championship, but it cannot be said that the scoring was of the quality that such an event should produce. The draw for the first round is:—C. M. Garrard v C. Hope, J. W. Fairfax v R. W. Mackellar, F. D. Layton v L. W. Broughton, and J. A. North v C. A. Fraser.

The War Fund medal at Dobroyde went to C. C. Nelson (7), 3 up, after a close contest with the veteran J. P. Flynn (12), 2 up. Nelson knows how to play, and one would expect to see him at the top of the list more often; his play on Saturday was more like his true form, and when he plays in this fashion he deserves to win. A similar event at Drummoyne was won by R. McTaggart (5), with an average card of 1 down, while still another War Fund medal was contested for at Parramatta, where J. R. Durham (11) and Dr. W. S. Brown (5) tied with cards of 1 down.

NEW COURSE AT NEWCASTLE.

The Newcastle Club's new course at North Stockton was opened for play on Saturday, and was thoroughly tried out during the week-end by a large number of players, among whom were a contingent of golfers from Sydney. Making due allowance for the unseasoned fairways and greens, there is no doubt that the club has a splendid course, far in advance of the old one, good though that was. Situated about four miles from the city, it is best reached at present by ferry, a pleasant trip of about half an hour.

Nine holes only have been formed, but there is more than sufficient land for 18 holes when they are wanted. The country is eminently suitable for golf, being of an undulating nature, with a black sand soil, which will in time produce a fine sward of turf. A great amount of work has been done on the course, which a year or two back was thick bush. The fairways are generously wide, large circular greens have been formed, a considerable portion of the course is drained, and at least one fairway is built up by several feet. A large sum has been expended on a club-house, with good dressing rooms, showers, etc., and a fine wide verandah. The club-house is charmingly situated on a knoll, from which there are fine views up and down the river, as well as over the greater portion of the course. It is the intention of the club to cater for resident members, and no better place could be selected for a few weeks' holiday.

The course has a length of 2890 yards for the nine holes. The first two have been built for a drive and iron, but the sandy soil is to-day somewhat loose, and, in the absence of any run, it takes at present two good wooden shots to reach the greens. The third (480 yards) is the longest hole on the course. The fairway is severely undulating in character, and the green is not visible until the last hundred yards or so. This is one of the few holes capable of improvement. The fourth is a good, short hole, at which short play is severely penalised. The fifth is 340 yards in length, the green being on a plateau. It is an easy 5, but a difficult 4, and over-play will meet with due punishment.

A hollow in the sixth fairway requires to be drained or filled in in the interests of the short players; but for scratch men it is a fine hole, though the second shot is blind. Its length is 380 yards. The seventh is a good one-shot hole of 175 yards, there being some swampy ground in front, which must be carried. The eighth (395 yards) is probably the best hole on the course, and the green is delightfully situated on top of a slight rise. A deal of money has been spent on the fairway, and it is not yet in really good condition, but the approach to the green is the best piece of turf on the course. The ninth should easily be reached with a drive and iron, being of a length of 310 yards; but the green is blind, though fairly well defined by the hollow in which it rests. There are very few bunkers, but the bracken which lines the fairways, and in breaks at proper intervals, stretches across, answers all requirements; in fact, it is perhaps a little too severe, but time and niblick will reduce its density.

The fathers of the course are Messrs. A. Rankin and A. A. Burke, who have devoted time and labour unstintingly for the benefit of their fellow-members, and with a result for which the visitors had nothing but praise. It is, in fact, the best nine-hole course in the State so far as is known, and when the full 18-holes are made, the city championship courses may have to look to their laurels.

In addition to the golf course proper, the club has laid down a couple of tennis courts, which were extensively used, and were reported by players to be in very good order, though, of course, a little on the slow side.

MANLY CLUB ASSOCIATES.

An open stroke handicap under the auspices of the L.G.U. will be played on the Manly links on Monday, June 14. The whole of the entrance fees (1s each entry) will be given to the Blue Cross Fund. The trophy will be a L.G.U. "war brooch." Entries close to-day.

LEURA CLUB.

Following is the result of a bogey handicap for the war medal:—

R. J. Wilson (5), square; D. S. Evans (6), square; J. D. Howden (+3), 2 down; Stirling Campbell (12), 2 down; W. E. Bain (3), 4 down.

The winners handed the medal back to be played for again.

THE LEURA POT.

D. S. Evans and C. Campbell (hcp. 2) beat W. E. Bain and J. D. Howden by 2 up; D. S. Evans and C. Campbell (hcp. 2) beat R. J. Wilson and J. J. Kelly by 3 and 2.

NARRANDERA, Tuesday.

The golf links were opened on Saturday, when a mixed foursomes stroke handicap was played, the best cards returned being:

S. H. Evans and Mrs. H. S. Abrahams, 75—14—61; Mr. Fowler and Mrs. Fowler, 77—8—69; and J. H. Hassall and Mrs. J. H. Sudgen, 73—scr.—73.

CROQUET.

The entries indicate that some fine play will be shown at the annual tournament of the Kuring-gai Recreation Club, which begins on Saturday next, on the delightfully-situated greens at Warrawee. The contestants will include Miss Royle (State champion), Mrs. Holdsworth, Mrs. Christoe, Mr. and Mrs. Dalrymple Hay, Mr. Gordon, and Mr. Henderson. Miss Royle is a member of the local club. The events comprise:—Club championship, and club handicap singles and doubles, and open championship and open handicap singles and doubles. The play will probably extend over a fortnight. The proceeds of the target croquet competition will be handed over to the Red Cross.

BILLIARDS.

MARKERS' TOURNAMENT.

Following is the result of the first round:—

R. Partowne (310) beat F. Krakeour (240) by 1; T. O'Connor (200) beat H. E. Jones (275) by 119.

The games for to-night are:—J. Gander (rec. 215) v W. Tiller (rec. 275); C. Murphy (rec. 200) v T. Shinner (rec. 205).

LAWN TENNIS.

COUNTRY AND INTER-CLUB MATCHES.

Lawn tennis was quiet in Sydney on Saturday owing to the inter-club matches being suspended, while the teams were away for Country Day. Although Monday was the "real" day, many matches were begun, and some completed, on the Saturday; and in the latter case return matches, sometimes with a different local team, were scheduled for the holiday.

The strong side announced as representing Western Suburbs at Goulburn did not take the field, S. R. Youdale alone of the four selected being able to make the journey. C. E. D. Meares, president of the Western Suburbs Lawn Tennis Association, who has put up many a fine game in partnership with Youdale, and Jordan, were expected to be in the side, but they were compelled to withdraw. Further disappointments were experienced with the result that a team of only moderate strength was collected, and this was severely handled by the Goulburn team on Saturday.

At Bathurst, Castle Park worthily represented the metropolis on the opening day by winning eight sets to one, but Browning and Sloman, who did so well for Bathurst in the country week matches, were not in the team. Farther west, the University men gained an advantage over Wellington. Dr. Metcalfe, of Wellington, a State representative, emerged from the days' contests with the best individual record, for he won three matches in straight sets, including that against Terrey in single, and the doubles with Reid from Terrey and Utz. Nearer home, Lithgow and Corinthian were well matched, the day's play giving Lithgow a lead of 16 sets to 14. The results indicated a marked superiority in singles in the case of the Corinthian players; while the Lithgow pairs in the doubles outclassed their adversaries almost as decisively. The closest tussle was that at Temora, where the local players finished five games ahead of Waverley, with rubbers and sets equal. Not a bad performance on the part of Temora against the prospective winners of this year's B2 competition.

Next Saturday will see the final match for the premiership of A grade competition, University Graduates having qualified to meet Western Suburbs by defeating Hunter's Hill in a match begun over a fortnight ago, and completed by instalments. Unless the teams are altered from those that played in the semi-finals the sides will be:—Western Suburbs, H. Rice, N. Peach, F. Peach, S. Youdale; University Graduates, E. Pockley, E. L. Jones, H. S. Utz, and Henderson. The players will rank in that order for the singles. In this department Western Suburbs should at least hold their own, for Rice and N. Peach ought to win their matches on their defeats of A. B. Jones and Wright respectively in the match against Sydney. That line of reasoning is, however, notoriously liable to prove faulty, especially when players like Pockley and E. L. Jones, who have shown a capacity to rise to great heights, have to be taken into consideration. But, supposing the teams "break even" in these two rubbers, Western Suburbs seems to have better prospects than their opponents in the Youdale-Henderson tie; while Utz, on recent performances, may be expected to beat F. Peach. Western Suburbs appear a stronger side than the graduates in doubles, so should gain the title if they can hold them in singles. If the men of degrees lead by 3 to 1 in singles the issue will be very open.

On Prince of Wales' Birthday an American system tournament will be held on the Double Bay courts, primarily for members of the ground, though non-members will be allowed to compete, provided that fewer than 40 pairs constituted of members desire to play. The idea is to grade the pairs in four sections without handicaps, each section forming a separate competition; but this and other details will be considered by the committee of management this week.

The association has also decided to conduct a tournament for members, to run only from Saturday to Saturday on the completion of the badge matches. The events will probably include singles and doubles championships, and some handicaps. The earlier termination of the badge matches this year has rendered the holding of such a tournament possible before the annual top-dressing, a course that could not be adopted in previous years.

BOWLS.

THE CARNIVAL AGAIN.

There is a growing impression that the association will be acting wisely if it follows the example of the South Australian body and decides to hold its A.B.C. carnivals at Christmas instead of Easter. The capricious Easter weather is the governing factor. It so happens that last Easter the carnival was not held, because of the war, but had that decision not been arrived at, the persistent rain would have settled all the matches. Year after year the Easter weather is unreliable, and should the question of the date of the carnival come to a vote, the delegates are likely to apply to the council by resolution to make the necessary amendment.

If the carnival is to be held next Christmas it is time to set about preparing for it. But will it be held? If there was reason to postpone it last Easter, the same arguments and the same sentiments apply now. It was postponed because the association considered it was not a fitting time to indulge in high carnival—that, except when devoted to a sacred cause, such as the Red Cross, a carnival was out of place—that unless an apparent jubilation were pervaded by the incense of charity and patriotism, it became a harsh and forbidding intrusion into the activities of a critical period. These were some of the arguments, and were undoubtedly the beliefs of the delegates, as their unanimous vote showed. What has altered to change them? Nothing. What has happened to confirm the delegates in their resolution to adhere to the ordinary season's programme, and to decline the carnival. Good sportsmen are not in the mood for special games, band-playing, and banqueting. If flags are flown in profusion they should have their real significance, and not glorify visiting bowlers. The game now becomes a pastime for health's sake—the passion of our hearts is for other things. Our thoughts are with our wounded men at the front, and are not to be occupied with speeches of welcome. The wounded are already returning to Australia. Are they to limp along to the railings, and hear the jubilant choruses of the bowlers gathered in the pavilion after their day's sport, while fresh from the heaped festive board, and while other bowlers turn to the late paper to see how many more Australians have been killed in Europe? This is not dejection nor pessimism. It is the clean spirit of sportsmen who, first of all, are patriots. The association should keep to the path it chose a few months ago.

BOXING.

The mid-week programme at the Rushcutter Bay Stadium to-night includes exhibitions by Les Darcy and Mick King, the principals in next Saturday night's Stadium contest. Two six-round matches will be decided—Billy Molyneux v Vinc. Blackburn and Les Jackson v Jack Lincoln.

Les Darcy, middle-weight champion of the world, and Mick King, Australia's title-holder in the same section, will meet in a 20-rounds engagement at the Rushcutter Bay Stadium next Saturday. This will prove an unusual battle, for upon only two previous occasions has a pair of Australians met in a contest for the world's supremacy. Darcy has made wonderful improvement since his first Sydney appearance, and King's cleverness is recognised. He has defeated some formidable opponents in his rise to championship honours and since achieving that title.

At the Olympia Stadium, on Friday evening, two 15-round contests will be presented. Jack Clark is matched with Tommy Brownlee, and Jack Darcy is to meet Sid. Nielsen or Kelly Mansfield.

The usual mid-week programme, including boxing and vaudeville, will be put on at the Stadium to-night.

BASEBALL.

COMPETITION GAMES.

Baseball was played at Pratten Park on Saturday for the first time, and the ground and appointments were in excellent order. The late game—Burwood v Gordon—was one of the most exciting of the season, the interest being sustained right to the end. Burwood won by one run, the total scores being 14-13. Gordon were three runs behind in their last innings, but made a determined effort, and looked like equalising the scores. They had two runs on, when R. Harvey at third base pulled down a difficult "fly," and ended the innings.

Mosman-North Sydney were rather fortunate in averting a "chicago" at the hands of St. George. They only scored once—two runs in the eighth innings. In this effort R. V. Minnett's centrefield hit was muffed, allowing him to make third base; he subsequently scored on F. Rowland's safe hit. The St. George team is improving with every game. They scored consistently on Saturday, notching runs in five out of their eight innings—total 6.

At Waverley the local team easily beat their opponents—Paddington, the final scores, 18-6, being a fair indication of the form of the respective teams. Paddington tried a new pitcher, A. Haugh, but the result was disastrous, as he could not find the plate, and five runs were quickly on the board. S. C. Winning relieved him, and made a much better showing. Waverley's runs were the result of strong batting, Paddington's field errors not being so numerous as in some of the former games this season. The latter's outfield showed up well, R. Oakes and F. Toby at rightfield and leftfield respectively being particularly noticeable. S. Goodfellow (Paddington) hit a three-bagger in the right field. The work of both catchers is worthy of notice—S. Gresham (W.) and H. A. Jones (P.)—they put up a good game, and each secured two rather difficult "foul flies." H. Comber (Waverley) was given out for "striking out of the box." This is an offence which many batters are guilty of, and the umpires would do well to penalise them more often. The rule is distinct.

Petersham and University had a game on Petersham Park. The former scored 12, and the latter 5. This does not count in the competition points; but University scores a win on the day by default of Leichhardt.

In the District Division, Waverley and Petersham are leading, being level on the competition table. Both teams have won six matches and lost one, percentage .857. Petersham II. are leading in the "A" division, No. 1, having won all seven matches, percentage 1.000. Leichhardt Junior are leading in "A" division, No. 2, five wins to one loss, percentage .833. Petersham Junior are leading in "B" division, five wins and no loss, percentage 1.000.

ATHLETICS.

LONG DISTANCE RACING.

The season's open race programme has been depleted to such an extent that the clubs have realised the necessity for providing regular competitions for members in expectation of achieving success in the five-miles cross-country and ten-miles teams' championships, which, although fixed for much earlier dates than in past years, will again close the winter racing. It appears contrary to the fitness of things that the long-distance season should close so long before the advent of Spring, yet this will surely be the case. It is recognised that road and cross-country running is a preparatory sport to assist clubs in getting teams together for the championships, and there will probably be many excuses after the big teams events that men have not had sufficient time to complete their training arrangements. This season will stand conspicuous as the shortest distance one on record, and it will be interesting to ascertain what competition will be provided for athletes between the end of July and October, when the track events commence. Past experience has shown that road-racing does not appeal to athletes after the championships, and until the football competitions are concluded grounds will not be available.

H. Hayden, who holds the long distance titles, was again conspicuous last Saturday, when he won the Botany Harriers' road race from scratch. The distance was estimated to be five miles, but as Hayden was credited with 25m 7s for the distance, it is apparent that the course was short. An average of 5m 2s per mile on the road would, if correct, be an improvement upon any figures yet recorded in this State. A. B. Stephens, last year's sensational novice, was first home in the Hurlstone Park Harriers' cross-country run over an eight miles course, and R. J. Fitzgerald led the field at the finish of the Olympic Club's seven miles run at Manly. East Sydney Club's members visited Hunter's Hill, and conducted a sports meeting at the St. Joseph's College Oval, a number of the scholars competing in the events. At this gathering B. Sidman, the New South Wales running high jump champion, essayed the task of beating A. H. Scott's State record of 6ft, and although jumping in good style, just failed to accomplish it. One of the finest efforts of the day was that by Mr. F. Dunmall, of St. Joseph's, whose actual 12lb shot putt reached 41ft 8in, only 4ft 3in short of the scratch man, F. J. Morgan's best. The latter made an excellent throw of 137ft 8in with the javelin, the best he has yet registered, and which, if made with a regulation javelin, would be a State record.

Nominations are due next Saturday for the annual 5 miles novice cross-country championship, to be decided on 26th inst. Competitors in this race will have the opportunity of striving for the championship, sealed handicap, and team race. The last-mentioned prizes will be awarded to the first four men of any club, getting the lowest number of points. Botany, East Sydney, and the Olympic clubs promise to be strongly represented, and the destination of the teams supremacy appears to rest with the trio. Until entries have closed, it is a difficult matter to forecast the individual winner.

Hurlstone Park Harriers have arranged a two-miles road race for club members to-night, over the Hurlstone Park-Dulwich Hill course, and a meeting of members has been convened to take place at the conclusion of the race. Next Saturday the Olympic Club will conduct a five miles road race, starting and finishing at Moore Park. The Botany Harriers will be engaged with a four-miles road race and running broad jump handicap.

ROWING.

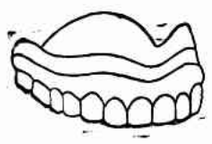

With the near approach of the match between Charles Towns and A. D. Felton for £200 a side, the trial between the rival oarsmen in the outrigger handicap at the Belgian Sculling Carnival on Monday was followed with the keenest interest. Both Towns and Felton were on the scratch mark, and after a cordial shake hands, they got away after the big field of 21 starters. The two opponents made good pace, but it was soon apparent that each man was trying to gauge the other's form. It is worth noting, however, that Towns pulled away ahead of Felton, and remained there to the finish. Felton appears to be twice as powerful as his rival, but the noted skill of the Towns family was very apparent in the row.

As a handicap rower, Sydney Kemp has always proved a great success, notwithstanding his several defeats in match racing. On Monday he had only 6 seconds start from Towns and Felton, but he rowed right away from them, and got in amongst the prize-winners.

Although the Rowing Association of New South Wales decided, in response to an invitation from the Belgian Carnival Committee, that it could not co-operate as a body, as the racing season was finished, there was the true amateur spirit amply displayed by the entries of Leichhardt, Mosman, and Enterprise for an amateur eight-oar contest. Mosman were late in reaching the post, but those two rival clubmen, Enterprise and Leichhardt, put up a delightful struggle. The boats were almost bow and bow until the last hundred yards, when Enterprise drew out and won.

CHAPTER XXII.—Continued.

The excellent assumption of sympathy and superficial courtesy and the occasional languid smile of one absolutely sure of her ground were perfect. Estelle was baffled; and despite all that Blount had told her she was forced back upon her former suspicion that for some reason of his own he had misled her.

"Of course I must see him," she said after a moment. "He had better come to me," and she tossed down a card with her address.

"You are sure there is nothing else you would like me to tell him?" asked Enid with a smile, as Estelle turned to leave.

But as the door closed her expression changed instantly. She listened as the outer door was opened and shut, and then hurried to the window to make sure that Estelle had left the building. She watched her go out of the court, and the moment she saw her turn the corner she rushed to the telephone to call Bob.

"He must know at once," was her thought; and after the passionate summons to him she turned to her desk to write with feverish haste every syllable of the fearful story, covering sheet after sheet, and underscoring the points which had most impressed her during the recital.

She was still busy on the work when she heard him come, and jumped up from the desk, not seeing for the instant, so intense was her excitement, how worn and haggard he had grown in the hour or two since they had parted.

He saw the change in her, however. Her frantic call to him had prepared him in a measure, and her eager question and the wild look in her eyes suggested the cause for it. Dread that she had learnt what he had meant to keep from her held him in momentary hesitation, and she misread the little wince of pain he could not repress. For the first time a sharp pang of doubt of him shot like a knife thrust through her heart, and she fell back a pace, her clenched hands pressed against her heaving bosom. Her gaze fell from his eyes to his lips, and Estelle's description of his passionate kisses stabbed her afresh.

"You need not answer. I know," she said, the scorching flame of jealousy and indignation suddenly crimsoning her cheeks. "She has told me all that was between you. You will be glad to know where to find her," and she fetched the card from her desk and held it toward him, her fingers trembling violently. "You might have spared me the humiliation of hearing it from her."

He took the card, but did not look at it; his eyes were all for her, and full of wondering speculation at her mood. "There is evidently some extraordinary misunderstanding. Do you mean that this woman has been here?"

"To tell me of your promise to make her your wife, and of—what with such a woman would be the preface to such a promise!"

"And you believed her without a single word from me? Then why did you send for me?" he asked quickly.

"No. I did not—until you came and your manner—ugh! why discuss it? She is anxious to see you, and I am only too pleased, of course, to be the means of restoring you to one another," she cried with a fine curl of the lip. "It is such an honour."

"Matters are much too critical for we two to waste time in quarrelling without cause," he said with quiet earnestness. "I hesitated to answer your question just now because I had decided not to tell you anything about that woman. But it is necessary now. You will believe me if I give you my word of honour that, to my knowledge, I have never spoken a single word to her. In Paris I saw her at the flying ground, when, as one of the crowd, she pushed forward to ask me to shake hands with her. A little later I saw her in the car which ran me down. The third time was weeks afterwards at a music hall, where she was on the stage dancing, the Folies Trayalres."

The rush of relief with which Enid heard this was even more searching than the passing pang of wild jealousy, for with it was the shaming stab of self-reproach for her mistrust. "I am sorry and ashamed. I was mad," she murmured. "But she told me that——"

"Never mind what she said. Only the truth matters to us two. Since I left here Blount has told me things. Among others that this girl declares I pledged myself to marry her. What truth there is in her story I cannot say. It seems, however, that she was present when he saw me in Paris. That is all I know so far as she is concerned."

Enid crept back to him and put her hand in his. "You forgive me——"

"God knows how willingly I would if there were anything to forgive. But there is not," and he smiled in answer to the pleading in her upturned face.

"I was chilled and fear-stricken by the suddenness of it, and she tried to rouse me to fury with her taunts and jibing laughter. She claimed you, declaring that she had nursed you back from death to life, and swore that because of it—you—you grew to—to love her. She maddened me with the wild things she described. It nearly killed me to hear it, but I fought to control my self and make her believe I did not care."

"And just now you would have had me believe it also?" he whispered tenderly.

"Don't," she pleaded with a wince of pain. "I saw that my calmness angered her, that helped me; for I had to force her to tell me all she knew."

"Then you—you know?" His voice was low and tense, and she felt the muscles of his arm stiffen.

"Who should know, if not I, my dear?" she cried in gentle protest. "Yes, I made her to tell me. It is a terrible story, and every word burnt itself into my memory. I have written it all down. She slipped from his arms, and fetched him the papers. "We will read it together."

"I fear I know more than even she told you," he said as they took the papers and they sat down on the couch. "Did she speak of the—affair at Cremorne?" He shrank from using the word "murder."

"Yes. Can that be true?" she asked in a whisper of dread.

"I fear there is no room for doubt. Would to Heaven there were!" he answered with a heavy, deep-drawn sigh. "Blount knows of it. He told me; and afterwards I went to the London office of the 'Apres-Midi' and read the account. God help me."

The utter hopelessness of his voice, the grey pallor of his cheeks, told her how he was suffering; and for some moments they sat in this silent companionship of despair. She knew that the misery which gripped her heart and chilled her blood, well-nigh numbing every nerve, was as naught compared with the agony which held him in this palsy of desolation, changing his very nature, until he seemed like some other man.

The yearning to comfort him in this darkest hour of his life roused her then; she must be strong for his sake; her own misery must be put aside, fought down and hidden; it was only cowardice to add to his despair by letting him see hers. This was to be her hour; she must save him from himself and prove herself the real helpmeet so sorely needed.

"Let us read the story together," she said.

"It will do no good," he replied, shaking his head.

"But if I wish it and think it will do good. You did not mean me to know anything. I saw that just now. But I do know; and if we talk it all over we can test it, perhaps, and sift what is true from what is false. I did not think it was all true when she told it. I saw her motive of course. To drive home the absolute conviction that she could force us apart. To do that she would lie readily enough. Come." And she laid her hand in his.

He drew his away quickly and shuddered. "I am not fit to——" he broke off, and would have risen. But she held him.

"You must not say that, dearest, nor think it. We are together in all this trouble and together must find the way out of it. I will not let you put me away out of your life. Where is my place if not at your side? Do you think I care what you have done? Why, my very jealousy a few minutes since will show you how much I love you. I was jealous, half distracted by that woman's story of the hot and passionate kisses which she said you had rained upon her lips. The yellow hell, as she declared she herself had endured."

"You don't understand. If this murder——"

"I do understand. Could I see you suffer as you are suffering and not understand? It is you who do not. Who is there in the whole world who would hold you responsible, or dream of blaming you for what you did when your mind had slipped from control? Suppose that that part of what this woman said be true—that you did promise to marry her—would anyone say that such promise bound you to it?"

"It is not that. But if the stain of this man's blood is on my hands——"

She carried his hand to her burning lips and kissed it. "There is my answer to that," she said smiling.

But he tore it away, and rose, pacing the room. "It is impossible. Impossible. I have thought and thought and thought again, but it is impossible. God knows how I welcome all the hope you would raise. But it is impossible," he repeated.

"What will you do, then?" she asked after a pause. She watched him closely as she put the question. Her woman's wit divining what was in his mind when she saw his start at the question.

Unequalled and Invincible for Coughs and Colds—Woods' Great Peppermint Cure. 1s 6d.—Advt.

POULTRY.

Questions relating to fancy or commercial poultry keeping, diseases, etc, should be addressed to "Aconia," Herald Office.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

C.W.J. (Newtown).—From your description it is difficult to determine the cause of the trouble. You should, however, discontinue the mutton in favour of wheat. Fresh shaved lime should not be given to fowls. Old mortar is one of the best grits you can use, and with oyster shell there should be no thin-shell eggs.

Buttercups.—You will find this variety of fowls advertised in each Saturday's business columns of the "Herald."

Wyandotte.—Give the bird's legs and feet a dressing with a mixture of kerosene and oil on two or three alternate days. At the end of a week the legs and feet should be washed in warm soapy water, using a small brush to give them a gentle scrubbing. If the bird is badly affected the treatment will require to be repeated.

The past week's transactions in eggs and poultry were most satisfactory to producers, both products experiencing a considerable rise. Poultry in particular realised almost equal to the price current in June last year. Hens brought up to 5s 6d. Muscovy drakes to 8s. 8s 6d being frequent quotations for meaty specimens. Now that the Government has promised a supply of wheat the quantities of poultry offered will ease, and prices further harden.

At the Hawkesbury College a competition termed the no-house test for hens has been going on from April 1. Six breeders are competing with 12 birds each, six being housed in the ordinary way, the other six allowed to roost in trees. Despite several days' rain, and nearly a fortnight of frost, every pen of the no-house birds has laid more eggs than those in comfortable quarters, the total of the latter for the two months was but 322, against 680 laid by those subjected to the fresh air treatment.

The hon. secretary of the Illawarra Poultry Club forwards the scheedule for the 12th annual show, to be held in Rockdale Town Hall on June 18 and 19. The classification includes the old breeds and all the new ones, together with ladies' classes. Entries close with the hon. secretary, Mr. G. C. Warner, on the 11th instant.

A number of pig and poultry farmers lately held a meeting dealing with the threatened discontinuance of meat offal on the removal of the abattoirs to Homebush Bay. A lengthened report has been drawn up, showing the disastrous consequences to the industries should the offal be made into meat meal, as suggested by the Government. The report states that South Australian Government meat meal is sold at 18s 9d per cwt, whereas it can be purchased at 12s 6d retail in Queensland, manufactured by a private firm. The report concludes: "The present disastrous shortage of mill offal and cereals has ruined many poultry farmers, and the now threatened curtailment of meat offal will mean ruin to many others." The report is signed by a large number of the Botany and Bankstown pig and poultry farmers, and suggests that the offal be made permanently available. Mr. W. L. Fidler is hon. secretary to the committee.

As shown in last Saturday's "Herald" the two months' egg-laying at Hawkesbury College shows a considerable falling off from the previous year. The average for the flock of first year hens was 114 eggs per pen, against 138 in the previous test; a like reduction applies to the two-year hens. Mr. Wyndham, the conductor, suggests the unfavourable weather as responsible, which is probably the case, as Mr. Huddington, the poultry expert, says the birds are receiving the usual ration of winter feed of first-class quality. Whatever the cause of the poor production in this State, at Gatton, Queensland, the birds are again putting up big records. For the two months, the 53 pens have averaged 208 eggs per pen, or well-nigh double the average made here. A New South Wales pen of Orpingtons leads, with the fine score of 251 for the two months; others from this State are near the top.

(BY W.C.J.)

NOTES.

Mr. Frank Musgrove, whose death was reported on Monday, was some time ago an ardent admirer of the popular bulldog. He purchased for £25 the brindled dog Glenmore Billie, which won many prizes in New South Wales and Queensland.

The Bulldog Society of New South Wales intends holding a parade on the 26th inst at the Zoological Gardens, Moore Park. Ten classes in all (five for each sex) will be provided. Fuller particulars may be obtained from the secretary, G. E. Bragg, 139 Sussex-street, city.

COLLIE CLUB.

At a meeting of the committee of the Collie Club at Bateman's Hotel Mr. W. D. M'Rae was chairman. The sum of £6 10s, profits of the show, was voted to the Belgian Fund.

PUG DOG CLUB.

The Pug Dog Club of New South Wales held a successful parade on the 29th ult, at the residence of the president, Mr. F. A. Lukey, Petersham. The grounds were decorated. The parade, besides fulfilling its own purpose, was made the occasion of a social reunion of the members and friends of the club. There were nearly 60 entries. Mr. Maude was to have made the awards, but he was prevented at the last moment owing to the Kennel Club refusing its sanction for him to act as judge. The club, not being able to procure another adjudicator in the time, elected three of its members, Mr. T. A. Payne, Mr. T. M. Woolston, and Mr. H. K. J. Barnsley, to judge. The arrangement was that each gentleman was to retire when the class in which his dog was entered was being judged. Mr. Mark Foy and Mrs. Lucas presented the prize ribbons to the winners.

FOX TERRIER CLUB.

Last Wednesday a general meeting of the Fox Terrier Club was held at the Customs-house Hotel. Superintendent M'Lean was chairman. About 40 members were present. Mr. William Hamilton delivered an interesting address on fox terriers, of which breed he is one of the pioneers.

Mr. Hamilton's subject was judging. He said the position of judge was difficult and onerous, it required a firm belief in one's own knowledge.

A judge should put aside completely every prejudice and preconceived ideas. The best judges were men without "fads." Sometimes when a judge's name was announced exhibitors showed terriers likely to suit his previously-known opinions.

As a class enters the ring the judge should carefully scrutinise each dog. After moving them round the ring, he should send the inferior ones into a corner, and tell his steward that they were not required. He should then study carefully the others, and when he had fixed on the best he should place him on the boards and examine him minutely as to coat, straightness of forelegs, liberty of action, etc. The same process should be adopted with the other dogs.

A judge should not be led away by particular excellences. A good all-round terrier is what is wanted. A dog may have a capital head, and fail in many other essentials.

"I believe," concluded Mr. Hamilton, "that at the present time the fox terrier fancy is singularly fortunate in having a number of gentlemen perfectly independent of outside considerations, and who aim at pleasing themselves alone in the prizes which they distribute." (Applause.)

WORKMEN'S DWELLINGS.

The question of the erection of further workmen's dwellings at Chippendale was discussed by the works committee of the City Council yesterday.

Alderman A. M'Ethone said it was ridiculous to utilise such extensive land for this purpose. The present municipal flats at Chippendale were a losing concern.

It was decided to call for a report from the comptroller of assets.

STAMP DUTY.

The amount received in Sydney last week for stamp duty in respect of probate and letters of administration was £9416 4s 4d, of which £2190 12s was paid by the estate of the late Mr. Ralph Clement Halls, merchant, of Grenfell, which was valued at £28,190; £3913 6s 2d by the estate of the late Mrs. Ernest Wollton Guille, furniture warehouseman, of Burwood, which was valued at £45,142; and £1204 by the estate of the late Dr. Herbert Russell Nolan, of Potts Point, which was valued at £18,060.

ELECTORAL UNIFORMITY.

Mr. Cann has taken preliminary action to give effect to the resolution of the recent Premiers' Conference,—"That steps be taken to secure electoral roll uniformity between Commonwealth and State."

CAN YOU IMAGINE ANYTHING BETTER THAN KOKO FOR THE HAIR?

EXQUISITELY CLEAN.

"Koko is exquisitely clean and marvellous for Falling Hair and Dandriff. It leaves the hair beautifully fluffy and wavy."

"Koko is the cleanest hair dressing I ever used. Two bottles did my hair more good than all the other things I tried."

"I cannot imagine anything better than Koko for the hair; it shows the improvement so quickly, without being greasy or sticky."

DELIGHTFULLY REFRESHING.

"Apart from its other good qualities, Koko is the most cooling, refreshing dressing I have ever used. Koko is beautifully clean and wonderful for the growth of the hair."

"I found Koko a delightful preparation for falling hair, so cool and refreshing. I can strongly recommend Koko for Dandriff."

"Koko is beautifully refreshing. It makes the hair wavy and imparts a glossy appearance."

INDISPENSABLE AS A DRESSING.

"I have used Koko for years and find I cannot do without it now, as my hair is so much easier to dress when I use Koko."

"We all find we can wave our hair in half the usual time when we use Koko for the hair."

"Since using Koko I only have to wash my hair every two months, and my scalp is always beautifully clean."

"Koko seems to improve the colour of the hair; mine has become glossy again and the natural lustre is restored."

"Once my hair was too oily to dress properly, but now, thanks to Koko, it is much easier to arrange."

"EXCELLENT FOR FALLING HAIR."

"I have proved Koko excellent to stop the hair falling. It is a good all-round hair preparation, delightfully refreshing to the scalp, makes the hair set nicely, and imparts a lustre not produced by other hair tonics."

"Koko is very convenient to use, not being greasy. I confidently recommend Koko when the hair is getting thin. All my friends say how nicely my hair has grown since using Koko."

"BEST THING FOR DANDRIFF."

"Koko is the best thing I know for Dandriff; all my family have used it for years and would not be without Koko for the hair."

"It is surprising how Koko removed the dandriff from my little girl's hair."

"I tried all sorts of things for Dandriff without any result, till I used Koko; now my scalp is quite clean. Koko is wonderful stuff for making the hair grow."

"AIDS THE GROWTH WONDERFULLY."

"Koko makes the hair nice and glossy without being greasy. I have found it aids the growth wonderfully."

"My little girl's hair never grew much till I used Koko; now everyone notices its growth."

"My husband has a lovely lot of hair growing where it was getting very thin, before he used Koko." (Names given.)

LAW REPORT.

BANCO COURT.
(Before the Chief Justice.)

CLAIM FOR RESUMPTION.

Cornwell v The Commonwealth.

Mr. J. L. Campbell, K.C., and Mr. O'Reilly, instructed by Mr. J. Relph, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Pickburn, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, Mr. Gordon H. Castle, for the defendant. This was an action brought by George William Cornwell, master butcher, against the Commonwealth of Australia, to recover compensation for the resumption of land at Lidcombe, formerly Rookwood.

The defendant pleaded that the sum which had been tendered to plaintiff was equal to or exceeded the value of the land.

His Honor assessed the total compensation to which plaintiff was entitled (including the machinery left on the premises) at £1450, and allowed him costs of the case.

NO. 1 JURY COURT.
(Before Mr. Justice Sly and a jury of four.)

CLAIM BY COMEDY ARTISTS.

Watson and another v Brennan's Amphitheatre, Ltd.

Mr. Watt and Mr. Tighe, instructed by Mr. E. G. Maddocks Cohen, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. E. M. Mitchell, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell, for the defendants. This was an action brought by William Watson and Esther Watson, his wife, vaudeville artists, professionally known as "The Waldrons," against Brennan's Amphitheatre, Ltd., proprietors of the National Amphitheatre, to obtain compensation for breach of agreement. Plaintiffs claimed £1000 damages.

The defendant company paid £86 2s 6d into court as sufficient to meet the plaintiffs' claim. It was contended on behalf of defendants that plaintiffs could have obtained their passages and freight for luggage for £73 12s, so that defendants had paid more into court than was necessary. It was also submitted that no consequential damages in respect of engagements lost in England and elsewhere had been proved, or that the amount paid into court was not sufficient.

The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiffs, with damages £360, in addition to the sum paid into court. On the application of Mr. Mitchell a stay of proceedings was granted.

STORY OF DIAMOND RING.
LEGALITY OF A BET.

Kerr v Cordingley.

Mr. Windeyer, instructed by Mr. P. K. White, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Ralston, K.C., and Mr. McKean, instructed by Mr. E. H. Gardiner, for the defendant. This was an action brought by David Kerr against Bridget Cordingley to recover damages for the alleged wrongful detention of a diamond ring. Plaintiff asked for a return of the ring, or its value, and £50 for its detention, and under the residue of his declaration he claimed £500. His case was that he is a "turf accountant," and on the evening of the 30th March last he was at defendant's hotel, at the corner of King and Castlereagh-streets. He was wearing the ring in question, which he valued at between £500 and £600, and a man named Logan, who was also at the hotel, estimated that the ring was a 3-carat one, and worth £700. Plaintiff replied that it was a 6-carat ring, and worth from £500 to £600, and that he was willing to make a bet that he could raise £300 upon it by pawning it. Ultimately he made a wager of £70 to £25 with Logan to back his opinion, and the ring was handed over to defendant, so that no question could arise as to the substitution of one ring for another. At the time the bet was made he had not sufficient cash upon him, and defendant went security for the amount of his part of the bet. The next he heard was that defendant had paid the £70 over to Logan on the ground that she had attempted to pawn the ring at two of the principal pawnshops in Sydney, and failed to obtain a loan of £300 upon it. He thereupon offered to deposit £100 with defendant, and said he was prepared to forfeit it if he could not prove that he was capable of raising £300 on a loan on the ring. This offer the defendant refused to accept, and said that she only wished plaintiff to return the £70 she had paid to Logan. Plaintiff also stated that some time before the transaction took place at defendant's hotel he had purchased the ring for £500. Expert evidence was also given that the ring was worth £600.

The defendant in her main plea set out that plaintiff made a bet with one Logan that the ring could be pawned for £300 or more, and thereupon plaintiff deposited it with her upon the terms that if defendant was not able to pawn the ring for the amount stated, or more, she should pay £70 for plaintiff to Logan, and hold possession of the ring until plaintiff should repay the amount. She was not able to pawn the ring for £300, and thereupon paid £70 to Logan on behalf of the plaintiff, but as the latter had refused to pay her the £70 she held the ring in pursuance of the terms of the deposit.

Mr. Windeyer said that the question of the legality of the bet was involved in the case, as betting outside a racecourse was, under Wade's Act, illegal, and punishable as an offence. That being so, defendant's plea was bad.

At the close of the plaintiff's case Mr. Ralston moved for a nonsuit on the ground that on the evidence plaintiff had failed to establish that he was entitled to the return of the ring. Even if the Court held the transaction to be illegal, being a bet, defendant was still entitled to retain the ring until plaintiff had repaid the £70, and on that point the evidence showed that there had not been any unconditional demand for the return of the ring.

His Honor refused to nonsuit, and evidence was given on behalf of defendant in corroboration of the facts stated in her plea.

LEAVE TO APPEAL.

Re the Remonstrant.

Mr. H. E. Manning, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Crown; Mr. E. M. Mitchell, instructed by Messrs. Dairymple and Blain, for the master and owners of the vessel; and Mr. Weston, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell, for Justus Scharff, Ltd. This was an application on behalf of the Commonwealth for leave to appeal to the Privy Council against the decision of the Court a few days ago, in the case of the Norwegian barque Remonstrant, ordering payment to Justus Scharff, Ltd., of £480 15s, being amount of freight and other charges paid by them, and also against the amount allowed to the owners of the barque for demurrage. It was explained that the application was made by reason of the fact that Mr. Weston had applied for and obtained leave to appeal to the Privy Council against another portion of the order of the Court in regard to the same vessel.

The application was granted, and, by consent, the cross appeals were consolidated.

DIVORCE COURT.
(Before Mr. Justice Gordon.)

BALDING v BALDING.

Mr. McKean, instructed by Mr. E. R. Abigail, appeared on behalf of Andrew Gerald Balding, who petitioned for a decree for restitution of conjugal rights against Lilian Kathleen Beatrice Balding (formerly McLean), to whom he was married at Gladesville on February 24, 1904, according to the rites of the Church of England.

The respondent, for whom Mr. Perry, instructed by Mr. Atkinson, appeared, denied that reasonable opportunity had been offered for her to cohabit with the petitioner, and stated that she had just cause and excuse for refusing to do so; inasmuch, it was alleged, as he had repeatedly assaulted, insulted, and abused her; had misconducted himself with a certain woman between September, 1910, and January, 1911, and had neglected to support her. She prayed that the petition should be rejected.

The petitioner admitted the misconduct complained of, which, he said, had been condoned; but denied the other allegations set out by the respondent.

His Honor reserved his decision.

MARRIAGES DISSOLVED.

His Honor made absolute the decrees nisi granted in the suits of Annie Matilda Sherlock v James Alexander Sherlock, Florence Ann Bell v Francis Bell, Catherine Eva Neal v Edward Neal, Edwin Elsey Witham v Alice Mary Whitham, Alfred John Burns v Mary Ann Burns, and Peter Smith v Ada Florence Smith.

PROBATE COURT.
(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

ESTATE OF HELENA GANNON, DECEASED.

SUMMONS TO FILE ACCOUNTS.

In this matter, which was a summons directing James Conley Gannon and Susan Clara Stursaker, married woman, administrator and administratrix respectively of the estate of Helena Gannon, widow, late of Church Hill, Sydney, to file accounts, Mr. R. S. Lambton, of Messrs. Lambton and Milford, appeared on behalf of the administrator and administratrix, and stated in an affidavit that he had been instructed by J. C. Gannon and Mrs. Stursaker to demand from the individual members of the late firm of F. Gannon and Sons, a bill of costs for their professional services as solicitors for the estate of Helena Gannon, and a statement of the moneys received and paid by them on account of the estate.

He further stated that on May 28 last he had caused to be written to F. Gannon, F. S. Gannon, and L. E. Gannon, members of the late firm of F. Gannon and Sons, who had acted as solicitors for the estate of the deceased from the date of her death on September 5, 1906, intimating that he had been instructed by the administrator and administratrix to ask them to file a statement of all moneys received by the firm from September 5, 1906, up to the date of the dissolution of the partnership of the firm, which, it was understood, was about 1912; and for a detailed bill of the costs claimed to be owing by the estate of the deceased to the firm. The communication went on to state that numerous applications extending over some years had been made by Mrs. Sturzaker for the information required, but it was not forthcoming; and, in view of the fact that an order had been made against the administrator and administratrix directing them to pay £122 13s, the amount of a legacy of £100, together with interest and costs, to Mrs. Margaret Greene, as beneficiary under the will of the deceased; and that a summons having been issued by the Registrar of Probates calling upon J. C. Gannon and Mrs. Sturzaker to show cause why they should not be ordered to file an inventory of the estate, they desired an immediate statement of accounts, and that any balance in hand should be placed to their credit without delay, so that they might be in a position to comply with the order of the Court. So many promises had apparently been made by F. S. Gannon to furnish a bill of costs, but had not been carried out, that the administrator and administratrix could not allow the matter to remain in abeyance any longer; and, unless the information asked for was supplied within seven days, their only course would be to institute proceedings against the members of the late firm. The affidavit further stated that Messrs. Lambton and Milford had received instructions to institute proceedings should the demand be not complied with.

Mr. Lambton stated that up to the present no reply had been received from F. Gannon or F. S. Gannon; and that L. E. Gannon had written repudiating any responsibility or connection with the estate of the deceased. His (Mr. Lambton's) instructions were to proceed against the members of the firm as it existed in 1906; and, in the circumstances, he asked that the matter be allowed to stand over to permit of that being done.

His Honor said he would allow the matter to stand over for three weeks, without prejudice to a further application for adjournment, if it were then shown that proceedings had been taken against F. Gannon and Sons.

ESTATE OF D. J. MONK, DECEASED.

The suit stands part heard.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.
(Before Mr. Justice Heydon.)

APPEAL AGAINST TINSMITHS' AWARD.

His Honor had before him cross appeals by employees and employers, asking for variations of a number of the clause of the April, 1915, award of the Iron and Shipbuilding Trades Group, No. 15 Board, covering the industry of tinsmiths, canister-makers, sheet-ironworkers, and tinbox-makers.

The Canister Makers' Employees' Union of New South Wales was represented by Mr. N. Henwood, officer in charge of the Industrial Arbitration Department of the New South Wales Labour Council. The Sheet Metal Industries Employers' Association was represented by Mr. Vero Read, of Messrs. Read and Read.

The union complained that the provisions for both male and female machinists and canister-makers were unsatisfactory; that there was no provision for extra pay for leading hands, who should get 1s 7½d per hour; and that preference should be given to the members of the applicant union.

The employers' association asked that provision should be made for solderers on bench work at the same rate as solderers employed on canister-making and canister-making work. They declared that the minimum rates of pay awarded were excessive, and asked his Honor to decide that the board had no jurisdiction to make the award in respect to apprentices to bench work and piece work generally, and for a reference of disputes arising under the award to the board itself.

The case stands part heard.

IN BANKRUPTCY.
(Before the Registrar, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

DISTRICT COURT.
(Before Judge Backhouse.)

ALLEGED CARELESS TRANSPORT.

Michael Stephenson, who was represented by Mr. Mocatta, instructed by Mr. F. C. Petrie, sued Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, claiming £400 compensation for injuries to a motor car and accessories, alleged to be due to careless transportation of a case containing the car and accessories. The defendant firm was represented by Mr. Alex Thomson, instructed by Messrs. Asher, Old, and Jones.

Acting as Customs agents, Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin undertook to remove the case from the ship's wharf to their (defendants) premises. As the case was being lifted from the dray on which it was removed from the wharf, the hooks of the crane slipped, and the case fell a considerable distance to the ground, the contents being damaged in many respects. Plaintiff alleged careless transportation and negligence against defendants.

Defendants denied any carelessness or negligence.

His Honor non-suited the plaintiff.

A BAKER'S COMPLAINT.

Max Kemp, of Bourke-street, Darlinghurst, sued R. Waples, of Holdsworth-street, Woollahra, alleging detention of a baker's turnout and a baking plant. Mr. J. B. Frawley appeared for the plaintiff, the defendant being represented by Mr. Breckenridge, instructed by Mr. J. A. Richardson. Plaintiff claimed £35 compensation from Waples, the owner of the premises. Defendant Waples stated that the premises were in the occupation of a late partner of Kemp's. He (defendant) had nothing whatever to do with the detention of the property.

Plaintiff was non-suited.

(Before Judge Murray.)

ALLEGED SLANDER.

Clara Collett, wife of George Collett, of 88 Booth-street, Annandale, sued Catherine Parker, wife of William Parker, of 38 View-street, Annandale, alleging the use of slanderous words which impugned her character. She claimed £50 damages. Mr. D. Levy appeared for the complainant; Mr. Maddocks Cohen for the defendant. The defence pleaded not guilty, and if the words were used, it was under such circumstances as did not amount to publication, and not likely to injure plaintiff's character.

His Honor found for the defendant, without costs.

A CHEMIST SUED.

Gladys Eliza Cox, a young, unmarried woman, living at North Sydney, sued H. T. C. Brennan, a chemist at Cremorne Junction, Mosman, alleging improper and unskilful conduct of his business, and the use of stale, improper, and dangerous drugs. She claimed £200 damages. Mr. Westall, instructed by Mr. Claude Manning, appeared for the plaintiff. The defendant, who pleaded not guilty, was represented by Mr. Coyle, instructed by Messrs. Wilson and Harriott.

Plaintiff alleged that she took a prescription, which had been recommended to her by a friend as a tonic, to defendant in January last. He gave her a mixture, which he represented as the prescription dispensed. She took a number of doses of the mixture, and became very ill, suffering much pain and being compelled to seek medical attention. She alleged that the mixture was not in accordance with the prescription, and declared that the Public Analyst has stated that to be so, and that the mixture was unfit to be taken.

The case stands part heard.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.
(Before Mr. Justice Pring and jury.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

BINALONG RAILWAY COLLISION

NIGHT OFFICER ON TRIAL.

John Sylvester Cotter, 26, who was night officer at Binalong when the up express collided with the Temora mail on April 17, was charged with having feloniously slain Robert John Thomas, who died from injuries received in the accident.

Mr. James, instructed by Mr. L. L. Hogan, of Young, appeared for Cotter, who pleaded not guilty.

The evidence for the Crown was mainly on the lines of that given at the inquest which was held on Thomas, and which has been published in the "Herald."

Cotter, in his defence, said that he had been employed in the railway service since January, 1904, and had been a night officer about five and a half years. During that period he had never been connected with a previous accident. On the morning of the collision, when the mail train arrived he placed the "down" signals at danger, and then went to the office and put a tablet through the instrument, closing the line against traffic. He then saw to the collection of tickets on the platform, examined the doors of the carriages, saw some parcels being put into the brake van, and went back to the office to telephone to Bowning and Galong. He asked the latter station where the express then was, and received a reply that it passed through there at 4.1. It would take the train about 13 or 14 minutes to travel from Galong to Binalong. He then went back to the platform and informed the guard of the mail train that he would "stow" his train in the loop. Having ascertained from the guard that the train was all right, he signalled the engine-driver to go back. While doing so he heard the express approaching the "four-mile limit," and, knowing that he would not have time to "stow" the mail, he stopped the driver and told him that he would put the express on the loop. After telephoning to Binalong Creek and receiving a reply that the line was clear, he pulled off the signals for the main line. He thought that the points were set so that the express would run through on the loop. The usual practice was to set the loop points as soon as the mail train came in, and, knowing that the express was late, he was of the opinion that he had done so.

The jury acquitted Cotter, and he was discharged.

QUARTER SESSIONS.
(Before Judge Scholes and juries.)

Mr. V. Ackermann, Crown Prosecutor.

ASSAULT AND ROBBERY.

John Leech, 33, pleaded not guilty to a charge of attempting to choke Albert Rose at Sydney on May 17, with intent to rob, and also to a further charge of, in company, assaulting Rose and robbing him of £10 15s 6d. Leech was undefended.

The case for the Crown was that Rose came to Sydney with a friend from Gleneagh on a holiday trip, and while in an hotel he invited Leech and a man in uniform to join them in having a drink. Rose afterwards went to the rear of the hotel, when the man in uniform put one of his arms round Rose's neck, while Leech searched the prosecutor's pockets and took the money. Rose's friend, who had followed him out, caught the two men in the act of committing the assault, and while he was thrashing the accused the other man escaped.

Leech denied all knowledge of the offence.

The jury committed Leech on the second count, and he was sentenced to two years' hard labour in Bathurst gaol.

PLEAS OF GUILTY.

The following prisoners pleaded guilty and were remanded for sentence:—

John Benedict Cleary, 54, six charges of obtaining property by means of valueless cheques, the total amount involved being £15.

Charles Reid, 23, stealing a horse, sulky, harness, and other property belonging to Ellen Nakkan, at St. Peters, on May 4, and another sulky turnout, the property of Robert David Maxwell, at Rhodes, on April 7.

HOUSEBREAKERS CONVICTED.

John Bede Hamilton, 28, and George M'Farlane, 29, were charged with breaking and entering the dwelling of George Johns, at Mosman, on May 1, and stealing therein six suits of clothes, three shirts, and one pair of boots. Mr. L. Gannon defended Hamilton and M'Farlane conducted his own case.

The case for the Crown was that the prosecutor locked up his house when he went out in the morning, and on his return he missed the articles mentioned in the charge. A pawnbroker's assistant identified Hamilton as the man who had pawned one of the suits. When M'Farlane was arrested he was wearing one of the stolen shirts.

Hamilton's defence was that he knew nothing about the robbery. He was put in the witness-box by M'Farlane, and he stated that he had borrowed the shirt from Mrs. Johns, who was his sister, and lent it to M'Farlane.

Hamilton was found guilty of larceny and M'Farlane of receiving, the former being sentenced to 12 months' hard labour in Bathurst gaol and M'Farlane to a similar term in Parramatta gaol.

AMERICAN SHIPPING.

THE NEW ACT.

The Trade Commissioner to America (Mr. Nielsen) has forwarded to the Premier a copy of the Seamen's Act, 1915, which affects Australian ships trading to the United States in important respects.

Section 4 of the Act is made to apply to all foreign vessels while in harbours of the United States. It directs that every seaman shall be entitled to demand of the master half of the wages "he shall have then earned at every port where such vessel, after the voyage has been commenced, shall load or deliver cargo before the voyage is ended, and all stipulations in the contract to the contrary shall be void; provided such a demand shall not be made before the expiration of, nor oftener than, once in five days." The Courts of the United States are to be open to seamen for the enforcement of the provision.

Foreign vessels are also compelled by the Act to conform to United States rules in regard to life-saving appliances and equipment.

Section 16 provides for the termination of all articles in treaties and conventions of the United States respecting the arrest and imprisonment of officers and seamen deserting from merchant vessels of the United States in foreign countries and deserting from merchant vessels of foreign nations in the United States. The Act directs the President to give notice to the various Governments concerned for the termination of so much of such treaties as conflict with the Act according to the notice required by such treaties.

The Act takes effect eight months from March 8, 1915, in respect to American vessels, and 12 months from March 6 in respect to foreign vessels.

MILITARY STORES.

CONVICTED MEN SENTENCED.

At the Central Criminal Court yesterday John Gribble, 42, lately a sergeant-major attached to the 21st Infantry Regiment, and William Henry Hamey, 55, who were convicted on charges of stealing 12 drums of lubricating oil on March 2, and 11,000 cartridges, on March 5, the property of the King, were called up for sentence.

Mr. Justice Pring said that the jury had strongly recommended Gribble to mercy on account of his previous good character. Of course, he should give weight to the recommendation. As his (his Honor) had pointed out on Friday last, the offence was one of a very serious nature. Prisoner had been convicted on two separate offences. In addition to that, both prisoners had gone into the box and committed perjury. He had always borne in mind the fact that an accused person had the right to give evidence on oath, not for the purpose of committing perjury, but to explain away circumstances which might appear against him.

His Honor, addressing Hamey, stated that the jury had recommended him to mercy on account of his age. That was a right which the jury possessed, but, speaking for himself, he (his Honor) did not regard old age as a ground for recommendation to mercy. The older a man became, the more reason that he should be an example to others. However, that was his personal opinion, and he did not wish to set it up against the jury. "Taking all the circumstances of the case into consideration," said his Honor, "I intend to pass a sentence which some people might think light, but I hope that it will be a warning to others."

Gribble was ordered to be detained in Goulburn gaol, with hard labour, for two years on each charge, and Hamey for a similar term in Bathurst gaol, the terms in each case to be concurrent.

An order was made by his Honor that the stolen property be restored to the military authorities. He also hoped that this case would act as a warning to people in Sydney who bought Government property.

MISSIONS.

SUDAN UNITED SCHEME.

A luncheon was given at Sargent's Cafe, Market-street, yesterday afternoon, by the Sydney committee of the Sudan United Mission in honour of Mr. D. N. MacDiarmid, B.A., organising secretary of the mission, who has recently visited Egypt and the Sudan in connection with the opening up of what is known as "The New Mission Sphere." The Rev. G. W. Thatcher, M.A., B.D., chairman, formally welcomed the guest. Mr. MacDiarmid explained the enormous amount of work that remained to be done by the Australian and New Zealand branch of the mission if another link were to be forged in the chain of stations across the Sudan. He said he was one of a party (including Bishop Gwynne) which made a visit to the capital of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. During the river journey of 420 miles from Khartoum there was no sign of Christian missionary activity. Eventually the party reached Melut, a Government post on the east bank of the Nile in the Upper Nile Province of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and 424 miles south of Khartoum. The Rev. H. Arnold was now en route to Melut. There was need for two others. He (Mr. MacDiarmid) would make one and another would be secured in New Zealand. It would require £400 a year to enable this new scheme to be opened up.

MILSON'S POINT RAILWAY STATION.

Mr. Wade has been in communication with the Chief Commissioner for Railways on the subject of the Milson's Point terminal station, and the Chief Commissioner has agreed to receive a deputation on Thursday next, 10th inst, at 11.30 a.m.

Persons from every railway suburb on the Milson's Point line are invited to attend and present any special grievance under which they albour.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. John Sulman's able letter in your issue of 5th inst on the subject of tunnel across Sydney Harbour recalls an interesting episode in the history of the question of harbour communication. About 20 years ago the then leading tunnel engineer of England prepared for a London company a scheme for the construction of two tunnels across the harbour—one for vehicles and foot passengers, and the other for a double line of tramway. The company introduced a bill in the New South Wales Parliament to obtain the necessary authority to carry out the scheme, and the matter was inquired into and reported on by a select committee. The company asked for no concession in either land or money, nor did it ask for any monopoly, and it was able to show that the scheme would not interfere with any work which the Government might undertake. All that was asked for was the right to construct the tunnels, and to make charges for the use of them. The proposal involved the Government in no risk whatever, while it would have been an undoubted convenience to the public, besides benefiting the city by the expenditure of £600,000 on the works. There was thus a strong temptation to depart from the settled policy of the State, which requires that no such work should be dealt with by private enterprise. The company persisted for about four years in its attempts to obtain the necessary authority, but the Parliament of that period steadfastly refused to depart from the national policy.

I am, etc.,
H. G. M'KINNEY.

June 7.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I am surprised at Mr. John Sulman rushing into print advocating "a tunnel" after the matter has not only been considered by the Public Works Committee, which approved of Mr. Bradfield's bridge to carry all the traffic, and also was endorsed by the expert who was especially brought from England to report, and he advised the carrying out of Mr. Bradfield's bridge, and condemned the tunnel proposition. I notice Mr. Sulman does not tell the public that his tunnel is only for a railway, which is no use to us, and he says it will take 2½ years, which I am sure he could not guarantee. An offer was made to the Government nearly two years ago to build the bridge and have it completed and ready for traffic within six years from signing the contract, and now we have steel works at Newcastle. Would not that benefit our workers?

Many years' delay has been caused by so many people trying to get their pet schemes carried out, and my league has always been satisfied to leave the matter to the Government. When the Public Works Committee and the imported expert approved of the bridge, and the Executive sent Mr. Bradfield home to see the latest bridges that had been built, we thought at last the long-promised bridge was actually going to be built. If the Government will not do it, why not let private enterprise have a chance? Only yesterday a capitalist came to me and said he was willing to take a big interest in a company if floated.

I am, etc.,
HUGH DUFF, Hon. Sec.,

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

STOCK SUPPLIES.

The doleful effects of the drought in the inland districts are forcing themselves upon public attention. The drought has exacted a frightful toll in the loss of live stock. Although it is quite impossible to estimate with any surety what the total loss represents, yet men in close touch with the live stock industry should be able to form a reliable opinion as to conditions in their own locality. Therefore, the Wagga stock and station agent who believes that 50 per cent. of the sheep in Riverina will be lost as a result of the drought and the uncongenial conditions that followed the recent rain, no doubt has good ground for his belief. Some of the particulars, as reported elsewhere by our Wagga correspondent, certainly furnish warrant for anticipating a very heavy loss. In some quarters it is held a mistake to draw attention to such losses, but it seems to us most desirable that the community should realise the actual position. Unquestionably it is very serious. Stockowners have received a blow that will take them years to recover.

The question of stocking up the country again is a problem that has to be faced. As far as can be seen, live stock are going to be at a high premium for some time to come. They will require to give fair compensation to those who manage to carry a proportion of their flocks and herds through the winter. It takes a long time to breed up to normal numbers, but that will be the only course to be followed apparently. It is difficult to see where stockowners are going to obtain any large quantity of stock once grass is available, as the drought has been so widespread. The effects of the drought are being accentuated by the high prices ruling for fat cattle, which are bringing a large proportion of female cattle into the market. As these animals are destined for the slaughter-house it is impossible to ignore the fact that a very serious position must be expected in the future, both from the standpoint of beef and butter production.

As it is reasonable to anticipate that there will be a heavy demand at good prices for both meat and butter for some considerable time, any heavy and continuous shortage of stock for any length of time will incur a considerable loss to the State, and one that will seriously affect its position, both at home and abroad. There is no need to emphasise the benefit to the whole community in the possession of a large and profitable export trade in foodstuffs. This consideration in itself is sufficient proof of the interest in this matter that is held legitimately by the whole community. It is one affecting the welfare of the general community, and in any discussion on the question this point should be remembered. It is to be hoped that the business sense of stockowners will impel them to act with a full regard for the necessities of the future, and to remember that it will be increasingly difficult to restock this country, the greater the number of female cattle slaughtered. To the practical man there are obvious and serious objections to any legislative action interfering with the internal conduct of the live stock industry.

Both in the raising of beef and dairy cattle there are occasions when it is advisable and necessary to dispose of female stock. Especially is this the case in the dairying industry. Indeed, the whole purpose of the important herd-testing movement is to cull out the unprofitable cows, and remove wasters, young or old, generally. This is but one point that would have to be remembered if any legislative attempt was made to check what is a growing menace to the future prosperity, not only of the live stock business, but also of the business life of the community. The whole question is whether responsibility can be left safely to the individual stockowner. It would be much preferable; but the trend of the present time, nevertheless, indicates a dangerous tendency on the part of many stockowners to sacrifice future prospects for an immediate gain. The fact cannot be ignored that, while drought has devastated our flocks and herds and there is a great shortage to be made up, a large proportion of the principal factor in regaining a normal position is being slaughtered.

EFFECTS OF DROUGHT.

TAKING SHEEP OUT OF SNOW COUNTRY.

LOSSES OF STOCK IN RIVERINA.

WAGGA.—A well-known stock agent estimates that over 50 per cent. of the sheep will be lost in Riverina as a result of the drought and the more or less severe climatic conditions which have prevailed since the change occurred. Since being brought back from the mountains, sheep have perished in tens of thousands. The general heavy rains were followed in the higher country by very cold weather. Most of the areas to which sheep had been sent for the summer, experienced heavy falls of snow after the rain, and it is estimated that as a consequence not more than half the number depastured there will be returned to their owners. During the past week or so urgent messages for drovers have been received at Wagga, to release the snow-bound flocks, but very few men of experience of that region would undertake the task of getting the sheep out of the mountains.

The agent referred to, who is in close touch with the pastoral industry, says he knew of one man who sent 7000 lambing ewes from the Germanton district to the mountains. Three weeks ago he decided to bring them back. The last heard of them was that 5000 were dead, and the remainder were struggling along the route, leaving a trail of fallen and dying sheep as they went. In the Michelago district one man had 4000 sheep. A recent muster showed that 2800 had perished. Another station, down the river, had 6000 lambing ewes on agistment. When the lease was up 4000 were sent to the station, and 2000 to Blacktown. Of the latter 1000 were dead on arrival at their destination, and the lambs are being killed to save the remainder. One pastoralist has spent £30,000 trying to keep his sheep alive—but 40,000 have so far died out of a total of 120,000. Many very serious losses have occurred through shifting ewes when near lambing. In one case 3000 ewes which had been trucked in this condition were found dead out of a total of 7000. One owner had expended £70,000 on fodder and grass country, but had lost enormous numbers of sheep.

An instance of the great difficulties experienced by owners who had their sheep in the mountains was cited by a man who had just returned to Wagga from Kiandra. He had his sheep five miles from Kiandra. It seemed impossible to get them out, as the snow was lying on the ground to a depth of from a foot to 3ft 6in. He made a trench through the snow with the aid of 20 horses tethered one behind the other, and ridden in line by four men; and logs and other obstacles were then also removed. In this laborious manner 2400 sheep out of 2500 were rescued. This man declared that he had personal knowledge of eight owners whose aggregate losses in the snow amounted to 45,000 sheep. They had all been caught in the snow. About 15,000 sheep were snowed in in one lot along the Munlong Range, from Kiandra to Kosciusko. By using four teams of bullocks to go ahead and break a track, the men in charge got out 8000 in one day. In the region of Happy Jack Mountain, owners have been experimenting with boat-shaped slides hauled by bullocks to open tracks for sheep to follow. In that locality there were 30 degrees of frost last week.

A pastoralist questioned on the matter of losses of large stock, said: "There were no cattle in Riverina. They had all been cleared out long ago. Butchers were buying in the city markets, and would have to continue to do so for some time to come. I would venture the opinion that pastoralists would not recover from the terrible effects of the drought of 1914-15 in less than four years."

IN QUEENSLAND.

EFFECT ON STOCK SUPPLIES.

Queensland is feeling the effects of a serious dry spell, amounting practically to a drought. When the other States were experiencing a prolonged period of dryness last year, the season in Queensland was good. When this State and Victoria were benefited by rain a few weeks ago, on the other hand, the fall did not extend over the border. Some relief was experienced in the old coastal districts at a later date; but the far west and even the Darling Downs and places just beyond are suffering seriously, and heavy losses in stock are fully expected. A number of holdings are already skinning their cattle as they die off, one place having no fewer than five men employed at this work. One sheep-owner stated that he has 50,000 head, and if he comes through the times ahead with 10,000 head he will consider himself fortunate. The losses of breeding ewes, many of which are too poor to stand the strain of lambing, will be a serious item. The effects of the dry spell will be to reduce to a minimum the number of fat stock available for the meatworks and export trade. This in turn will affect the southern States, which in the past have obtained so many head of cattle from Queensland to supply the local trade.

BUTTER SHORTAGE.

FACTORY HANDS PUT OFF.

It is reported that, owing to the shortage of cream supplies, the North Coast Co-operative Company, Ltd., has been compelled to put off over 20 of the men employed at the factories of the company.

A further decrease in the supply of cream is expected during the next two months on the North Coast.

GRASS AND NO CATTLE.

TAREE.—The supply of cream on the Manning has fallen off very considerably during the last few weeks, and the output of butter is in consequence much less. The M.R. Co-operative Dairy Company's output is about 100 boxes less than it was at the same period last year. This is very largely due to the recent flood. The supply kept up fairly well until that time, but afterward commenced to fall off immediately. Another cause of the falling off is that there are probably considerably fewer cows milking in the district than was the case last year about this time. The season before last was a very dry one, and as a consequence a large number of cattle were sold and sent away from the district. Then, when the really magnificent season that the district has just experienced came along, the farmers had not the cattle milking that they should have done. Generally, there were not enough cattle to keep down the grass in the district. Then everyone wanted cattle with the good season, so that cows became very dear, and farmers were unable to obtain them. Consequently there is a shortage of cattle, which has meant a lessened cream supply.

RABBIT TRADE.

The Minister for Agriculture is in receipt of communication from the Agent-General, London, forwarding copies of reports on New South Wales rabbits by the Poona and Cufic.

The inspector states that he inspected the rabbits by these vessels, which were found to be in good condition. A few crates were broken, but these were repaired before being sent away.

CLEARING DEMONSTRATION.

The Department of Agriculture advises that Mr. Assistant Inspector C. W. Purrows will conduct a demonstration in "Clearing with Explosives" at Mr. S. M. Haig's property, Gunning, commencing at 2 p.m. on Friday, June 11.

FOREST RESERVES.

The Minister for Lands and Forestry announced that in six months the work of setting aside 5,000,000 acres in the central and eastern divisions for forestry purposes would be completed. Mr. Ashford said that Mr. Hay, the Director of Forests, and Mr. Ponto, of the Lands Department, were engaged setting aside suitable land, and the work was proceeding expeditiously, and without the old-time friction that characterised the relations between these two branches of the Public Service.

FRUIT EXPORT TRADE.

NEW SOUTH WALES APPLES.

LONDON, April 30.

There are still a quantity of American apples on the market, but they are not of good quality, being quite six months old. Still the fact that they are on sale affects the price of Australian fruit. The great bulk of the last shipment of the latter, ex Medina, were sold on Monday and Tuesday at from 8/6 to 11/6 to cover all varieties. In the vessel named came 199 boxes of apples from the Department of Agriculture at Bathurst, and some of the choicest of this fruit is now being displayed in the windows of the Agency-General. Dunn's Favourite, in the Medina shipment, arrived in good condition, and brought an average of 12/, as did the Cleopatras, though the latter showed a little bitter pit. Many of the Jonathans were shrivelled. The London Pippins also showed signs of bitter pit, and were rather bruised. Rome Beauties were very sound, and satisfactory prices were realised. A further small consignment of New South Wales apples has come to hand, but prices are not yet available. The Hector and Australia are now discharging. Western Australian apples in the former were not, on the whole, in good condition. This was more particularly the case with the soft varieties. A considerable quantity was quite soft, and practically worthless. The prices realised for them in some cases would hardly cover freight. Probably the deteriorated condition referred to affected the market generally, for prices were not as satisfactory as they have been. Cleopatras topped 13/6 a case, Dunn's went up to 11/6, and the best of the Jonathans fetched 8/ to 11/. The best of the Western Australian pears were in fine condition, and ran up to 17/ the case. There were a few cases of Cox's Orange, but they did not reach the prices to be expected under ordinary conditions. From the beginning of the season the Jonathans have not panned out too well. Evidently they have deteriorated in transit, and it is understood the questions of refrigeration and packing have been under scientific consideration. The Orsova has also arrived with a small consignment of Western Australian fruit. Apples from Hobart have arrived in a better condition than those from Western Australia, just referred to, and made about 8/ to 10/ per case all round. The first shipment of Australian apples landed in Liverpool this week were in good condition. Tasmanians brought from 7/ to 11/3, and Victorians 7/6 to 12/3, covering all varieties. Western Australian grapes marketed in London brought, for such as were in sound condition, up to 15/; but a large proportion of them was wasty.

STOCK TRANSIT.

THE RAILWAY TOLL.

JERILDERIE.—A distressing scene was witnessed at the Urana railway station recently. A special stock train arrived from The Rock, conveying about 2500 sheep, which had been away on grass at Monaro. When untrucking about 200 of them were taken out dead, while 150 or so of the unfortunate animals had been so trampled by the others in the trucks that they had to be killed. They were mostly heavy-woolled lambing ewes in good condition. The cause of the trouble appeared to be overloading, as in one truck only 15 sheep were saved out of 100. It is stated that most of the lost animals were stud sheep, and the loss is estimated to be about £650.

AUSTRALIAN PRODUCE ABROAD

COPRA.

LONDON, April 30.

Business in copra is dull, and prices are lower. South Sea, March-April and April-May has sellers £24/5/ c.i.f. London.

GRAIN AND FLOUR.

On and after May 1 the Port of London Authority's rate on imported wheat will be raised from 2½d to 3d per ton, and on flour from 3¼d to 4½d per ton. After a somewhat irregular market, wheat values have advanced about 1/ per qr. No transactions have taken place for Australian for arrival. Australian wheat is quoted 71/ to 72/ per 504lb (nominal), and Australian flour 48/ to 49/ per 280lb.

HIDES, LEATHER, ETC.

At the last public sales of hides and skins, and in the Australasian section, business in wet-salted, ox and cow hides was confined to a few skins which realised fair relative value. The offering of dry-salted ox and cow hides did not elicit bidding. Salted horse hides were represented by a consignment of butts, which failed to find a market. Salted sheep pelts were not on offer. Buffalo hides did not attract trade. Of 2250 salted calf skins and yearlings offered, 488 sold; Brisbane special, av. 6lb, 8½d; firsts, av. 5½lb, 8d lb c.i.f. At the sales of leather all the twenty bales of Australasian offered were returned, there being no reasonable bidding. There was no supply of Australasian basils.

TALLOW.

At auction on Wednesday 1805 casks were offered, and 603 casks sold at an average decline of 1/ per cwt. The present quotations for Australasian sorts are:—Mutton, fine, 40/ to 42/, fair to good 36/ to 39/, common to middling 34/6 to 35/6, low and inferior 32/6 to 34/. Beef, fine 40/ to 41/, fair to good 35/ to 37/6, common to middling 34/ to 35/, low and inferior 32/6 to 34/. Mixed, fair to good 34/6 to 35/9, common to middling 32/6 to 34/. The limited quantities offered for shipment are on such a high basis that business is still very restricted, and until sellers are disposed to make concessions, not much improvement in the demand can be looked for. The c.i.f. quotations are nominally 35/ to 36/ for fair to good mixed afloat. The stock of Australasian tallow is about 18,500 casks.

The attendances at the National Art Gallery for May numbered 22,157 persons.

Lurline is beautiful to see,
A glance from her is ecstasy;
The lustrous gems which monarchs wear,
Could not with her blue eyes compare.
When fearsome fogs her form enfold
She feels no fear of cough or cold;
Though others sneeze her smiles endure,
For she takes Woods' Peppermint Cure.—Advt.

Put it where the pain comes!

Pneumonia	Pleurisy	Rheumatism	Chest Colds
Sore Throat	Backache	Quinsy	Neuralgia
Sprains	Bronchitis	Neuritis	Lumbago

Complete relief from the pain caused by these and other ailments—no matter of how long standing—follows the application of Thermogene. Thermogene is absolutely safe—suitable for both young and old. It is sure in action and easy to apply. It stimulates the soothing inner warmth of Nature and brings to the affected part an increased supply of healthy and invigorating blood to battle with and take away the foreign irritating substance. Its comforting warmth brings new life and strength to the aching part.

THERMOGENE
ABSORBENT WADDING

Thermogene is far superior to the old-time poultice. It is hygienic in use, clean to handle and comfortable to wear. A piece can be tacked to the underclothing, over the affected part, or applied by means of a simple tape bandage. It can be worn night and day without any inconvenience or interference with ordinary work. Thermogene is recommended and used by Doctors and Nurses everywhere.

An unsolicited Testimonial from Driver T. WILSON, 12491, A.S.C., 67 Coy., Indian Meerut Div., Expeditionary Force:

"I beg to give you this testimonial from the Front regarding the value of your remedy, Thermogene, which has been used by me with wonderful effects. I have been very bad with rheumatics and bad chest owing to the hard weather which we have had to endure out here. A comrade gave me a packet of your Thermogene Wool, and I can surely say it did me a great deal of good, and I am pleased to recommend it to my comrades and the public at home. "(Signed) Dr. T. WILSON."

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

Presented at the ORDINARY GENERAL MEETING of Proprietors, held at Winchester House, Old Broad-street, E.C. (Hall No. 174), at 12 o'clock noon, on WEDNESDAY, 5th May, 1915.

The Directors present their Report, accompanied as usual by Audited Accounts, for the year ended 31st December last.

The profits as shown by the Annual Statement, after deducting management charges, all taxes, including the Federal Land Tax and State Government Land Taxes, providing for all bad and doubtful debts (no provision being necessary for investments at 31st December last), amount to		£83,578 9 1
To which is added the amount brought forward		25,071 11 2
Making together		£108,650 0 3
After providing for—
Interest to 31st March, 1914, at 4½ per cent., on Transferable Deposit Receipts	£5184 6 1
Transfer to Reserve Fund (making it £300,000)	30,000 0 0
Grant to Officers' Provident Fund	2,000 0 0
		37,184 6 1
There remains		£71,465 14 2
From which has to be deducted the Interim Dividends at 7 per cent. per annum for six months ended 30th June, 1914, paid 3rd November, 1914		19,977 15 11
Leaving a balance to be dealt with of		£51,487 18 3
Which the Directors recommend to be appropriated as follows:—
Dividend of 7 per cent. per annum on the Preference Shares for the six months ended 31st December, 1914	£6,017 11 0
Dividend of 7 per cent. per annum on Ordinary Shares for the same period	17,152 14 3
		£23,170 5 3
Leaving a Balance to be carried forward to next account of		£28,317 13 0

After payment of the above Dividend the Preference Shares will have received a full dividend at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum for five years, and, henceforth, in terms of the Bank's Articles of Association, cease to be entitled to any preference or priority in respect of dividend.

During the year branches have been opened at Ultima in Victoria, and at Roma-street, Brisbane, in Queensland.

The Directors retiring under the provisions of the Bank's Articles of Association are Mr. Robert James Black and Mr. David Finlayson, who, being eligible, offer themselves for re-election.

The Bank's Auditors, Messrs. Price, Waterhouse, and Co., retire, and again offer themselves for re-election.

The Transfer Books are closed from the 21st April to 5th May, both days inclusive.

Warrants for Dividends, less Income Tax, will be issued, payable on and after the 7th May next, to those Shareholders whose names appear on the Register on the 21st instant.

By order of the Board.
W. H. BARBER, London Manager and Secretary.

STANLEY.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Emily Stanley, who departed this life June 9, 1914. Inserted by her brother-in-law and sister, Mrs. E. J. Noble.

WEIDEMIER.—In loving memory of my dear wife and our dear mother, Ellen Harriet, who departed this life June 9, 1914, aged 30 years.
No one she loved was by her side
To hear her last faint sigh,
Or whisper just one loving word,
Before she closed her eyes.
We never knew the pain she bore,
We never saw her die;
We only know she passed away,
And never said good-bye.
Inserted by her loving husband and children, Jack, Lily, and Reggie.

WEIDEMIER.—In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Ellen Harriet Weidemier, who departed this life June 9, 1914.
She has gone where the weary can always find rest;
She is free from all sorrow and pain,
And the ills of this life, which she patiently bore,
Will never distress her again.
Inserted by her loving parents and sisters.

WHITELAW.—A tribute of love to the memory of my beloved husband and my dear daddy, Edwin Whitelaw, who passed to the higher life June 9, 1912.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.

ITALY'S INTERVENTION.

One has to read all the latest papers and magazines as they discuss neutral Powers with a strange reservation, so much has the position been altered for publicists and writers by the intervention of Italy and the sinking of the Lusitania. In the interval since the last mails left England the latter event has made many of the continents favouring or apologising for President Wilson's policy seem quite out of date. But in respect to Italy events have marched so fast that we are inclined now to think of and read about nothing except the immediate facts of her advance upon Austria and the progress of her arms. She is one of us. The Triple Entente is now the Quadruple Entente for purposes of rough generalisation, although Japan's position in relation thereto is always before us. Europe, with Italy among the Allies, has seen an enlarged battlefield; and it is natural to keep the nations actually engaged upon it in the foreground. This massing of the European Allies in one term, however, is now seen to carry with it more than the joining of forces. Our cablegrams this morning contain the news that Mr. McKenna's conference as Chancellor of the Exchequer with the Italian Treasury has resulted in a resolution to co-operate on the financial side in the same ungrudging spirit as upon the naval and military sides. The resources of Great Britain, France, and Russia have already been pooled to this end, and now Italy takes her place in the give and take of the new finance which has emerged with the war. How necessary this is may be realised in the position of Italy, whose finances when war was declared were straitened through the adventure in Tripoli, which required an expenditure of something like fifty millions sterling. Economy was practised so rigorously in consequence that a world in flames found her army quite unprepared for action, either in offence or defence; and both navy and army have needed eight months of tremendous effort to bring them up to battle pitch. This has meant the outlay of many more millions. Had it been possible to join hands with the Allies earlier in the day we may suppose that Italy would not have seemed to be halting between two opinions; and for those who were following the course of events closely it was sufficiently significant that Great Britain should have allowed the export of coal to Italian ports. This would never have been allowed to a doubtful neutral.

Germany's attitude to Italy at the present moment is causing special comment, because war has not yet been declared between them. An interesting point may be made here on the financial side. While the political relations between France and Italy steadily improved before the war, there was little or no investment of French money in the peninsula. France could lend millions of francs in the Balkans; and she is now feeling somewhat sore that the States which have benefited most by her confidence should sit stubbornly on the fence just when their help in return would be so much appreciated. But Italy has not found the French financiers particularly or generally among her friends, except in as far as a growing exchange of commodities has paved the way to better things, making it necessary more fully to help and trust one another. Germany on the other hand is Italy's creditor to the tune of upwards of £150,000,000; and German enterprise and investment have been consistently active and helpful. This has, no doubt, represented a complication by itself, but whether it has influenced Germany's latest reported action remains to be seen. We are now told that the German Emperor is using Italy as a thick stick upon the back of Austria. The Italian paper publishing the interview upon which our cablegram is based tells the world that until Austria is firmly tied down to the sacrifice of her last man, her last thaler, and her last inch of territory as Germany's ally, there is to be no move of German troops upon Italy. The dread of a separate peace is apparently Berlin's bugbear at the moment, and Austria may have been thinking of something of the sort any time in the last six months. But, whether or no, there is the extraordinary fact that Italy has been able to advance with unexpected success, and that her progress has been made against Austrian troops alone. It is well to remember, too, that Italy and Austria have been sworn foes for long enough. The Triple Alliance may have kept them neutral, though armed against one another; but the Austrian policy of repression directed at three million people of Italian origin just beyond her frontiers has kept Italy in a constant ferment. Germany has not been in evidence except as favoured by the Vatican and its party in Rome; and, no doubt, there has been sufficient friction on that account. But all this may be put aside now. Italy has been denounced in Germany as "the felon"—the Power to be hated even above England. She is not being immediately attacked because Austria must be forced into abject submission; but when the leaders in Vienna have metaphorically been put in chains Italy will be scourged without scruple or limit. Yet those German millions may count for something in the method of Germany's attack, if and when it reaches Italian soil; and then possibly the Belgian precedents will not be followed to the full.

POLITICS IN WAR TIME.

Although party controversies in Great Britain have ceased to exist, and although the terms of the leading measures to be introduced by the Coalition Government have already been disclosed, the coming session of the Imperial Parliament will be followed with the keenest interest. In this session the House of Commons must fulfil more clearly than at any other time in its history the duty of instructing the nation and setting it an example to follow. Its proceedings will again become what they were said to be more than half a century ago, the source from which the nation can gain authentic information on some aspects at least of the subject which is uppermost in its thoughts. Already the Under-Secretary for War, in answer to a question, has made a statement which will be welcomed by his countrymen and their Allies, and will have a very wholesome effect. It is clear from German and Austrian newspapers that the recent attacks on Lord Kitchener have been interpreted as a sign that English people have become discontented with their leaders; that they are losing their unity, and are now ready to vent their disappointment on the man who is feared in Germany more than any other British soldier. Mr. Tennant shows how far these attacks have been from expressing the mind of the British people. Representative citizens have disavowed these attacks in the most open manner at their command; young men eligible for service have come forward in increasing numbers, and have so helped to give the Minister for War the number of recruits asked for in his latest appeal to the House of Lords. Mr. Asquith's assurance that the rate of recruiting is satisfactory will set at rest many hopes and fears engendered by the demand for a conscription bill. The statement, indeed, confirms the opinions expressed by Mr. Churchill at Dundee. It may be advisable to introduce a registration bill which will make conscription possible if and when it is needed. If the authorities, among whom Lord Kitchener's voice is decisive, certify that conscription is necessary, then Parliament will agree to it. But at present all the men required may be obtained by voluntary enlistment from the British people, which is never so patriotic or so generous as when fortune inclines towards its enemies.

The debate on Sir John Simon's bill for the appointment of a Minister for Munitions must be read in conjunction with our cables describing the activity in the engineering works both of Great Britain and of Russia. It seems clear that the appointment is necessary, and that the new Minister, with his colleagues, will have abundant work to do. But it is equally clear that the eloquence and the personality of Mr. Lloyd George have already accomplished more than could ever be hoped for from an Act of Parliament. Masters and men have at last realised their responsibility, and how much their negligence may cost the Allies in the lives of their soldiers. There are still some laggards who will quarrel about terms before they begin to work. But the bulk of the skilled labourers have thrown themselves into the national task with a furious energy. The bill will legalise the action of the Government in applying to certain branches of industry the discipline of an army in the field. It will give the Minister power to take over control of any factory engaged in producing munitions of war. But at present there is as little need to make men work as to make them enlist, and the bill, though it establishes an industrial dictator, will not be used for introducing conscription into the workshops before it is used for recruiting the army. The reader who imagines the House of Commons constituted as it is to-day without an Opposition, with the leaders of the two historic parties, and of the Labour party, on the same Ministerial bench, cannot but contrast with it the prospects before the political world of Australia. In the Commonwealth we are threatened with proposals which need detailed consideration, which are bound to arouse serious opposition, and with which the safety of the community is in no way concerned. It has been said that the Government supporters in the State Parliament will no longer consent to the observance of an agreement that all contentious business be postponed till after the war. If this report is true, two consequences follow. Legislation on which all parties are agreed will not be passed, except as the price of certain measures on which there is the widest diversity of opinion. Members are to be asked to engage in proceedings which must be intolerable to all of them who understand the nature of the present crisis, and who are sensible of the sufferings and the grief around them. We trust that members will still see how abhorrent the idea of party controversies must be to their fellow-citizens at the present time. If they do not feel this instinctively they are beyond the reach of argument, but they may, perhaps, realise how at the proper time the electors will deal with representatives who have failed so completely to understand them.

WHEAT.

COMPENSATION CLAIMS.

The Necessary Commodities Control Commission started yesterday to deal with the consideration of the claims for additional compensation on account of wheat acquired by the Government, under the provision of the Wheat Acquisition Act. The chairman, Mr. Justice Edmunds, presided. The Court had before it 2073 claims for compensation. Mr. D'Arcy Irvine appeared for the Crown, and Mr. Campbell for the Farmers and Settlers. On the application of Mr. D'Arcy Irvine, the matter, after consideration, was allowed to stand over until the 14th inst.

MEN OF THE DARDANELLES.

CAPTAIN R. T. HUNT.

Captain R. T. Hunt (wounded) is a native of Armidale, and was formerly area officer at Hurstville. He left for the front in the 2nd contingent, under Colonel Burnage.

LIEUT. R. K. CUNNINGHAM.

Lieutenant Royston Kingsborough Cunningham, who was killed in action at the Dardanelles on June 1, was an enthusiast in military matters. In 1911, shortly before the Defence Act came into force, he joined the 5th New South Wales Scottish Regiment, now the 25th Infantry. Having served in all the non-commissioned grades, he was granted a commission as second lieutenant in July, 1913. The day after war broke out the 25th Infantry was mobilised for active service, and until February 11, when he left Sydney with the Third Reinforcements for the 1st Battalion, as company commander, his services were utilised in connection with various corps encamped at Maroubra and Liverpool. His eldest brother, Lieutenant Lindsay K. Cunningham, 1st Artillery Brigade Staff, was still in Egypt when he arrived, and they proceeded to the front about the same time. The deceased officer was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cunningham, of Chatswood, and was 22 years of age.

SERGEANT P. F. DONNELLY.

Staff-Sergeant Patrick Francis Donnelly (wounded) is the second son of Mrs. M. J. Donnelly, late of Goulburn and Bungendore, and now of Avoca, Victoria-street, Waverley. He is the grandson of Mrs. E. Chivers, granddaughter of the late Michael Dwyer, the Wicklow chieftain. He served for five years in Victoria Barracks and South Head, also two years at Thursday Island. He joined the Liverpool camp, was sent to Broadmeadows (Vic.), and left there with the 13th Battalion, 1st Infantry Brigade. He was a student at the Patrician Brothers' School, Goulburn.

SERGEANT H. C. HEWLETT.

Sergeant H. C. Hewlett, 4th Battalion, who was wounded in the Dardanelles, and is now convalescent, is a son of Mr. H. Hewlett, manager of the E. S. and A. Bank, William-street. He is an old Sydney Grammar School boy, and enlisted at the beginning of the war. He was a member of the Eastern Suburbs Football Club and the Bondi Swimming Club.

SERGEANT C. ALYWIN.

Sergeant Alywin, who has been wounded, was born in England, and before he joined the Expeditionary Forces was employed on a station at Narrabri. He joined the Light Horse, but later was transferred to the infantry.

BAND-SERGEANT J. M'G. TAYLOR.

Sergeant J. McG. Taylor, wounded, is 24 years of age, and was educated at Rozelle Public School, and on the outbreak of war he was stationed at the post-office, Dubbo. He was one of the first to volunteer, and was appointed signaller to the 1st Battalion. On the formation of the band attached to the battalion he was appointed to the position of bandmaster. While he was in Egypt he was promoted to Brigade-bandmaster, 1st Brigade. Just before leaving for the Dardanelles he was congratulated by General Birdwood on the field for the general efficiency of the stretcher-bearers under his charge. He was a member of the senior cadets before the compulsory scheme, and afterwards of the Scottish Rifles. Sergeant Taylor was an active member of the Roselle Champion Band of Australia, and lately bandmaster of the Dubbo Band.

SAPPER HOWLETT.

Sapper Cecil W. R. Howlett (killed in action) was 21 years of age, and a fine specimen of Australian manhood. He was born at Luddenham, and lived there most of his life, but at the time of enlisting was employed with a survey party. With his elder brother, Stanley, he was farewelled at Epping, in company with the volunteers from that suburb, and presented with a gold ring.

PRIVATE M'CAULAY.

Private Stephen M'Caulay (killed in action) was a resident of Culcairn. He was employed at Messrs. Prescott and Stevenson's farm, and was very popular in the district. He was a prominent member of the local branch of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, which has passed a resolution of sympathy with the deceased soldier's relations.

PRIVATE HARFORD.

Private W. J. Harford (wounded) is a native of England, and left with the first reinforcements.

PRIVATE A. G. CHAPMAN.

Private A. G. Chapman, of the 1st Battalion (wounded), is a son of the late Mr. W. J. Chapman, of the Government Printing Office, and the late Mrs. Annie Chapman, who has died since he left for the front. He was one of the first to enlist on the outbreak of war, and left with the First Expeditionary Force. His great-grandfather was wounded in the battle of Trafalgar. Private Chapman was educated at St. Francis' School, Haymarket, and prior to enlisting was a tram-driver.

PRIVATE R. R. MURDEN.

Private R. R. Murden, killed in action, was born at Balmain, and was 27 years of age. He was a moulder, employed at Mount Morgan, and enlisted in the Queensland forces.

PRIVATE C. R. TATLER.

Private C. R. Tatler (wounded) is 23 years of age, and is a native of England. Prior to the outbreak of war he was employed at Tamworth, where he enlisted.

PRIVATE J. IRVING.

Private J. Irving, who has been wounded, is a native of Wagga, and 23 years of age. Prior to the outbreak of war he was employed as a gardener. He is a son of Mr. Irving, of Wagga.

PRIVATE GHEST.

Private Ghest (wounded), whose name appeared in the official list as "Chest," is the eldest son of Captain R. C. Ghest, of Sydney. He is 29 years of age, and before he enlisted was in business as a house and estate agency at Bondi. His brother Jack is at present in Egypt with the second reinforcements of the Queensland Light Horse.

PRIVATE F. W. GIBSON.

Private F. W. Gibson, of the 2nd Battalion (wounded), resided at Newcastle, where he was employed. He was for several years in the Royal Australian Garrison Artillery.

PRIVATE WEEL.

Private Weel (wounded) is a native of Queensland. He is 34 years of age, and lately resided at Longreach (Q.).

PRIVATE T. R. BAMBERY.

Private T. R. Bambery (killed in action) was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bambery, of The Caves, Tweed Heads. The deceased soldier owned a farming property at Murwillumbah.

PRIVATE R. M. BERNAYS.

Private R. M. Bernays, who was killed in action, was attached to the staff of the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, and before the outbreak of the war was stationed at Murwillumbah.

PRIVATE G. TURNBULL.

Private G. Turnbull (killed in action) was an employee in the C.S.R. Company's mill at Condong, Tweed River.

PRIVATE J. H. FLOWER.

Private J. H. (Bert) Flower, who died of wounds, was a native of the Bega district. He was a son of Mr. Fred Flower, well known as a landowner and breeder of Jersey cattle at Bangalow.

PRIVATE L. P. GARVEY.

Private L. P. Garvey (killed in action) was a young Tweed River landowner, whose mother resides at Bangalow. Private Garvey was formerly a student for the priesthood at St. Patrick's College, Manly, but his health breaking down he abandoned his studies, and went on the land.

PRIVATE R. W. BONNER.

Private R. W. Bonner, mentioned in the 33rd casualty list as wounded, enlisted from Bathurst, but his father was a fettler for years at Huntley, near Orange, and relations still reside in the neighbourhood.

PRIVATE M. MENYWEATHER.

Private M. Menyweather (wounded) is a native of Ulmarra, and a son of Mr. Geo. Menyweather, of the Clarence River. He is 21 years of age, and was one of the first to enlist, being in the 1st Battalion.

PRIVATE F. FOURRO.

Private F. Fourro, who has been wounded, was in the machine gun section of the 3rd Battalion. He was a member and at one time secretary of the Auburn Rifle Club. His brother, Private L. B. Fourro, who has also been wounded, was captain of the Auburn Rifle Club.

TROOPER F. W. KANE.

Private Francis William Kane, who was a member of A Squadron of the 1st Australian Light Horse, was severely wounded in the Dardanelles, and died aboard the hospital ship Cecilia while being conveyed to Alexandria, Egypt. He was the eldest son of Dr. F. W. Kane, of Stanmore. The deceased was born at Cobar in 1890; was educated at Hayfield School, Homebush, and Barker College. He was employed in the motor trade. His father and his only brother (L. A.) are both at the front, the former in the A.M.C. attached to the 2nd Battalion, and the latter is a member of the same squadron of Light Horse as was his brother. His mother at present resides with her brother, Mr. T. Parker, at West Maitland.

GALLIPOLI.

THE AUSTRALIANS.

WOUNDED TELL THE STORY.

TURKS FEAR THE BAYONET.

(BY TROOPER BLUEGUM.)

MA'ADI (Egypt), May 8.

"Bah," exclaimed the wounded Australian as he lit his cigarette; "those Turks can't shoot for nuts. But the shrapnel is no picnic, and those German machine guns are the very devil."

His arm was in a sling, and his leg was bandaged from hip to ankle. But he was as cheerful as possible, as proud as punch, and as chirpy as a game-cock. For he was one of the heroic band of Australian infantry who landed in the Dardanelles and routed the Turks at the point of the bayonet.

SUPERB COURAGE.

Already the cables have told you with what superb courage and dash the colonials celebrated their baptism of fire. You know how nobly they played their part, and at what a cost the victory was won. Yet I would like to tell you of the little incidents here and there which the real historian must overlook; of the vignettes which supplement the big battle pictures and the sidelights which illumine the drama and tragedy of the war in the Levant.

We of the Light Horse are still enjoying a full measure of safety, while our brethren of the infantry are at death grips with the foe. But we see the long lines of wounded as they are brought back to the base; we hear the stories of the wild charge they made; and we wish we had shared in the glories of that fight. Some time ago I heard an Imperial officer newly returned from Flanders say that the 3rd Australian Infantry Brigade was the finest brigade of infantry in the whole of the allied armies. In physique they were far superior to any of the British, French, or Belgian troops. Whether this be true or not, there is no doubt that the sturdy Thirds under Colonel Maclagan fought like Trojans on the Gallipoli Peninsula, and covered themselves with glory. Incidentally I might mention some of them never fired a shot during the fierce fighting of April 25. They simply trusted to the cold steel, and flung themselves at the Turkish trenches. The 1st Brigade (Colonel MacLaurin), the 2nd (Colonel M'Cay), and the rest of Australians and New Zealanders fought with equal valour, but the brunt of the attack was borne by the Thirds. So many hundred gallant lives was a heavy price to pay for a footing in Gallipoli, but those impetuous charges, absolutely irresistible in their fury, will bear rich fruit all the while till Constantinople falls, for the Turks will never again withstand a bayonet charge by the Australians.

It was noteworthy that only a few thousand prisoners were taken. I asked one of the 1st Battalion boys (Lieutenant-Colonel Dobbin's command) why that was. He replied: "How could 10,000 of us take prisoners when we were up against 35,000?" I remembered the Irishman in Flanders who single-handed captured three Germans, and when his Colonel asked how he did it explained: "I surrounded them, sorr."

THE TRICKS OF THE TURKS.

The wounded Australian continued his explanation: "You see, the Germans have taught the Turks all sorts of nasty tricks. One of 'em is surrendering just at the last minute. One Turk in a trench shot my pal on my right and a chap on my left; then when we got right into the trench he suddenly dropped his rifle, and ups with his hands. I reckoned that wasn't fair, so I jammed my bayonet fair into his ribs. Time and again the Turks would shoot till we were right on top of them, and then drop guns and surrender. Call that fair fighting?"

Another chap with his tunic all clotted blood and his head in a bandage here interpolated:—"Say, you needn't fear the Turks' shooting. It's safer to be in the firing line than in the reserves. But look out for those machine guns; they spit death at you at the rate of ten a second. Also keep your eyes open for the snipers. We drove them back for miles behind Saribair, but there were snipers everywhere. They never minded being killed so long as they could pick off a few officers. One black devil shot our Colonel at only 50 yards. Five of us got to him, and gave him just what Brutus and Casca gave Julius Caesar."

RIFLES TOO HOT TO HOLD.

"We fought them for three days after landing," said a big bushman in the 2nd Brigade, "and they made about a dozen counter-attacks. But when we had a chance of sitting down and letting them charge us it was dead easy—just like money from home. They never got near enough to sample the bayonets again. But on the 27th they tried to get all over us. They let the artillery work overtime, and we suffered a bit from the shrapnel. The noise was deafening. Suddenly it ceased, and a new Turkish division was launched at us. This was just before breakfast. There was no doubt about the bravery of the Turks. But we were comfortably entrenched, and it was their turn to advance in the open. We pumped lead into them till our rifles were too hot to hold. Time and again they came on, and each time we sent them about their business. At 3 o'clock we got tired of slaughtering them that way, so we left our little grey home in the trench and went after them again."

"BIG LIZZIE."

"Say, what do you think of 'Big Lizzie'?" asked another blood-bespattered Cornstalk. "Ain't she the dizzy limit?"

It should be explained that "Big Lizzie" is the affectionate way our fellows allude to the super-Dreadnought Queen Elizabeth. The soldier continued: "All the while our transports were landing 'Big Lizzie' just glided up and down like an old hen watching her chickens. Every now and then the Turkish destroyers from Nagara tried to cut in and smash up the transports. But the moment Lizzie got a move on they skedaddled. One ship was just a bit slow. Didn't know that 'Big Liz.' could hit ten miles off. Shell landed fair amidships, and it was good night, nurse."

One of the 9th Battalion (Queenslanders, under Colonel Lee) chipped in here. "Ever tried wading through barb-wire and water with Maxims zipping all round you?"

SNIPERS PICK OUT OFFICERS.

This pertinent question explained the severe losses of the 3rd Brigade. The landing was effected simultaneously at several points on the peninsula, but one spot was a hornets' nest, and they started to sting when the Australians reached the beach. A couple of boats were upset and several sailors and soldiers killed. Others, dashing into the shallow water, were caught in the barb-wire. "My legs are tattooed prettier than a picture," added the Queenslander, "and I've a bit of shrapnel shell here for a keepsake; somewhere under my shoulder."

"Fancy ten thousand miles and eight months' training all for nix," said a disgusted corporal. "Landed at 4 a.m. Shot at 3 seconds past 4. Back on the boat at 5 a.m. The Turks must have been afraid I'd cut loose and stab 'em."

Then they started to tell how the snipers picked out the officers. The casualties amongst the officers were tremendous.

SMALL-ARMS FACTORY.

ENGINEERS' DEMANDS.

Mr. Justice Powers, of the High Court, who is acting, in the absence of Mr. Justice Higgins, as President of the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Court, has agreed to sit at Lithgow on the 21st inst. to hear an application by the Amalgamated Society of Engineers for a variation of the award dealing with engineers in the employ of the Small Arms Factory. All members of the union are not covered by the existing award, and certain increases are to be applied for. The application will be made by Mr. A. E. Dengate, the union's organiser.

FRANCE.

OUR OFFENSIVE EXTENDS.

GALICIAN BATTLES.

ZEPPELIN'S FATE.

While French progress north of Arras has been maintained, fresh attacks have been made successfully south of Arras and north-west of Compiegne.

German counter-attacks north of the Aisne and in the La Bassee region all have been repulsed.

In Galicia, Austro-German forces have crossed the Dniester, east of Stryi, at Zurawano.

An unofficial message from Vienna alleges that the Austrians are within ten miles of Lemberg.

In the fighting in south-eastern Galicia, 5000 Austrian dead were counted in front of one Russian division.

A Zeppelin was destroyed in a fight with a British and a French airman near Ghent, all the crew being killed.

Another Zeppelin raid is reported on the East Coast of England, several casualties resulting.

IN GALICIA.

THE ENEMY'S ADVANCE.

AUSTRO-GERMAN CLAIMS.

AMSTERDAM, June 8.

German and Austrian communiques claim that General von Linsingen stormed the bridge-head at Zurawano (about 20 miles east of Stryi), and gained a footing on the northern bank of the Dniester.

APPROACHING LEMBERG.

COPENHAGEN, June 7.

A telegram from Vienna states that the Austrians are within 15 kilometres (about 10 miles) of Lemberg.

STUBBORN FIGHTING.

AUSTRIANS LOSE 5000 DEAD.

PETROGRAD, June 8.

A communique states: The enemy on Saturday and Sunday made obstinate attacks towards Mosciska (east of Przemysl). Prolonged hand-to-hand fighting took place on a height south-west of Radevice.

The enemy unsuccessfully attacked a bridge-head at Zydaczow (north-east of Stryi), but crossed the Dniester in the Zurawano region.

BIG GERMAN FORCES.

TERRIBLE ARTILLERY FIRE.

PETROGRAD, June 8.

It is estimated that there are forty German army corps in Galicia. It is estimated that the battle will last another month.

The war correspondent of the "Novoe Vremya," between Radymno and Jaroslav, states that on the morning of May 24 the Germans brought up large numbers of heavy guns, drawn by motors. Seven hundred thousand shells were fired at Radymno alone. The high explosives swamped the Russian trenches and broke among the divisional staffs and reserves.

The curtain of bursting shells rendered the enemy's trenches invisible. It was impossible to bring up teams to remove the guns, nevertheless two regiments held out, keeping the enemy at bay until the main forces had crossed the San.

RUSSIAN VICTORY.

IN BALTIC PROVINCE.

RIVER RUNS RED.

PETROGRAD, June 8.

The German raid in the Baltic provinces yields to none in determination and ferocity. The Germans sent three army corps one after another.

Russians and Germans fought in the water in a section of the River Dubissa, extending half a mile. When the Germans attacked many fell before the Russians' rifles, but a Russian bayonet charge accounted for many more. Even slightly-wounded Germans were drowned, as the current was too swift to allow wounded men to swim.

Five times in one day the banks of the Dubissa changed hands. The river ran red for hours, and the dead choked the bed for hundreds of yards.

The Russians finally were victorious, and the battle ended with our artillery advancing over many thousand corpses to complete the German discomfiture.

WESTERN FRONT.

FRENCH GAINS.

ENEMY'S ATTACKS FAIL.

PARIS, June 8.

A communique yesterday stated: An artillery duel of extreme intensity occurred at Notre Dame de Lorette, Ablain, and Cabaret Rouge on Sunday and Monday. The enemy's counter attacks completely failed.

We attacked the enemy's position near Hebuterne. We captured two lines of trenches along a front of 1200 metres, several quickfirers, and a number of prisoners.

The Germans made violent counter-attacks north of the Aisne, but they failed. We maintained our gains of the 6th inst.

The Germans north of the Aisne brought up reinforcements in automobiles from 80 kilometres, but their counter attacks were repulsed.

The Germans left 2000 dead on the field.

VIOLENT FIGHTING.

GERMANS' DESPERATE EFFORTS.

The latest communique states: Fighting with the utmost violence continues north of Arras, our progress being maintained.

We continued the investment of the western island of Neuville. Directing convergent attacks against the centre of the Labyrinth, we reached the central redoubt at two points, and repulsed all counter attacks.

Our attack south-east of Hebuterne was completely successful. We carried by assault two lines of trenches and a farm at Toutvent, taking 400 unwounded prisoners and several machine guns. The enemy left several hundred corpses on the ground.

The Germans are multiplying their desperate efforts to retake the lost trenches north of the Aisne. In addition to 2000 dead we took prisoner 250, and captured six machine guns. Many others are under the debris.

We sprayed the trenches at Vanquois with burning liquid by way of reprisal.

ALLIES' OFFENSIVE.

Hebuterne is about four miles north of Albert. Moulin-sous-Touvent lies in the centre of the angle between the Oise and Aisne, five miles north-east of Compiegne. The country here is undulating and thickly wooded. The Germans have organised their defence to a high degree.

It is anticipated that the Allies, after riveting the German attention by a powerful blow at one point, intend to follow up by a series of blows, gradually spreading their offensive over the whole front.

KRUPP CANNON HOSPITAL.

Krupps have erected a cannon hospital at Saint Quentin for repairs to worn-out and broken machine guns and rifles.

BELGIAN FRONTIER CLOSED.

AMSTERDAM, June 7.

The frontier between Zeeland and Flanders will be closed to-morrow for nine days.

HEROIC INCIDENTS.

A GALLANT HANDFUL.

LONDON, June 7.

"Eye-Witness" with the British headquarters recounts an heroic incident which occurred near Ypres on May 23. When the Germans occupied some British trenches an officer and 10 men in one trench refused to leave, and fought throughout the day. They were almost surrounded, and incessantly attacked by the enemy with hand-grenades, but the gallant handful of British held the position till nightfall. Then they withdrew.

During our attack at Fromelles early in May one of our men got to a German trench, only to find he was the sole survivor of the advance party. He crawled into a deep shell-hole. The Germans could not approach owing to our fire. They therefore lobbed grenades into the crater, which the British survivor picked up and hurled back at them all day, and then crawled to his own lines at night.

A GERMAN BLUNDER.

BELGIAN TRENCH SAVED.

DUNKIRK, June 8.

The Germans made desperate attempts to pierce the Allies' line near Pervyse, where they hold the Chateau Vicigne, assisted by thirty machine guns. The Belgians half surrounded the chateau.

A body of Prussians a few nights ago almost succeeded in breaking the Belgian line. They omitted to inform the gunners at the chateau what was occurring, with the result that when nearing the Belgian trenches they were attacked in the rear by their own machine guns. The majority were killed, and twenty surrendered with three new model portable machine guns strapped to their shoulders.

CORTINA.

THE ITALIAN SUCCESS.

ROME, June 8.

The Italians captured Cortina (Trentino) after a difficult ascent of the rocky mountain range and the perilous occupation of a ridge. Here they were nearly outflanked by Austrian infantry, but the mountain batteries, cleverly brought up by night, opened a deadly fire, and cut off the Austrians' retreat. The latter were obliged to withdraw to a pine forest.

The Italians won the fortress, which was armed with the famous Skodra guns.

ALBANIA INVADED.

ACTION BY SERVIA.

PARIS, June 7.

Servian troops invaded Albania, and occupied the region of the Lower Dibra unopposed.

The "Echo de Paris" says that now that Italy has occupied Valona, Servia has invaded the territory of Albania lost to Austria.

THE GERMAN EMPEROR.

VISIT TO VIENNA.

GENEVA, June 7.

ZEPPELINS.

AIRSHIP DESTROYED

EXCITING ENCOUNTER.

LONDON, June 8.

The "Daily Telegraph's" Rotterdam correspondent says one British and one French aeroplane attacked a Zeppelin at 3 in the morning as it was returning from a scouting expedition on the Belgian coast, which is part of the nightly training for a London raid.

The Zeppelin at first rose to a tremendous height, in an attempt to evade its pursuers, and then speeded towards the airship station at Gontrode.

Approaching Ghent it was necessary to descend to a lower altitude. The aeroplanes kept up a continuous rifle fire, and the Zeppelin replied with a machine gun and many round shells from a small cannon, both effecting no result. As the airship was dropping to reach the shed, both aeroplanes got above her and dropped bombs. There was an explosion, and the fire spread until the whole airship was enveloped in flame and smoke. Then she crashed down on the Grand Beguinage de Saint Lisbeth, which includes 700 members devoted to charity.

The nunnery at present is filled with refugee Belgian women and children. The burning mass set fire to the buildings, and terrible scenes ensued. Many of the crew were already dead, and their bodies were flung in all directions. Not a man survived. Two nuns were killed by the fire. A man attempting to rescue a child leaped from a burning room, both being killed.

ADMIRALTY REPORT.

ENGLISHMAN'S ESCAPE.

The Admiralty reports that Naval Flight-Sub-Lieutenant Warneford at 3 o'clock attacked a Zeppelin in the air between Ghent and Brussels, at a height of 6000 feet. He dropped six bombs on to the airship, which exploded, and fell to the ground. The Zeppelin burned for a considerable time.

The force of the explosion turned the Englishman's Morane monoplane upside down. He succeeded in righting the machine, and landed in the enemy's country. He was able to restart the engine, and returned to the aerodrome safely.

Sub-lieutenant Warneford is a Canadian, and only obtained a pilot's certificate three months ago.

AIRSHIP'S CREW KILLED.

AMSTERDAM, June 7.

The "Telegraaf" says the Zeppelin's crew, numbering 28, were killed.

The airship dropped on an orphanage, killing two nuns, two children, and wounding many others.

ANOTHER EXPLOIT.

SHED DESTROYED.

LONDON, June 7.

British airmen bombed and ignited an airship shed north of Brussels.

The Admiralty report that Naval Flight-Lieutenants Wilson and Mills bombed an airship shed at Evere at 2.30 this morning. It is unknown whether a Zeppelin was inside. The shed caught fire, and the flames reached a great height, issuing from both sides. The pilots returned safely.

ENGLISH COAST.

ANOTHER GERMAN RAID.

LONDON, June 7.

Zeppelins dropped incendiary and explosive bombs on the east coast. Two fires were started.

Five persons were killed, and 40 injured.

FRENCH MINE-LAYER.

LOST IN AEGEAN SEA.

PARIS, June 7.

It is officially announced that the French mine-layer Casablanca struck a mine at the entrance to a bay in the Aegean Sea. The British picked up the captain, one officer, and 64 men.

It is possible that other survivors landed on the coast, and were made prisoners by the Turks.

NEW KRUPP FACTORY.

AT CONSTANTINOPLE.

ATHENS, June 7.

Krupps have established a large factory for the manufacture of shells and explosives at Constantinople.

Four thousand workmen have been sent from Germany.

GAS-BOMBS FOR TURKS.

IN GERMAN BEER BARRELS.

ROME, June 7.

Large consignments of barrels, supposed to contain beer, from Germany for Turkey, have been detained in Bucharest, as they were found to contain asphyxiating gas-bombs.

Germany disclaims responsibility.

LAKE NYASSA.

BRITISH OPERATIONS.

LONDON, June 8.

The Press Bureau states that a naval and military expedition on May 30 captured Sphinxhaven, on the eastern shore of Lake Nyassa, and destroyed ammunition stores, and drove out the Germans.

ALLIES' FINANCE.

BRITAIN AND ITALY.

LONDON, June 8.

The Press Bureau states that Mr. McKenna's conference with the Italian Treasury resulted in a resolution to co-operate in the use of financial resources in the same ungrudging spirit as with the naval and military forces.

SUBMARINES.

IN BRITISH WATERS.

MORE VESSELS SUNK.

LONDON, June 7.

A submarine sank the Aberdeen steamer Star of the West (197 tons). The crew were landed at Peterhead.

The barque Sunlight (1433 tons), laden with sugar for Liverpool, was torpedoed off the Irish coast. A trawler landed the crew at Queenstown.

As soon as the Sunlight's crew took to the boats a torpedo shattered the vessel amidships. The molasses cargo was thrown in the air and masts and yards came down with a run. The crew were 12 hours in the boats.

KILLED BY SHELLS.

A submarine sank the trawler Arctic. Five survivors landed, the remaining four of the crew being killed by shell-fire while launching a boat. The mate was horribly mutilated, half his head being blown off.

The Russian schooner Adolf, bound for Archangel, was sunk by a submarine without warning. Eight shots were fired, killing the captain and a seaman. The remainder of the crew were landed at Leith.

The trawlers Dromio and Curlew were sunk by submarines off the Scottish coast. The crews were picked up.

COMPENSATION FOR GREECE.

Germany has agreed to compensate the owners of the Greek steamer Ellispontos, which was torpedoed in the North Sea while en route from Ymuiden to Monte Video.

TRAPPED.

THREE SUBMARINES.

NEW YORK, June 7.

Passengers who arrived by the steamer Cameronia report that three German submarines were trapped recently in British waters.

MUNITION MAKING.

ENGLAND'S ORGANISATION.

LONDON, June 8.

The masters in Lancashire are rapidly organising shell-making. Of 50,000 skilled engineers in the Manchester district, 18,000 already are engaged in making munitions, providing employment for 75,000 unskilled men and women. Hitherto few of the 18,000 have been making shells, but the problem of diverting a considerable body of skilled men is being solved by the workers' goodwill.

Trade union officials declare that Mr. Lloyd George has accomplished a great task in broadening the men's views. The masters have had committees working for some time, and it is now being urged that they should add representatives of labour. The committees are completing a census of labour and the work in hand in engineering establishments, to enable them to decide how many skilled workers may be spared for shell-making, also in some cases to transfer civil work to other firms with a view to transforming their own workshops for Government requirements.

Many women are offering their services; also the 500 superannuated engineers, who were formerly shell-makers, are to be mobilised.

A gramophone factory in Middlesex, which formerly employed 60 hands, is now employing 4000 men, women, boys, and girls, producing cartridge cases, charges of lead, cases for gun cotton and cordite, and reels for fuses and igniters.

RUSSIAN OUTPUT.

PETROGRAD, June 8.

Manufacturers are endeavouring to co-ordinate the resources of the empire. All establishments hitherto manufacturing luxuries are being adapted to the production of war munitions, and are running day and night in three shifts. The internal production of munitions has increased sevenfold since the first half-year of the war.

GERMANY AND ITALY.

PECULIAR POSITION.

ROME, June 7.

"Il Secolo" publishes an interview with a well-informed personage, who declares that the reason Germany has not declared war against Italy is because she first desires to secure an undertaking from Austria that the latter will not conclude a separate peace.

The German Emperor, it is said, will not move against Italy until Austria has been committed to sacrifice the last man, the last thaler, and the last inch of territory.

On the other hand, overtures were recently made to the Triple Entente on behalf of the Austrians who do not wish to sacrifice the Dual Monarchy to the German Emperor's pride or their own rulers' blindness.

RIOTS IN CEYLON.

BUDDHISTS AND MOSLEMS.

COLOMBO, June 7.

An official report states that on May 28, Buddha's birthday, Buddhists looted Moslem shops at Kandy (Ceylon). The outbreak was quelled, but was diffused through the Central Province, where the military repressed it.

A further outbreak occurred at Colombo on May 31, spreading south. The Governor hoped to suppress it in a few days. The trouble was due to a sudden outbreak of racial and commercial animosity. Much Moslem merchandise was destroyed, and numerous murders committed. Several of the rioters were shot. The latest telegram says the situation is in hand.

COTTON INDUSTRY.

WAR BONUS DISPUTE.

LONDON, June 8.

The card and blowing-room amalgamation has decided to proceed with its claim for a 10 per cent. war bonus. It will be difficult to avoid a stoppage of work affecting 300,000 persons.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

NEW MINISTRY.

MUNITIONS BILL AND LABOUR.

LONDON, June 7.

When the House of Commons met to-day the new Ministers were warmly welcomed.

A full House welcomed the National Ministry. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Lloyd George were absent. The front Opposition bench had few claimants. Radicals invaded the Opposition benches below the gangway, but the Labour members stuck to their old quarters on the Ministerial side. So did the Independent Radicals, who are now reinforced by Mr. F. H. Booth.

Mr. H. G. Tennant, Under-Secretary for War, in reply to a question regarding the recent newspaper attacks on Lord Kitchener, said they had appreciably stimulated recruiting.

Mr. Asquith stated that Lord Kitchener's last appeal had met with a most satisfactory response.

Alluding to Italy's intervention, the Premier said they regarded her as one of the custodians of a free Europe, and welcomed her gallant sailors and soldiers as comrades in a struggle on which the liberty of the world depended.

Sir J. A. Simon, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, in moving the second reading of the Minister of Munitions Bill, said the new Minister would have to concern himself with industrial co-ordination in a wide field.

Some Labour and Radical members took exception to the unlimited powers provided by the bill, pointing out that the Minister of Munitions could socialise the coal industry. He would be practically a dictator. They warned the Government that any attempt to introduce conscript labour would lead to strenuous opposition.

Sir J. A. Simon, in reply, said there was not the slightest intention so to use the bill.

CABINET SALARIES.

Members of the Cabinet, including the Lord Chancellor, have agreed to pool salaries, each member receiving £4271. The Prime Minister (Mr. Asquith) is excluded from the scheme.

SCOTTISH REGIMENTS.

HEAVY LOSSES.

A list dated May 22 contains 3221 casualties in France and Flanders, including the Black Watch, 119 killed, 403 wounded, and 126 missing; and the Seaforth Highlanders, 164 killed and 77 wounded.

FOOTBALLER KILLED.

D. M. Bain, the Scottish Rugby international, has been killed in France.

TENNIS PLAYER'S MISFORTUNE.

Mr. Hope Crisp, the well-known tennis player, was wounded during the British attack on Hill 60, and one of his legs has been amputated.

WEST INDIES.

CONTINGENT ACCEPTED.

LONDON, June 8.

The Government has revoked its decision not to accept contingents from Barbados, British Guiana, Jamaica, and Trinidad, for service in Europe, on the ground that there is now no fear of raids on those portions of the Empire by German cruisers.

CARGO OF RIFLES.

RECENT GERMAN SEIZURE.

COPENHAGEN, June 8.

The Danish Government has inquired into the case of the steamer Pan, which was laden with rifles for Bulgaria, and was seized by a German warship in the Baltic. It is alleged with the collusion of the captain. The investigation shows that the land transport of the rifles to Bulgaria is probable. The latter feared England might seize the shipment, hence the assistance rendered by the German destroyer followed.

BRITISH TRADE.

EFFECT OF WAR.

LONDON, June 7.

The imports into Great Britain for the month of May increased by £12,545,676; the exports showed a decrease of £8,432,198, and the re-exports decreased by £128,200.

MERCHANT SHIPPING.

PRIVATE CAMPBELL.

A SOLDIER'S DISAPPOINTMENT.

The following extracts taken from a letter received in Sydney from Private Arthur Campbell, who was wounded at the Dardanelles, demonstrates clearly the spirit that is prevalent amongst the wounded Australians:—"Out of thousands of bullets from rifles and machine guns flying over my head and shrapnel falling like pepper from a pepper-box, I only got a pink through the shoulder, entering near the collarbone and coming out under the armpit. Although it is sore and my arm is temporarily useless I was fortunate in not getting the bone broken. However, I am disappointed in not getting back to Turkey, as the fight will pretty well be over by the time my wound is healed."

A CHATSWOOD MAN.

WOUNDED IN BATTLE.

A letter received from Corporal Andrew Anderson (who was wounded) to his father at Chatswood from the hospital, supplies interesting details concerning the Australian troops. He states:—"I have nothing more than what I stand up in, namely, boots, puttees, a tunic (with one sleeve torn out), and a much-worn cap. Of course, I will have to be fitted out again. When we landed in that hail of fire and lead we were rigged out in full marching order, with water-bottle full, and with our rifles, bayonets, and 300 rounds of ammunition." Further on in the letter he states:—"Once ashore we got rid of this load. When I was wounded and brought on to the hospital ship I lost everything."

CASUALTIES.

6796 OFFICERS AND MEN.

The thirty-fourth list, issued last night, brings the total losses of the Australian troops at the Dardanelles up to 6796.

The total (which does not include sickness) is made up as follows:—

Killed.—Officers, 126; other ranks, 877. Total, 1003.

Wounded.—Officers, 232; other ranks, 5469. Total, 5701.

Missing.—Officers, 26; other ranks, 66. Total, 92.

In regard to those members of the force reported as wounded, the military authorities desire it to be clearly understood that the department possesses no other information than has already been communicated to next-of-kin. In the absence of further reports Egypt advises that it is reasonable to assume that all wounded are progressing satisfactorily. Should further information be received the next-of-kin will be immediately notified by the Defence Department.

LATE WAR NEWS.

ITALIAN PROGRESS.

THE ISONZO FRONT.

ROME, June 8.

A communique states:—All along the frontier our advanced troops are capturing important positions, meeting but feeble resistance. Along the Isonzo, from Caporetta to the sea, we have occupied the most suitable places for crossing, and installed bridge-heads.

Severe fighting continues on the Upper Isonzo. We gained a sound footing on both banks, and seriously threaten Tolmino.

Cavalry crossed to the eastern bank of the Lower Isonzo, and are entrenching.

TURKEY'S PLIGHT.

SHORTAGE OF COAL.

ATHENS, June 8.

Travellers from Constantinople report a serious shortage of coal. The mills are restricting their output, and waterworks may be compelled to discontinue their supply.

Tyhpoid is raging among the army and civilians in Asia Minor. Seventy-five doctors already have succumbed.

PARTY STRIFE.

MR. WADDELL'S PROTEST.

BLAYNEY, Tuesday.

Addressing a meeting at Blayney to-night, Mr. Waddell said that every thoughtful person would regret to learn that the State Government and the Federal Government proposed to introduce during the sessions started and about to start measures of a highly contentious nature. Nothing could tend more to weaken the efforts of the State and Federal Governments than internal party strife and bitterness.

ARGENTINE MEAT SHIPMENTS.

LONDON, June 8.

The following Argentine shipments are reported:—Mutton, 140,000; lamb, 31,000; frozen beef, 215,000; chilled beef, 65,000.

WAR NOTES.

A SURPRISING VIEWPOINT.

A somewhat surprising article appears in the latest number of "Land and Water" to hand under the name of Colonel F. N. Maude, a well-known writer on military subjects. He suggests that there is something hysterical in the protests of the British press against the German use of asphyxiating gases. The article in question was written just after the first announcement in regard to the use of gas, and consequently if it had to be penned now, in the light of fuller knowledge of the German methods and their results, Colonel Maude might possibly express somewhat modified views on the subject. He says: "There seems some reason to fear that the British press is about to indulge in an outburst of hysterical mania, and is attempting to rival its German contemporaries in the expression of hatred and disparagement. The nerve storm has been visibly approaching for some time, and the announcement that the Germans have reverted to methods of asphyxiation tone of the older forms of offensive ever employed in war) seems to have precipitated a severe crisis. In reality there is little cause for either alarm or vituperation, for these ends generally defeat themselves in practice. Experience has taught us that on the whole we can produce all the fire and smoke we need, together with man-killing fragments, by the use of the shells we all carry as part of our field equipment. Smoke shells, or carcases, special incendiary shells, Greek fire, stink-pots, and so forth, have long been dropped out of all equipment lists, because the transport they require can be more usefully employed in bringing up the regulation projectiles, shrapnel and high explosives. It is childish to cry out against the enemy for using these improvised methods. We should rather be glad that he wastes his efforts on means that have been proved of only local and subsidiary application, and it might with advantage be remembered that if the Allies cannot advance in the face of heavy fumes neither can the enemy do so, and by the time they (the gases) have cleared away, we can continue our forward movement quite as expeditiously as our adversaries."

NOT MERELY A MATTER OF SHELLS.

One can hardly believe that this was written after full details of how the Germans had used the gas method of fighting in the Ypres region had been published. The whole tone of Colonel Maude's article suggests that he has mainly in mind the use of shells which give off asphyxiating fumes on bursting. Readers may, perhaps, remember that when the first bare accusation against the Germans appeared in the cables we made the suggestion in this column—in justice to the enemy, as we thought—that perhaps the charge of using choking gases had arisen through our men being asphyxiated when German high explosive shells had burst in confined spaces, and we pointed out that our own lyddite shells would suffocate men in such circumstances. We were then unaware of the details, and we could only express surprise and horror when the following day a description came through by cable of the actual device used by the Germans and of the deadly effectiveness of it. Colonel Maude raises the very point we did at first—that our own high explosive shells emit poisonous fumes—and he seems to argue from this that it were mere hypocrisy on our part to gird against the Germans for what they have done. This in itself seems to make it clear that at the time of writing he could not possibly be in possession of the full facts. It is a very far cry from the latest German idea to the lyddite shell—which can burst among men in the open, and, as far as its fumes are concerned, need not necessarily affect any one of them seriously.

METHODS OF DESPERATION.

"Smoke shells or carcases, special incendiary shells, Greek fire, and stink-pots," as quoted by Colonel Maude, have but scant relationship to the use of poisonous gases on a wholesale scale as adopted by the Germans; and for him to say we should be rather glad that the enemy has adopted these measures is amazing, in the face of the fact that we lost a serious amount of ground when the gases were first used, and on at least one subsequent occasion, when there was no element of surprise about the matter, we lost an equally serious amount—and, as far as we can gather, very little indeed of that ground has been regained since, though the Allies have made strenuous efforts to win it back. Colonel Maude says that "it might with advantage be remembered that if the Allies cannot advance in face of heavy fumes, neither can the enemy." This further suggests that he was not fully apprised of the German method at time of writing, for he could hardly have overlooked the fact that the poison cloud is driven towards our trenches by the wind, and the moment the liberation of the gases ceases the Germans can advance behind the cloud, thus being able to gain big sections of ground while our men are still enveloped. As to the rough-and-ready respirators with which our troops are being equipped, these, although effective for withdrawing the troops from the gas zone, and even for allowing them to fight in it for some time, are not a sufficient safeguard to allow men to remain in that zone for long periods. As the gas is easily and cheaply produced, the Germans could conceivably make their clouds outlast the utility of the respirators, given, of course, a steadily favourable wind. The only consolation we can derive from Germany's adoption of this barbarous form of warfare lies in the fact that she would never have dreamt of doing so had she any confidence in winning without it. Although she has, all through, shown a cynical disregard of her obligations, she would surely have hesitated before inviting posterity to adjudge her to be the one civilised nation that gratuitously descended to the very lowest depths of savagery. Only desperation in the face of impending disaster could have brought a nation that has posed as the greatest military Power the world has ever seen to do that.

THE WESTERN THEATRE.

The sudden renewal of fighting down in the angle of the Oise and the Aisne is pregnant with the suggestion of bigger things to come. For several months now there have been certain portions of the line in France that have been comparatively lightly held by both sides. These represent sections of no great strategical value in the Allies' general plan. It has never been the desire of General Joffre to shift the Germans bodily back out of France with one great push as it were. He has aimed rather at slowly developing his own line in favourable localities in such a way as to threaten the communications of the enemy in adjoining localities. This point has often been emphasised, and needs no elaboration now. The Germans are quite aware of the Allies' general idea in this respect, and they have realised how little danger there has been during the past few months of a formidable offensive being flung against certain portions of their line. Hence, having strongly entrenched themselves in those localities, they have thinned down their troops there in order to cope with the Allies' efforts in the threatened sections. The angle of the Oise and the Aisne is one of the districts in which the French have not hitherto made any determined effort to pierce the German line, there being far greater possibilities in attempts to push forward on either side of the angle. Now we hear of a sudden French offensive there. It cannot mean an attempt to smash through the German line at all costs, though it is formidable enough to demand a hurried and substantial reinforcement of the German troops there. This latter effect appears to be just what is being aimed at. Such reinforcement must be made at the expense of some other portion of the German line, and it is almost certain that the present offensive in the Compiegne districts will be speedily followed by other offensives elsewhere, which should put the German strength as a whole on this front to a severe test. Speaking generally there has been an ominous quiet throughout the greater part of the western theatre for some time now, notwithstanding that spring has come and gone, and it really looks as though behind that silence the Allies have been preparing a big blow, which is now actually on the point of being struck.

RECRUITING.

FAMOUS REGIMENTS REPRESENTED.

ANOTHER GOOD BATCH.

The good start of the week was well maintained yesterday as far as recruiting was concerned. Perhaps the manner in which the "Herald" pointed out that only a couple of hundred men applied for active service at the enrolling office, whereas 45,000 went out to the races and sports grounds, may have struck home. At any rate, 232 men offered their services yesterday, and just about half that number reported for duty after leave, and were despatched to Liverpool camp.

Amongst the volunteers were to be noted a cadet from Wimbledon College, England, and a man of 42 years of age, whose only son is at present upholding the honour of Australia in the Dardanelles; a bugler from the citizen forces and a lad who had served for some years in the Artillery, accompanied by his father, who assured the recruiting sergeant that the step his son was about to take had his whole sympathy. There were also a mounted bearer from the Queensland branch of the A.A.M.C., and a drummer from the Senior Cadets.

Then came a sergeant of the Newington College Cadet Corps. He was small in height, but broad of shoulder, and when he had filled in his application form he handed it to Detective Lynch with a confident air, and was passing out of the shed. "Here, hold on a moment," said the detective. "What's this in the special qualification clause? You've put yourself down as a 'cool head.'" "Well, I always keep a cool head," replied the recruit. "First time I've heard of it as a special qualification," remarked Lynch, "but as long as you don't get cold feet when sailing orders come I don't suppose anyone will object to you keeping a cool head. You'll do."

A man with four years' service in the Lancashire Fusiliers, the 20th Foot, came next. This regiment has a proud record, and is also very proud of its nickname, "Kingsley's Stand." This title was given to the regiment in consideration of its conspicuous bravery at Minden, August 1, 1759, where it repulsed every charge of the enemy. It formed part of the brigade commanded on that occasion by General Kingsley. On this occasion the regiment was posted near some gardens, from which the men took roses to adorn their hats during the battle. Ever since the regimental customs of wearing "Minden roses" in the caps on the anniversary of that day has been maintained. This regiment furnished the guard at Longwood on the night of the Emperor Napoleon's death there. Fourteen years with the A.I.R. was the recommendation the next man had to see him through, and then came a number of useful men, such as a hairdresser, a hotelkeeper, a tailor, a policeman, a veterinary surgeon, several farmers, a shipping clerk, a barber, a diamond driller, and a marine engineer.

When the recruiting sergeant lines up a batch of recruits he asks if there are any before him under 21 years of age. If there happen to be some he asks if they have their parents' consent in writing to the step they are about to take. Yesterday in one squad there were quite a number under the age. The first recruit the sergeant asked if he had the consent of his parents replied in the negative. "Then go away and get it," said the sergeant. "Just what I can't do," said the recruit. "And why not?" demanded the sergeant. "Because they're both dead years ago," answered the prospective soldier. "Where do you come from, then?" asked the sergeant. "From England," replied the recruit, "and what's more I haven't a relation in Australia." "Oh, well, in that case," said the sergeant, "you'll have to satisfy the enrolling officer."

Ex-service men were represented by one who had served in the Duke of Edinburgh's Volunteers, Capetown, and another who had for six years been with the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, or, in other words, the "Nanny Goats," from its custom of having a goat with shields and garlands on its horns led at the head of the drum. This custom is over 125 years old. Then, marching round the table with the drums at the ceremony of distributing the leeks on St. David's night, the Welshmen's great festival, on March 1, it is a sine qua non upon this occasion that every officer or guest present at the mess who has never eaten a leek before, shall eat it up standing in his chair, with one foot on the table, while a drummer beats a roll behind him, and the memory of Toby Purcell, who was major of the regiment when first raised, and who was killed at the battle of the Boyne, is drunk with all the honours.

Applications for home service are invited by the military authorities from men who have had previous military experience. Applications by letter only, stating full particulars as to service, age, height, weight, etc., should be addressed to Victoria Barracks, Paddington, and marked on the envelope, "Home Service."

Mrs. Cuthbert, of Nelson-road, Lindfield, has collected in various amounts the sum of £44/2/ towards the Liverpool depot band fund. This amount, together with sundry donations amounting to £36/7/, and a cheque for £90 from the lady teachers and children of the Public schools, brings the total to £170/9/. It is desired that any subscription lists not yet closed be closed at once, and the money forwarded to Captain Daily-Watkins, A.D.C., Victoria Barracks. The fund is now closed.

Private Lindsay K. M'Knight, of the 6th Reinforcement, 4th Battalion, who is leaving for the front, bade farewell to his friends at Warrawee and Mosman on King's Birthday. The departing soldier is an ex-pupil of Knox College, North Sydney, and was engaged in the architectural profession here before enlisting for service abroad.

Mr. Jack Garvey Thompson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Thompson, of Middle Harbour, who is leaving shortly with the A.F.A., Australian Expeditionary Forces, was recently presented with a silver wrist watch by his comrades on the staff of Tooth and Co., Ltd.

Captain E. Kent Parry, who has for the past 12 months been a resident medical officer at Lewisham Hospital, has severed his connection with that institution, and will very shortly proceed to the front. He is a son of the late Mr. John Parry, of the New South Wales Government Railways.

At the Temperance Hall, Balmain, Mr. W. Reid, a nephew of Mrs. J. W. Bain, of Balmain, who is going to the front, was given a send-off and presented with a number of useful gifts.

Miss Homfray, of Waverley, has received a letter from the Secretary of the War Office London, stating that her cousin, Lieutenant J. R. Homfray, South Wales Borderers, was killed in action at Zillebeke. Lieutenant Homfray was only 21 years of age, and son of Colonel H. R. Homfray, Penlyn Castle, Cowbridge, South Wales.

A tribute is paid in the "Field" to the memory of Captain Brian Osborne, who met his death in action. The son of a well-known Australian, Captain Frank Osborne, he was a fine polo player, and took part in many international tournaments.

At the Bligh Hotel, Darlinghurst, on Saturday night, Private Douglas Thomson, who leaves for the front with the 18th Battalion, was presented with a wristlet watch and fountain pen. Mr. F. Grill made the presentation. Captain Wharry, late of the Imperial army, presented Mr. Thomson with a meerchaum pipe.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

"Married."—No, but you will see by to-day's paper that men with previous service are required for home service.

"D.E.H."—You must have a normal chest measurement of 33 inches. After that it does not matter what your chest expansion is, as long as you can expand it freely.

"Waking-up"—(1) It will only be paid to the wife; (2) The wife only will get the pension; (3) pay is always for seven days a week.

"A Soldier's Wife."—Certainly it does; and the payments commenced from May 1, with actual payment from May 14.

"J. Moylan."—Inform the military authorities at once, giving his full name, the company, etc., he has enrolled in. Place your case before Warrant Officer Riley, the enrolling officer, Victoria Barracks, personally, any afternoon, between 2.30 and 3 o'clock.

"G.R.H." Dunedoo.—Instead of writing to us, why did you not send your complaint to Mr. J. Mitchell, Inspector-General of Police, Sydney.

"M.P."—You might obtain the information you require at the office of the company to which the boat belongs. We do not publish anything about the troopships.

LITHGOW, Tuesday.

A presentation of a gold wristlet watch was made on Saturday night to Archibald Robertson, who is leaving at an early date for the front.

A gold wristlet watch suitably inscribed was also presented by Mr. Snowdon, foreman of the barrel section of the Small Arms Factory, on behalf of his fellow-workers, to Mr. R. J. Schultz 1, who has joined the musicians for the front.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE.

A private cable has been received in Sydney to the effect that Mr. G. H. Mair, who is in the 2nd King Edward's Horse, has been slightly wounded in France, and is progressing favourably. Mr. G. H. Mair was the son of the late Mr. G. Mair, and was well known in Sydney. He joined the 2nd King Edward's Horse in England.

LIEUT. MACFARLANE.

HOW HE GOT TO THE FIRING LINE.

A BATTLE STORY.

Lieut. Macfarlane, the son of Mr. Edward Macfarlane, of Challis House, Sydney, who was wounded at the Dardanelles, writing to his father from the hospital at Alexandria, gives an interesting account of the landing and the fighting following it. He says:—

We started landing last Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, under a heavy hail of fire from everything the Turks could bring to bear on us. We landed at about 4.30 on Gallipoli Peninsula. The Turks brought their machine guns and rifles right to the water's edge, just inside the scrub, where they entrenched. When the boats reached the beach the Turks brought such a heavy fire on them from the trenches, whilst a hail of shrapnel poured down from the forts, that in some of the boats every man was killed or wounded before he got to the shore. Some of the third brigade were so close when they reached the shore that they jumped from the boats and made a bayonet charge. The Turks, however, did not wait for them, but cleared as hard as they could go. When I landed it was fairly dark, and I was told to go up to the firing line at once. In fact, I think I was one of the first of the 3rd Battalion that was sent to the firing line. I was acting second in command of my company, and I took the company less one platoon, and was going to the centre of the firing line when a staff officer told me to reinforce the right of our position as they had had a lot of casualties, and were likely to be pushed back at any moment. The rest of the 3rd went to the left, so I saw no more of that battalion. I was never so tired in my life as when we were going to the right. We had hills and gullies to climb, and the hills were steep. I kept my men at it as hard as I could go, aided by my sergeant-major, a man in splendid condition. We had a couple of slight halts before we got into position. By this time we had all dropped our packs—it was absolutely essential that we should get into the firing line as quickly as possible. When we got there the enemy's firing line was only 200 yards from us; but we could not see them because they were entrenched. We were on a perfectly flat piece of ground without any cover, and with low scrub about 18 inches high between us. We could not entrench, because we would have been shot doing it. All we could do was to lie flat on the ground as possible and keep our fire, under at times clouds of rifle bullets and shells. That was the worst of it—being fired at and not being able to fire back at anything. On our left our men were entrenched. At 2 p.m. some New Zealand troops coming to reinforce us lost all their officers. I ran back to bring them to the firing line. I brought them up and was just falling to my face when a bullet hit me on the left shoulder, coming out in the small of the back.

At 4 p.m. was the first we saw of the Turks. They came within 100 yards of us, in three different parties, to make a bayonet charge. When they got to within 100 yards we could see them plainly, and fired as hard as we could. They got up to charge, and we got up to meet them, firing. They charged to within 50 yards of us and then turned and bolted—that was when we got some firing in. I was firing my revolver and pistol as hard as I could go. Just then the shrapnel opened on us. I was hit in the side, but it did not go deep. At 9 p.m. some soldiers cut my equipment off and got me down to the beach. At 1 a.m. on Monday I was dressed and sent here. I am doing well and hope to be back soon.

PRIVATE SIMMS.

WOUNDED WHILE SAVING A COMRADE.

Private Simms, of Manly, who was reported among the wounded in our first casualty list, describes quite in a matter-of-fact way how he was hit. No doubt many fine things have been done in the Dardanelles which will never be reported. Writing to his father Private Simms says:—"Here is a card bought at Lemnos Island previous to our going to the Dardanelles. I got concussion of the foot caused by a shrapnel shell, and was sent back to Alexandria. My leg is still painful, and my nerves are rather shaken. One of our men had his arm shattered, and I was taking him back on my shoulder, and when I got about 70 yards away his brains were blown out by a dum-dum, killing him instantly. It was then I got hit."

RIFLE RESERVES.

HABERFIELD CLUB.

The Haberfield Rifle Reserve held a successful parade on Saturday afternoon, when they were put through extended order drill and field tactics.

MOSMAN-NEUTRAL BAY CLUB.

The attendance at the Mosman Bay club's drills averages between 600 and 700. About 40 members have volunteered for active service; several are now attending the officers' school of instruction, having been picked out from the ranks. A special lecture on Belgium, illustrated by lantern slides, will be delivered by Captain Diamond on June 17 at Mosman Town Hall at 8 p.m. The gross proceeds are to be given to the fund for the Australian wounded. The first annual meeting will be held on Monday, July 5, at Mosman Town Hall, at 8 p.m.

WAGES BOARDS.

LEGISLATOR'S THREAT.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the Legislative Assembly to-day, on a formal motion for adjournment, Mr. Elmslie protested against the refusal of the Government to remove the embargo which prevents wages boards from dealing generally with wages and working conditions. The Premier said Mr. Elmslie was well aware of the feeling among the men. So far during the war the State had got away without industrial trouble, but the position was so acute that if something were not done men would be compelled to take the matter into their own hands and see what old-fashioned methods would do to improve their lot.

The Premier said the Labour Department at any time was difficult. At times like these the difficulties were enormous. It would have been easier for him to allow the wages boards to come together; but the Ministry was determined in the interests of all concerned that it would not be wise to lift the embargo at so trying a time. It would always be to the credit of Victorians that all classes had realised the situation. (Cheers.)

PARRAMATTA QUARTER SESSIONS.

The Parramatta Court of Quarter Sessions was opened on Tuesday before Judge Rogers. Mr. A. F. Dawson was Crown Prosecutor.

PLEADED GUILTY.

Henry Johnson pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing at Blackheath, on December 10, a postal note, the property of the Postmaster-General. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in Goulburn Gaol.

Arthur Anderson pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a horse, the property of Thomas McCallum, at Lidcombe, on May 30. Accused was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment in Bathurst Gaol.

Charles Hughes, charged with breaking and entering and stealing in the house of Arthur Brooks, of Westmead, on April 11 pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to four months' imprisonment in Goulburn Gaol.

NOVELTY MATINEE.

A novelty matinee is to be given at the Tivoli Theatre this morning commencing at 10.30 o'clock. It has been organised by Mrs. Hugh D. M'Intosh, and is in aid of the returning wounded Australians. The entertainment is in the hands of Sara Collins' Lilliputian Revue Company, and will present "Hello, Australia," a quaint and novel Revue, in which they will be assisted by the Tivoli Follies. One of the most amusing items is a burlesque of Jack Cannot and Isabelle d'Armond in their song, "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat." An impressive finale in which all the Allies are introduced will bring the entertainment to a close. Jack Cannot will lead the orchestra, and members of the Tivoli staff will give their services free.

GIFT TO HOSPITAL.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The trustees of the Edward Wilson estate have made a further gift of £10,000 towards the new building fund of the Melbourne Hospital.

PERSONAL.

Mr. B. R. Wise, the Agent-General-elect, has sent a cablegram to the Acting Premier from Vancouver, stating that upon arrival at Victoria (Vancouver Island) he was met by the Premier of British Columbia. On arrival at Vancouver City Mr. Wise was greeted by members of the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments. The Prime Minister of Canada (Sir R. Borden) has invited Mr. Wise to speak at a Ministerial luncheon.

The Prime Minister of New Zealand states that it is the Government's intention to extend Mr. T. Mackenzie's term as High Commissioner.

A communication has been received by the Sydney University from the president of the Geographical Society of France reporting that that society has awarded the Conrad Malte-Brun prize to Professor David in connection with his researches into the physical geography of the Antarctic.

Mr. P. H. Morton has been appointed a trustee of the National Art Gallery.

Mr. Alexander S. Browne, of Sydney, who was recently appointed commercial adviser to the Japanese Government upon Australian trade, reached Tokyo last month, and was warmly welcomed by Mr. M. Oka, Director of the Bureau of Commerce and Industry, and other officials.

Mr. John Harper, Chief Railway Commissioner, has been granted six weeks' leave of absence owing to illness, and Mr. Fraser, Commissioner, will act in his absence.

The Rev. Thomas Howard Smith and Mrs. Howard Smith, who have been working under the auspices of the London Missionary Society at Pekin, were passengers by the Hitachi Maru, which arrived yesterday.

Mr. John Lewis, M.L.C., of South Australia, arrived in Sydney on a short visit yesterday.

At a meeting of the Presbytery of Sydney last evening a letter was read from the Presbytery of Adelaide (S.A.), agreeing to the translation of the Rev. Thomas Tait, minister of Chalmers Church, Adelaide, who has accepted a call from Scots Church, Sydney.

News has been received of the death in Berlin last month of Mr. John Marshall Irving, who was well known in Sydney. Mr. Irving, a son of the late Rev. William Irving, of Scotland, was 31 years of age, and had been a civil prisoner of war in Germany since the outbreak of hostilities.

POSTAL SORTERS.

ARBITRATION AWARD.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the Commonwealth Arbitration Court today Mr. Justice Powers announced his proposed award in the plaint made by the Postal Sorters' Union of Australia against the Commonwealth Public Service Commissioner and the P.M.G., in which the men asked for increased wages and improved conditions of work.

His Honor started with the unskilled workmen's wage as the basic wage, and proceeded to find out what additional sum should be paid as the minimum to sorters for skilled and special knowledge required in their work, and for responsibility and experience. He commenced with £132 as the basic wage for an unskilled workman before war was declared. He had come to the conclusion that the maximum wage should be £210 instead of £192. He did not propose to grant the maximum in nine years' time now fixed by the department. The maximum would not be reached until the thirteenth year from appointment as a sorter, and then only if the sorter had become entitled under regulations to the annual increments provided by the present award. The minimum wage would be fixed at £150, instead of £144 with nine annual increments of £6 per annum up to £198 in ninth year, and he would award £198 for the tenth year, £204 for eleventh and twelfth years, and £210 for thirteenth year and afterwards. He proposed to award that if persons were appointed as sorters after the date of the award at a minimum wage of £168 they should be entitled to reach the maximum wage in nine years instead of 13, and that only sorters competent to do final sorting or some of the higher functions of a sorter should be entitled to more than £192 a year. No sorter would receive more than £168 a year unless the chief officer reported that he was capable of performing any of the duties of a sorter if the proposed regrading or reclassifying of sorters were carried out. Although the maximum wages of sorters would be increased by this award, assistants and letter-carriers for lower wages would do the work many sorters were now doing, and the sorter later on would be engaged only on important and responsible work. Although grading and classification was a matter for the Commissioner, he ventured to suggest, in the public interests, that the Commissioner might consider whether those sorters at present receiving £168 and over should be graded as senior sorters, and be allowed to qualify for final sorting and for the maximum wage of £210.

The hours of duty are to be:—For day work, 44 hours; for night work, 40 hours; for broken shifts, 42 hours. Overtime at the rate of time and a half. Sunday work, time and a half.

The award will not come into operation until the expiration of 30 days after it has been laid before both Houses of the Federal Parliament.

DEATH OF LIEUT.-COL. GOULD.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

The death occurred early this morning, at a private hospital, of Lieut.-Colonel G. D. Gould, second in command of the 25th Infantry Regiment of the Australian Imperial forces. The late Lieut.-Colonel Gould, who had taken a position in the Expeditionary Force as major, arrived in Brisbane from Launceston about a fortnight ago.

BISHOP OF CARPENTARIA.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

The Rev. Henry Newton, of New Guinea, was elected by unanimous vote of the Queensland bishops, to be Bishop of Carpentaria, in succession to Dr. White. Bishop Newton is a graduate of both Sydney and Oxford universities. Mr. and Mrs. Newton are at present on holidays in the south.

BYRON BAY MEAT WORKS.

BYRON BAY, Monday.

Messrs. Lavercombe and Bouffler, lessees of the local meatworks, started killing yesterday on a good sample of bullocks. About 20 head was put through, and will be shipped for Sydney to-day. This is the first consignment. There are upwards of 170 cattle in the yards that have been purchased in this and the surrounding districts. It is stated that 200 carcases weekly will be sent when work is in full operation, and 30 hands will be employed.

IMPORTED SUGAR.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

At a mass meeting of the employees of the Colonial Sugar Refining Company's New Farm Refinery this afternoon a resolution was carried protesting against the proposed importation of refined sugar.

HOMEBUSH ABATTOIRS.

The Chief Secretary, Mr. Black, stated yesterday, on the authority of the Meat Industry and Abattoirs Board, that the killing for export both at Glebe Island and elsewhere has ceased. Stock is not there to kill, and the prices are far too high. The board, in common with Glebe Island and other export slaughtering works, has had to cease operations. When the time comes it will be only too ready to begin slaughtering again at Homebush, and on a very much larger scale.

WOOL SALE.

JAPANESE COMPETITION.

A NOTED CLIP.

One of the best fine-wool clips of New England was catalogued at the Royal Exchange yesterday, instead of being consigned, as is usually the case, to London. It was diverted from its usual selling channel by the war, and it sold remarkably well. A noteworthy feature of the sale was that out of the 417 bales cleared at auction 219 bales were secured by F. Kanematsu, one of the principal Japanese wool-buying firms in Sydney.

The clip from Mr. A. H. Belfield's Eversleigh flock, Armidale, comprising 447 bales, was a very attractive superfine wool, of beautiful silky quality, well bred—typical of the best fine-wool flocks of the State—and carefully classed. The first lot of 63 bales super sold at 17d per lb, which was within ½d of the record price for the season in Sydney; 78 bales "first" at 15¾d, and the belly wool at 11½d, which constituted a record for the season for that description of the staple.

Mr. Belfield's clip was shorn in November last, so it may be seen that this particular flockmaster did not rush his wool on to the market. His previous season's clip sold in London to 18¼d, and the 1912 clip to 19d. Allowing for the extra charges by selling in London, the full parity of Coleman-street was secured in the Sydney market yesterday. In fact, it had the Japanese competition that would not have been in evidence on the other side.

COLONEL BURNS.

FAREWELLED BY HIGHLAND SOCIETY.

The council of the Highland Society of New South Wales yesterday afternoon entertained the president (Colonel James Burns, M.L.C.), prior to his departure on Thursday for Great Britain, via Canada. Mr. Dugald Thomson, who occupied the chair, proposed the health of the guest in eulogistic terms, making special reference to the great progress of the society during the colonel's 12 years' occupancy of the presidency, and to the fact that it was at his suggestion, made at a meeting of the Highland Society, that the King Edward Memorial Fund was established. As a result of this movement the most eminent sculptor in the world is now engaged completing a statue which it is hoped will be erected in about 18 months. He also dwelt on Colonel Burns's association with the Burnside Orphanage Homes. The toast was supported by Mr. A. Kethel, M.L.C. Colonel Burns, in reply, said he regarded the position of president of the Highland Society as the greatest compliment his fellow-countrymen could confer upon him. He was proud of his association with the Burnside Homes, and felt confident the society would never regret the step it had taken in deciding to establish a cottage at Burnside with the object of caring for the children of Australian soldiers who had given their lives for their country. He anticipated being absent from Australia about eight months, his trip being undertaken for business reasons.

BINALONG COLLISION.

COTTER ACQUITTED.

At the Central Criminal Court yesterday, before Mr. Justice Pring, John Sylvester Cotter, 26, who was night-officer at Binalong when the up express collided with the Temora mail on April 17, was acquitted on a charge of having feloniously slain Robert John Thomas, who died from injuries received in the accident.

PRICE OF MILK.

PRODUCERS' DEMAND.

DAPTO, Monday.

A special meeting of the Dapto Branch of the Sydney Milk Suppliers' Association was held last night to consider the question of increasing the price of milk to the producers to 11d per gallon.

An increase in price was strongly advocated by Messrs. J. McPhail, E. T. Evans, G. Duncan, A. G. Martin, and others. It was stated that the vendors were getting 2s a gallon for milk, consequently the dairy farmers were entitled to 11d.

It was unanimously resolved that the price of milk to the dairy farmers should be increased to 11d per gallon.

DILATORY COUNCIL.

"We are becoming the laughing-stock of the city on account of the games of battledore and shuttlecock we are playing," remarked Alderman Lindsay Thompson at the health committee of the City Council yesterday, when for the fortieth time the question of the punting of refuse to sea once more came up for discussion.

LIBEL ACTION SETTLED.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The action for libel brought by the Vacuum Oil Proprietary Company, Ltd., against David Syme and Co., proprietors of the "Age," has been settled.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE SOLDIERS' CLUB.

That rarely-staged comedy, "Love's Labour Lost," was performed in costume (and curly moustaches!) by a party of girls under Miss Elsie Dumolo's direction, at St. James's Hall last night in aid of the Soldiers' Club, when there was an excellent attendance. The arrangements were quite medieval, a page putting up placards, "This is a bush," "This is a Park," "This is a Tree," to indicate the changes of scene.

The abridged version enabled the audience to learn how Ferdinand, the young King of Navarre retired with his courtiers to a country palace under a vow to study philosophy there for three years, to fast one day of every week, to eat but one meal on each of the other days, to sleep but three hours a night, not to wink all the day time, and never to converse with any woman. The fun begins with the arrival of the Princess of France and her attendant ladies on a diplomatic mission, and the fair bevy has to be provided with tents in the palace grounds. The king falls in love with the princess, and the royal party joyfully resolves "to woo the girls of France." Disguised as Muscovites, they visit the beauties at their tents, and as the ladies wear masks, the lords all choose the wrong partners. The merry encounter is ultimately sobered by news of the death of the King of France, and the princess and her ladies then compound with their admirers for a year of mourning before they renew their suit.

The frequently difficult lines had been well studied, and were for the most part clearly delivered, Miss Dumolo as Ferdinand, Miss Eleanor Ross as Biron, Miss Hilda Marks as Costard, Miss Ella Crose as the princess, and Miss Dulcie Cohen as Armado, being prominent in a most creditable performance. A concert programme was contributed to with success by Misses D. Nation, E. Nation, Mrs. Childe, Mrs. C. C. Lance, and Mrs. H. Bately Allard, and tickets were availed of in the good cause for a supper in the basement at the close of the entertainment.

CIVIL SERVICE RED CROSS CONCERT.

The Public Service Association has organised a concert for Australia Day (June 30) in aid of the Red Cross Fund at the Conservatorium Hall. There will be a chorus and orchestra under Mr. E. A. Mowle, and a programme of Australian music. There will be a rehearsal at the Girls' High School on Friday.

THE PINTEL RECITAL.

M. Jacques Pintel will give his second piano recital on Saturday evening next at the New Conservatorium Hall at 8.15. The Russian pianist will play groups of pieces of charm and importance by Schumann and Chopin, and items by Rachmaninoff, Pintel, Tchaikowsky, Moskowski, as well as Liszt's "Mazeppa."

CHILDREN'S BELGIAN CONCERT.

A thousand picked voices from the Public schools will be heard at the Town Hall to-night in a patriotic concert in aid of the Belgian funds. The young choristers have been in active rehearsal for some weeks, and the event will show the standard of vocal training in the Public schools and its probable effect upon the New South Wales Conservatorium of Music. The choruses to be sung include the National Anthems of the Allies, and such patriotic songs as "Rule Britannia," "Red, White, and Blue," "To Victory," "Australians All," "Soldiers' Farewell," and the "Glorious British Empire."

The concert is given under the auspices of the Education Department, and the Governor, the members of the Ministry, and the Consuls of the Allies will be present. It will form an opportunity for congratulating the school children of New South Wales upon the magnificent response to the children's £10,000. The booking has been remarkable, but a few seats may still be reserved at Paling's.

A deputation from residents of the northern suburbs, introduced by Mr. A. A. C. Cocks, M.L.A., will wait on the Minister for Railways (Mr. Hoyle) at 2.30 this afternoon, concerning the new station sites.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade's annual dinner will be held at Sargent's rooms, Market-street, on Saturday, 26th instant, at 8 p.m. The net proceeds are to be distributed amongst the brigade hospital in France, district headquarters, and the Civil Ambulance.

AUSTRALIA DAY.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS' CO-OPERATION.

ORGANISATION PROGRESSING.

The correspondence of Australia Day is becoming a formidable matter to handle. From all over the State inquiries are pouring in, and these are answered directly by the honorary organiser.

Offers of help are numerous. The collection committee is receiving the names of volunteers daily. Many ladies prominent in the social world have enlisted their services. Enthusiasm for the day there is in plenty. It is a question only of directing it to the greatest results.

Yesterday Mr. A. R. Cooke, secretary of the Commercial Travellers' Association of New South Wales, called on Mr. Hugh J. Ward, and assured him that the members of that organisation would assist in any way possible for Australia Day.

Mr. Ward decided to use the offer by having all the representatives of the business houses made members of the travelling committee. It will be their duty to awaken interest in the country towns in the campaign. They will be constantly in touch with the central executive, and assist in the propaganda work, furnishing the country press with information and meeting the local working committees. In this way great results will accrue.

Mr. H. M. Somer, secretary of the Royal Agricultural Society, also volunteered to place the resources of his organisation at the disposal of Mr. Ward. Over 100 country agricultural societies are affiliated with the Royal Agricultural Society, and with each of these Mr. Somer will communicate, urging the co-operation of committees with the local effort in each town on July 30.

Mr. Lorne C. Stupart, of Maryborough (Q.), was another caller upon Mr. Ward. Maryborough, he stated, had raised over £7000 by various funds, and would heartily enter into the Australian Day campaign. "My brother," said Mr. Stupart, "was the first in our town to fall on the field of honour." Mr. Stupart has just returned from New Zealand, where he reports the Red Cross Funds are engaging general attention. "There are many sad cases," he said. "The most terrible that came under by personal notice was that of a girl, who, with her brother, was the sole support of aged parents. This independent spirit was employed in an office, and one day she received a message from the military authorities stating that her brother had been rendered totally blind while fighting in France. The same day she learned that the young man she was engaged to had fallen fighting at the Dardanelles. I don't know how the funds are to be administered here, but in Maryborough in such a case part of the burden the girl had to bear would be lifted from her."

Many letters were received by Mr. Ward yesterday on the subject of the administration of the moneys to be raised. His statement that it was necessary that there should be wide discretionary powers on the part of those handling the funds was endorsed by many correspondents.

"These details," said Mr. Ward last night, "will be explained at the meeting on Thursday of next week at Her Majesty's. It has been definitely determined that the money will be for the Australian wounded, and that the human touch will be uppermost in the administration. A soldier suffering mental anguish for the immediate needs of those depending on him should be freed from such suffering. The man who offers his life must feel that nothing money can do for him will be denied. That is why money must flow in—I was going to say 'generously.' But it is not generosity that should move people; it is gratitude."

ORANGE, Tuesday.

Mr. W. A. Rae, of Glenroy, Orange East, has offered to provide accommodation for eight wounded soldiers returned to Australia. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kerr, of Wellwood, also intimate their desire to afford similar convenience to wounded soldiers.

THE TRAWLERS.

"Some people say we cannot catch the right sort of fish with our trawlers," remarked the Chief Secretary yesterday, referring to the recent first business trip of the three State boats. And Mr. Black then proudly exhibited a 10lb schnapper, which was an item in the joint hauls of the Brolga, Koraaga, and Gunandaal, totalling from 60 to 65 baskets of from 60lb to 70lb each.

Mr. Black stated that the first trip was marked by certain untoward incidents. Mr. Cooper (the secretary of the Firemen and Seamen's Union) having informed him that, as he thought it would be a very easy job on the boats, he sent down three old men and one young man as firemen. The result was that on the Brolga one old man collapsed altogether after an hour's work, and his mate worked till he was exhausted. The engineers on board refused to assist until the boat returned home, and the cruise was then abandoned. The coal being used was inferior for steaming purposes, and choked the fires up. On the Karaaga both firemen collapsed about the same time.

"We intend in future," said the Chief Secretary, "providing the best steaming coal available, and it will be easier for the firemen, and then we will ship a more robust class of men."

To-day the Gunandaal goes out, and the other two boats to-morrow.

COMING SESSION.

The Acting Premier, Mr. Cann, stated yesterday that no official overtures had been made to the Government by the Opposition for a renewal of the party truce that prevailed last session.

Mr. Cann was asked if any renewal of the truce would depend upon the spirit of the House when it met, and he replied: "It will depend upon the way our men are shaping at the front."

Discussing the suggestion that the forthcoming session might, by agreement with the Opposition, be confined to public works and generally machinery measures, Mr. Cann said that last session very valuable non-contentious machinery measures that had been held in abeyance for years were passed, and much in the same direction still remained to be done.

BAKERS' WAGES.

PERTH, Tuesday.

Mr. Justice Northmore, President of the Arbitration Court, announced that he had decided, in view of the abnormal price of flour and the price of bread fixed by the Commission, not to issue a new award as requested by the Bakers' Union, but to continue the present one for six months.

NEW ZEALAND POLITICS.

AUCKLAND, Tuesday.

Mr. Stewart, the Government candidate, won the Bay of Islands by-election. This gives the Government a majority of three, with one by-election to be held.

COUNTRY WATER SUPPLIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Those country councils which are paying for water supplies erected by the Works Department are warned against an endeavour which is being made by the department to obtain from them a higher rate of interest than the department is legally entitled to demand. Under the Act of 1897 the rate of interest payable on the annual purchasing instalments of water supplies was 3½ per cent. The annual instalments have been gazetted, so that each council is aware of its future indebtedness. In the Amending Act of 1905 it is stated that the Governor may fix a rate of interest up to 4 per cent., but there is no authority in the Act by which those councils which have already entered into arrangements at 3½ per cent. can be called upon to pay anything more. In other words, the existing arrangements cannot under the law be disturbed.

I have been informed that several councils have received letters from the Director-General of Public Works stating that in the future the amount of interest to be paid on its waterworks debt will be 4 per cent. instead of 3½ per cent. The letter concludes with the statement that "I shall be glad to receive a formal intimation of your council's concurrence." In my view of the law this is not putting the matter fairly. The department has no authority whatever to alter the rate of interest, and councils who receive such communications will not be bound to give any concurrence, formal or otherwise.

It will, of course, be admitted that the councils owe a great deal to the forbearance and assistance of the Works Department in the construction of their water supplies, and the demand now being made is merely another instance of how confused and unintelligible the Water Supply Acts are, and how necessary it is that they should be supplanted by the simpler clauses of the proposed Local Government Bill.

MEN WHO STAY AT HOME.

GRAVE REPROACH.

CITY COUNCIL DEBATE.

The fit and free single men who are staying at home unmoved while the flower of the Australian youth are fighting and dying for them in the great struggle in which the Empire is engaged were the subject of opprobious comments at the meeting of the health committee of the City Council yesterday.

A question had arisen as to the putting in hand some of the works scheduled, when Alderman Lindsay Thompson said that he hoped if this necessitated the employment of extra men the council would give preference to those who were married or those who were unable, by reason of physical defects or for other reasons, from going on active service. It was a terrible reproach that in this hour of national peril so many should stand idly by, apparently quite indifferent as to the issue of the war. If all who were able to render service did their part success was certain, but there must be no shirkers. Where else in the Empire would we find such multitudes of men who ought to be wearing the King's uniform assembling, instead of on parade-grounds, at the racecourse or at football matches?

Alderman Evan Jones observed that many of the single men had responsibilities, and were the breadwinners for their homes.

Alderman Thompson: I am not referring to them.

Alderman Jones: Many are the sole support of their mothers.

Alderman Griffin: And many of those who go to the races are the principal supporters of the bookmakers. (Laughter.)

The chairman said that the matter brought forward would have the serious consideration of the committee, and if it was considered necessary a recommendation would be made to the council.

ANTI-GERMAN MOVEMENT.

WORKMEN'S STRIKE.

FEDERAL COUNCIL TO MEET.

It was expected that the anti-German dispute between unionist bottle-workers, which had kept 600 men from their employment at Sydney Glass Bottle Works, Dowling-street, Waterloo, and at the Waterloo Glass Bottle Works, Crescent-street, during the whole of last week, would have been settled for a resumption of work yesterday. Such, however, was not the case.

The management stated in the afternoon that they did not take exception to the union's attitude in passing a resolution declining to work with enemy alien subjects during the continuance of the war, but that they did not like to take on themselves the responsibility of dismissing men who had proved themselves to be loyal and competent workmen. It was purely the legal aspect that was in the way of a settlement. Altogether there were about 40 Germans employed at the two establishments, some of them being expert bottle makers.

CHAFF FAMINE.

SERIOUS POSITION IN RIVERINA.

HAY, Tuesday.

The chaff famine has reached its most serious dimensions here. There is practically no chaff in the town, and neither merchants nor consumers are able to get any.

The Minister for Justice has given Mr. Scobie, member for the district, an assurance that he will not prosecute in cases where Victorian chaff is sold above the proclaimed prices, but that does not meet the situation, as no chaff is obtainable from Victoria. Mail contractors have been using motor cars, but the rains have rendered the roads temporarily impassable for cars, and it is impossible for them to obtain fodder for horses. Station owners are sending in for tons of chaff, and end by begging for a bag. No such scarcity has ever been experienced here.

The stock inspector has already made representations to his department, but with no result. It is suggested that the embargo on selling at higher than the proclaimed prices should be lifted, otherwise large numbers of working horses must perish. Many owners who have horses away on relief country have sold them rather than bring them back.

WHEAT SUPPLIES.

QUEENSLAND INQUIRY.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

Judge Macnaughton, pursuant to his commission to inquire into the supply and distribution of wheat and flour in Queensland and matters in connection therewith, commenced taking evidence to-day.

Henry W. Luya, manager of the Brisbane Milling Company, said the average cost of wheat at present held by his firm would be about 7s 11d per bushel. He believed the only flour stored was by bakers, and he believed that no extraordinary stocks were held.

Mr. F. W. Butterworth, manager in Queensland for Mungo Scott, Ltd., millers, of Sydney, said, in view of the prolific nature of the world's coming crop, he believed the bottom would be knocked out of the wheat market.

QUEENSLAND CABINET.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

The State Cabinet met this morning, and adjourned early to enable the Premier to accompany Mr. Hamilton to Government House, where he was sworn in as Minister without portfolio. Mr. Hamilton will administer the Department of Mines.

THE RAILWAYS.

DISORGANISED HOLIDAY TRAFFIC.

There was much confusion on the Hawkesbury line on Monday owing largely to an extraordinary rush of holiday traffic.

According to a statement made by Mr. F. G. Sargood, of the firm of Messrs. Sargood Bros., warehousemen, the railway officials were, in many cases, powerless to relieve the bewilderment of those in waiting at the stations—which, to make matters worse, were not properly lighted.

PRICE OF BUTTER.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The chairman of the Price of Goods Board announced to-day that there would be no advance in the price of butter this week.

V. Lawson, £1,798 13s lowest.

THE WAR.

SOCKS FOR SOLDIERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Too much cannot be said in commendation of the consistent manner in which our womenfolk are responding to the summons to knit, given at the outset of the war. Hundreds of women buy the wool they use in preference to drawing supplies from the War Chest, doubtless feeling they are indirectly assisting that fund by so doing. I regularly notice the wool counters of our city shops besieged with patriots of this type, and the thought has struck me that the profits thus accruing surely belong to our war funds. If something of the sort is not already in existence, could not a committee of ladies be formed, and a depot opened, at which wool could be obtained at a reasonable price, and the net profits devoted, say, to providing necessary equipment for the wounded we are to have in our midst so soon?

I am, etc., L.B.

THE ARTICLED CLERK WHO ENLISTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—If you will allow me to take up a little of your valuable space I should like to state the case of an articled clerk who desires to enlist as opposed to that of a medical student at the Sydney University. At the beginning of the war all medical students (as I have been informed) who volunteered for the front were allowed to count another year as passed to the one which ordinarily they could only pass, e.g., if a student passed his second year examination he was held to have passed both his second and third year, and so on. Again, another rule has been passed allowing the third-year students to sit for the fourth and fifth year examination at the one sitting. No such leniency is allowed the articled clerk. He has to pass eight examinations with a period of six months between each exam., so that immediately he passes the examination he has to begin to work forthwith for the next one. The only leniency that is allowed an articled clerk who volunteers is that the time he is away at the front is allowed to be added to the duration of his articles of clerkship, but that does not help him to pass the examinations, and these are becoming more and more difficult. If the articled clerk was treated in the same way as the medical student I am sure that a large number of us would enlist.

I am, etc., AN ARTICLED CLERK.

June 8.

FOR OUR WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Nothing could tap the springs of human sympathy more effectually, or set in motion the pulsations of loving hearts attuned to service and giving, more than the realisation that soon we shall have landed on these shores a goodly number of Australia's noblest sons, who answered the nation's call and fell in the greatest cause the world ever set out to defend. Not a waster among them, and all of them volunteers. They went from the humble cottage and the stately mansion, from the field and the workshop, and from the office and the store, from the church and the highest seat of learning. Not a few, but most of them, sacrificed good, comfortable homes, indulgent parents, and promising positions.

These men must be met in a like manner. Nothing the State or the people can give that will tend to recompense or help them to a speedy restoration must be held back—nor, I feel sure, will be. The published list of offered accommodation is an answer to that, and a splendid testimony to the desire of the people to take a personal and direct obligation in this whole-souled noble work. Giving in cash to a general fund is good, and may be encouraged, but it will not, and cannot, fill the whole bill. The gospel of the good Book is just as true as ever, "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh," and so it is, our noble-hearted men and women are offering to take into their homes and care for from one to several of our returning invalid soldiers, and it is to this phase of our offered accommodation and providing that I desire now to write.

Since last addressing you upon this subject, I have taken the precaution of consulting medical men and those well able to advise upon the subject, and in their opinion it would not be the most efficient or satisfactory way of helping by placing ones and twos in people's homes, much less in isolated cottages, which would be expensive to maintain. Invalid men are apt to feel lonely and dissatisfied. Relations and friends would feel less free to visit them, men would lose much of the association and entertainment they would get in company, and in many ways the best of good intentions are liable to miscarry, and fall a long way short of what was meant to be. Where a number of men could be suitably accommodated and conveniently placed for nursing and medical attention the condition is feasible. The proposal to use the Prince Alfred Exhibition Building is out of the question, cold, uninviting, unhomelike, noisy, not at all the best we can do.

The proposal of the Sydney Hospital Board to build a temporary structure at the rear of the Domain, with a view to taking the land permanently does not meet with my approval. Sydney Hospital should be a casualty outdoor hospital only, and a bigger hospital with ample grounds should be built elsewhere. As it is, Sydney Hospital could take a share of those cases requiring an operating theatre. The Royal Prince Alfred Hospital has so offered to provide for 150 men.

The board of the Randwick Children's Asylum, of which I am a director, offered as soon as the news came through, provision for 600 men, and the Federal authorities to their credit at once accepted, and have shown commendable promptness and energy in doing all that is required to make ready.

But to meet the laudable wishes of those noble-hearted, generous people who want to become personally liable for the provision and maintenance of one or more beds, there is nothing better in this or any other country than the late Federal Government House in Macquarie-street. I have questioned more than one medical man, and unitedly they say it would not be suitable for a general operating hospital as it is, but for a convalescent home for our soldiers, and 60 or 70 per cent. that are sent here will be of that class, the house and grounds in particular are ideal; nothing could be better—not far from the Sydney Hospital in case of emergency, and in close touch with all our best medical and dental men, who I understand, will offer honorary service, and should be considered in this matter. It is also handy for the parents and friends to visit the men. For the information and guidance of those who would like to provide and maintain a bed, I have been advised that the first cost of bed equipment would be about £15, and the maintenance about 25/ per week. If Mr. Holman will make this building available for our returning invalid soldiers, I will be pleased to become personally responsible for two beds, and will give any organising assistance it is possible for me to perform. In the meantime, and in order to show how much the people are in earnest in this matter, I shall be glad to receive offers of support for one or more beds, and I am more than satisfied all the room will be subscribed for.

I am, etc.,
June 8. THOMAS HENLEY.

MORE MEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It appears from statistics that there are in Australia 500,000 males between the ages of 18 and 35. Of these more than half are single, and many more would no doubt be free to enlist for foreign service. Let it be impressed upon these—the flower of her manhood—that it is now Australia's duty to force the Dardanelles, equally with the other contingents engaged.

I am, etc., T.S.R.

FOR THE WOUNDED.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The many generous offers of accommodation for the wounded which have been published in the press have evoked the admiration of all. But there must be many people who, while they are unable for various reasons to follow the example set by those patriotic citizens, would be only too glad to help in the work of giving shelter and treatment to the sick and wounded soldiers who will soon be returning home. May I suggest one way in which this may be done? If the Mayors and presidents of the various municipalities and shires in the State were to call meetings of the residents, the latter could form local organisations, each of which could raise funds to rent and equip suitable houses in the district as hospitals or convalescent homes. I am sure that large numbers of people who are unable to take the wounded into their own homes would welcome this means of doing their share in the discharge of the common duty. I have this day written to the Mayor of the municipality in which I live (Woollahra), requesting him to call a meeting for this purpose, and I would ask the aid of your columns to suggest to those who live in other parts of the city and State, that they endeavour to form local organisations for the same purpose.

I am, etc.,
June 8. R. CLIVE TEECE.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—A short time ago the Lord Mayor of Sydney expressed the opinion that, as the final Court of Appeal in England had decided that Government House, Domain, belonged to New South Wales, a favourable opportunity was presented to the Government to invite his Excellency the Governor, Sir Gerald Strickland, to vacate Cranbrook, and take possession in lieu thereof of the beautiful home of so many of his predecessors in that position.

There have been numerous suggestions in the press lately that Government House should be converted into a convalescent hospital for our wounded soldiers returning from the front. It must be admitted that the locality and surroundings would be, with one exception, ideal for the purpose mentioned, but for one great drawback, viz., the monotonous noise made by the screeching of the sirens in the immediate neighbourhood, especially by those steamers rounding the east side of the Circular Quay.

On the other hand, Cranbrook offers immensely superior advantages, inasmuch as it is quiet and secluded, with very spacious grounds, and, at comparatively small expense, would provide far greater accommodation than the house in the Domain.

I am firmly of opinion that the Lord Mayor is on the right track.

USEFUL RAIN.

WIDESPREAD FALLS.

CONTINUANCE LIKELY.

During the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday the Antarctic rain disturbance has advanced eastward, and at 9 a.m. yesterday occupied practically the whole of the south-eastern States. As a result of its operations further light to moderate rainfall has been recorded generally, but only very scattered on the coast.

Although most of the falls were of a light nature, they were so generally distributed in central and southern areas of the State that considerable benefit should result, more especially in view of the good rains in the middle of May and the intervening periods of comparatively mild temperature.

The following falls were registered during the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday.

Adelong 38 points, Albury 64, Angledool 4, Araluen 5, Armidale 18, Balranald 45, Barmedman 15, Barraba 15, Bathurst 7, Bellata 18, Bellingen Heads 8, Bendemere 21, Berrigan 46, Bingara 34, Blackville 11, Blayney 21, Boggabilla 15, Bombala 2, Booligal 30, Bourke 2, Braidwood 18, Brewarrina 3, Broken Hill 13, Bundarra 37, Bungendore 28, Burrow 27, Byrock 7, Canonbar 12, Cape Hawke 2, Carcoar 18, Carrathool 46, Cobar 12, Collarenebri 10, Conargo 34, Condobolin 13, Coolah 30, Coolamon 23, Cooma 2, Coonabarabran 30, Coonamble 6, Cootamundra 15, Cowra 34, Corowa 29, Crookwell 8, Cudal 52, Cudgellico, 14, Culcairn 83, Darlington Point 54, Deniliquin 61, Dubbo 20, Dunedoo 42, Euabalong 16, Emmaville 38, Eungonia 9, Euston 35, Forbes 27, Germanton 80, Gilgandra 30, Girilambone 8, Glen Innes 25, Goodooga 24, Goulburn 17, Grafton 2, Grenfell 20, Grong Grong 23, Gulargambone 8, Gulgong 40, Gundagai 9, Gunning 28, Hay 45, Henty 81, Hill End 38, Hillston 21, Howlong 98, Ivanhoe 12, Inverell 40, Jerilderie 45, Junee 35, Katoomba 2, Kempsey 1, Kiandra 98, Laurieton 20, Louth 6, Manilla 16, Manning Heads 6, Marsdens 18, Maude 36, Millie 16, Mitrarinka 9, Mogil 6, Molong 14, Morangarell 34, Moree 12, Mossgiel 30, Moulamein 34, Mount Hope 17, Mount Victoria 2, Mudgee 15, Munginell 9, Murrurundi 22, Narrabri 25, Narromine 20, Narrandera 20, Nimitybelle 1, Nundle 15, Nymagee 15, Nyngan 16, Orange 26, Parkes 16, Pilliga 21, Pooncarie 22, Queanbeyan 18, Quirindi 15, Rockley 12, Rylstone 27, Scone 2, Tamworth 10, Taralga 14, Tarcutta 36, Temora 21, Tenterfield 25, The Rock 58, Tilpa 9, Tocumwal 53, Trundle 40, Tumbarumba 55, Ungarie 24, Urralla 40, Urana 55, Wagga Wagga 32, Walcha 8, Walgett 18, Warialda 31, Wee Waa 24, Wellington 53, Wentworth 23, Whitton 34, Wyalong 19, Wyalong West 16, Yetman 28, Young 27.

At 9 a.m. yesterday it was still cloudy and unsettled over the greater part of the S.E. States. In New South Wales the weather was cloudy to overcast throughout, and raining at many places west from the tablelands.

On parts of the tablelands and the coast the temperature showed a decided rise since Monday, owing to that part of the State being under the influence of the warmer side of the disturbance. But westward of the tablelands, the fall was just as pronounced, for there S.W. winds were predominating.

The largest increase was 13deg. at Parramatta, and the chief decrease 12deg. at Cobar, Hay, and Forbes.

The lowest temperatures registered in the State yesterday morning were:—24deg. at Kosciusko, 32deg. at Kiandra and Rockley, and 31deg. at Tamworth and Warialda.

As the disturbance makes further easting more rain should occur over southern and eastern districts, and the mildness of eastern parts give place to colder weather generally, with squally S.W. winds.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA BENEFITS.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

Beneficial rains have again fallen over the agricultural areas of South Australia, and will further enhance the prospects of a good harvest.

BROKEN HILL.—Last night's rain gave another 3 points to the local record, making 30 points since Sunday afternoon. This fall will do an immense amount of good to growing herbage.

COOLAH.—Forty points of rain fell on Monday night.

COOMA.—Light rain commenced yesterday afternoon, and is likely to continue. It is much needed in the district.

MANILLA.—A welcome change occurred on Monday night. Up to 2 p.m. 45 points of rain were recorded. It will benefit the young crops. Out centres report about 1 inch.

NARRABRI.—Thirty points of rain fell last night.

BROKEN HILL MINES.

The Minister for Mines has just returned from a visit to Broken Hill, where he looked into the industrial situation. Mr. Estell said yesterday that he found that the mines will next week have to put the men on half-time, owing to the disorganisation of the metal market. Some of the hands displaced some months ago were employed on the Broken Hill-Condobolin railway line.

THE FLOODED TUNNEL.

A report was received yesterday by Mr. Hoyle, the Assistant Minister for Railways, concerning the flooding of the tunnel between Longnose Point and Greenwich. The report states that the tunnel is 18ft below the surface of the rock, and the inrush came through a crevice, the existence of which could not have been foreseen. It was thought that when the tunnel was pumped out the crevice could be riveted up and everything made quite safe.

The closing sales were:—Bank of Australasia, odd lot, £122; Goldsbrough, 37/3; Melbourne Electric Stock, 35/6; Melbourne Tram, 30/10½; Howard Smith, 20/; ditto, pref., 22/6; Mutual Stores, 21/6; Sydney [illegible] Caledonian Collieries, [illegible].

FINANCIAL.

MELBOURNE TRAMWAY COMPANY.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

At a meeting of directors of the Melbourne Tramway Company to-day it was decided to pay the usual quarterly dividend and bonus of 6d per share, and also to make a distribution from the realised assets at the rate of 1s per share. These amounts will be payable on July 1.

GOLDSBROUGH, MORT.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

After providing for bad and doubtful debts, Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Ltd., show a balance of £188,154 at credit of profit and loss for the year ended March 31. The directors recommend that £25,000 be placed to the reserve fund, and that a final dividend of 7½ per cent. be paid, making, with the interim distribution in December, a return of 10 per cent. for the year. These dividends absorb £70,273, leaving a balance of £92,880 to be carried forward. As the sum of £81,448 was brought into the accounts from 1913-14, the net profit for the succeeding 12 months would appear to be £106,706, which compares with £154,153 for the previous year. In view of the abnormal conditions now existing and the shortage of feed in many parts of Victoria, New South Wales, and Queensland, the directors feel that it is a sound policy to maintain a strong cash position.

GENERAL SHORTAGE.

FODDER, BUTTER, FLOUR.

MR. HALL'S STATEMENT.

The State Attorney-General made a statement yesterday regarding fodder, butter, and flour, the prices of which have been fixed by proclamation.

"A conference was held to-day," said Mr. Hall, "between the Necessary Commodities Control Commission, the Fodder Advisory Committee, the Government Statistician (Mr. Trivett), and myself. It was agreed that, from the figures now available, there will be insufficient fodder to carry the State through to the end of the season, even though the most favourable climatic conditions prevail during the next three months. Arrangements have been entered into by which the Government is endeavouring to import sufficient to meet the shortage, the amount imported to be distributed in conjunction with the present importing houses. In the meantime necessary steps are being taken towards bringing on to the market existing New South Wales stocks."

Regarding butter Mr. Hall said:—"Within the past week certain butter from America and also from New Zealand has been imported into Sydney. It is to be noted that the proclaimed prices only refer to butter offered for sale in New South Wales. If any of the pastrycooks, for example, desiring to get butter for use in their business, and not for sale over their counters, care to cable to New Zealand for it, they will no doubt be able to get supplies at slight advances on the existing Sydney prices, and, to the extent that they are successful, would relieve the local shortage. The offence contemplated by our law is the sale at higher prices. As a matter of fact, one firm did import some American butter, and it is now being sold as pastry butter."

Referring to a deputation of master bakers who yesterday afternoon waited upon him, Mr. Hall said: "They represented that stocks were getting a little low, and they had heard it reported that the Government intended waiting for the Dardanelles to be opened before making arrangements to import wheat. I was able to tell them what had been done up to date, and reassure them by showing them that stocks of wheat on the water are sufficient to carry the State on for a considerable period, and will be supplemented from time to time as occasion may require."

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

Further heavy rises were made in several metal manufactures yesterday in addition to those noted on Saturday last. Lead manufactures were advanced £2/10/ a ton, sheet lead being quoted at £29 per ton in full rolls, 30/ per cwt in cut rolls; lead pipes in coils at 34/6 per cwt, and in 10ft lengths 36/6. Black fencing wire advanced to £15 for the gauges usually employed, No. 8 and No. 10. Galvanised wire also advanced, No. 8 to £18 and No. 10 to £19 per ton. Stocks of all wires were extremely low, and it was not known when further shipments would be available. Wire nails were without change, though an increase was generally expected. Barbed wire at £22 for 12 gauge close-set and £21/10/ for 14 gauge had a considerable falling off in the demand, and the same might be said of wire netting, in consequence of the tariff being raised. The price for the basis size of rabbit-proof netting, £60, stops any but the most imperative work. The rain in the west, light though it is, has given a flip to trade, but it is principally in light lines. At present high prices most pastoralists and farmers are postponing all developing work. Zinc sheets were up to £80 a ton. Explosives and cartridges were in short supply.

The unprecedented price to which zinc has attained has resulted in a stiff rise in zinc white in oils, amounting to £2 a ton. Fergusson's was quoted by cable yesterday at 32/6 per cwt f.o.b. The local rate was 68/. Owing to the advance in pig lead the convention rate of whitelead was raised by £1 to £32/10/ per ton. The former price of £31/10/ had been in operation about two months. Local rates were:—Champion's, 44/ per cwt for cwt packages; and other brands, 42/6 to 43/. Redlead was cabled £1/15/ per ton dearer. On the Sydney market £41/10/ per ton was asked. Linseed oil was unchanged at 4/6 and 4/8 for first brands.

A fair distributing business was done in groceries. Complaint was still made of the shortage of sugar and condensed milk. Some milk is on the way from overseas, but it is not believed by the grocers that the quantity is sufficient for requirements. Moir's meat pastes are absolutely off the market. A few fish pastes are still obtainable. Dried fruits were going out fairly well yesterday. Currants were in heavy demand, and there was a suggestion that in view of the shortage the retailers should be restricted somewhat on the same lines as with sugar and milk. There is no doubt that some retailers have laid in large stocks. All rocksalt was quoted ex store at 95/ per ton. Australian salt was without alteration. Liverpool salt was quoted, both coarse and fine, at 100/ per ton.

The samples of tea which arrived by the mail on Monday, as far as quality was concerned, showed distinct traces of monsoon conditions, and prices were as high, and in some cases higher, than those of the previous mail. Little business, however, resulted, because it was not known on what boats the teas were. The Medina will arrive this week, and after her there will arrive no tea by the mail steamers until the Orsova, which leaves Colombo to-morrow or Wednesday. The Mongolia left Colombo last week without taking any tea as far as can be ascertained.

There was a strong demand from the country for cornsacks for season's delivery, and a big business was done at 7/7 net to rails. Spot stocks were quoted at 7/6 net. Branbags were unchanged at 6/, and woolpacks at 3/4¼ net. A great deal of buying had taken place with every probability of higher prices. Bags were in strong demand for the Indian wheat trade, and also some 6¼ million bags have been shipped to the French Government during the previous two months. It was this enormous and daily increasing demand for war purposes which had given them such a strong market, the demand almost exceeding the supply. Another letter stated:—"Our complaint at the moment is that there are very little goods (cornsacks) available for the nearer position—August-September—with the result that prices for all commodities are up 25 per cent. Australia has not participated at the moment to any extent. There will be very little goods on offer when they do come into buying. Branbags have not been sought for yet by Australia, nor has any business taken place between mills and shippers here, and the same result may be expected as that referred to in cornsacks."

At Darling Harbour yesterday 53 tons of wheat and 40 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

The amount of wool manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour yesterday was 381 bales.

LONDON MARKET CABLES.

METALS.

SILVER.

Bar silver was quoted to-day at 23¼d per ounce standard (an advance of 1-16d).

WHEAT.

The wheat market is dull. Shipments of Walla Walla wheat afloat are worth 63/6 per quarter of 480lb c.i.f.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

To-day's quotes were: Wheat, steady, 8/4½ for milling parcels, 7/8 growers' lots; flour, £17/15/ nett Port Adelaide, £18/5/ bakers' lots, Adelaide; bran, weak, 2/2, pollard steady, 2/4 to 2/6; oats, Algerian feed offered at 3/6, but no buyers; barley weak, selling at 3/ downwards according to sample; chaff showed a declining tendency, more sellers than buyers at £12 on trucks at Mile End, including bags; cornsacks firm at 7/6 to 7/9 for spot lots; branbags 5/9; butter steady, 1/10 to 2/ for best factory, 1/9½ to 1/9¼ for dairy, 1/6 to 1/7 stores; eggs, 1/8; cheese, /11½ to /11½; honey, /4½; bacon, /10 to /11; hams, /11 to 1/.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

To-day's quotations were:—Wheat, nominally, 7/11; flour, £17; bran, £10/5/; pollard, £11/5/; oats steady, 5/1 to 5/2; maize firm, 5/3¼ to 5/4½; chaff fairly active, £11 to £11/15/; hay firm, trusses £11 to £11/10/, manger sheaves £11; Victorian straw firm, £5/15/ to £6; Tasmanian, £6/10/; potatoes firm in tone, £5/15/ to £6/5/; onions are a shade firmer, owing to light arrivals, at £6/15/ to £7; butter steady, 1/9 to 1/10; eggs quiet, 1/9 to 2/. Tea had moderately heavy business, including 900 packages of Ceylons. Tapioca advanced to 20/ for seed, and 21/ for pearl. Sulphur rose to £15. Galvanised iron rose to £1/5/, making Orb corrugated, 26-gauge, £27/5/. Cornsacks, 8/, less discount for spot or forward. Branbags, spot 5/11 to 6/ less discount. Woolpacks, September, 3/4 net.

MELBOURNE MEAT MARKET.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

In the livestock market to-day 27,000 fat sheep were penned, including a better proportion of serviceable sorts. The market was a fluctuating one, prices varying from about last week's level to 1/ better for good to prime sorts, with occasional pens about 2/ higher, and weakening to about late rates at the close, when a number of trucks, late delivered, met with a dull demand at barely late values.

Quotations: Prime crossbred wethers 24/6 to 35/9, extra prime crossbred wethers 39/ to 45/, odd pens to 55/, odd wethers to 61/; good crossbred wethers 19/6 to 22/9, seconds 15/6 to 18/6, inferior crossbred wethers from 10/; prime crossbred ewes 24/ to 35/, extra to 44/, odd pens to 58/, odd ewes higher, good crossbred ewes 18/6 to 23/6, seconds 15/ to 17/6, inferior to 12/; prime merino wethers from 19/6 to 24/9, good merino wethers 15/ to 17/, inferior lower; merino ewes (few yarded) to 14/; low conditioned ewes from 5/.

Fat Lambs: 5400 penned, the bulk being medium to useful grades, with a sprinkling of prime. The demand was not evenly sustained, and though middle of market sales showed a rise of fully 1/ per head, prices declined towards the close, and the market closed weak at about last week's level.

Quotations: Prime 17/6 to 23/, extra to 27/3, odd pens to 37/, good 14/6 to 16/9, seconds 11/6 to 13/9, small inferior from 3/.

PRODUCE.

DAIRY.

The chief point of interest in the dairy section yesterday was, of course, the continued shortage of butter supplies, the situation, if anything, being more acute than ever. Last week about 60 per cent. of the customers were left unsupplied, but Sussex-street merchants state that it will be difficult on present prospects to supply even 35 per cent. this week. Supplies are gradually getting less every week, and the only stocks for grocers to obtain will probably be the week-by-week consignments by the coastal boats. Prices, of course, were on the proclamation basis.

There was a good inquiry for bacon, and all grades were advanced ½d per lb, whilst new-laid eggs met with a steady demand at unchanged rates. Northern rivers advanced to the same level as South Coast and railways, namely, 1/10 to 2/ per dozen. Case duck eggs were dull of sale.

Quotations were:—

DAIRY PRODUCE.

RAILWAY MARKET.

The holiday on the previous day, no doubt, accounted for the large yarding at the Sydney goods shed yesterday, the muster totalling 166 trucks, the largest since proclamation prices were enforced. The consignments offered at auction also numbered more than usual. Oaten hay was in fairly large quantity, probably owing to the high prices which have been recently obtained for this commodity. Algerian was in most demand, white samples being hard to sell, and prices ranged from 9/ to 12/.

A part consignment of wheaten chaff was worth 7/9, whilst for oaten 7/7 per cwt was obtained. Lucerne chaff brought from 4/2 to 7/6 per cwt.

A truck of pumpkins, containing in all about five tons, consigned by Mr. R. Dangar, of Whittingham, was sold on behalf of the Red Cross Fund by Messrs. Bryant and Haynes and realised £6/13/ per ton.

Consignments placed in position for sale:—Hay, straw, chaff, 93; grain, 6; potatoes and pumpkins, 9.

Produce manifested to arrive:—Hay, straw, chaff, 19; grain, 6; potatoes, 0.

Wheaten Chaff.—— (616), no offer; ex Crookwell (19467), 93 bags, 7/9; 99 bags straw chaff, no offer per cwt.

Oaten Chaff.—Ex Blayney (5718), passed 7/10; Greening, Blayney (346), no offer; ex Blayney (14019), passed 7/3; Greening (9256), 7/7 per cwt.

Lucerne Chaff.—Comerford, Oakhampton (12747), 85 bags 7/1, 25 bags dust 4/; ex Bingeros (12862), dust 7/6, chaff 6/1, seed no offer; Bownes, Camden (12288), part 5/10, balance 4/2; Hillan, Wambool (17255), mixed wheaten and lucerne, 7/6; Ebsworth, Aberdeen (7381), 4/10; Ebsworth, Aberdeen (3003), 4/5 per cwt.

Oaten Hay.—Ex Blayney (8103), passed 7/5; Marriott, Hillthorpe (17887), 11/6; ex Blayney (4381), passed 7/11; ex Spring Hill (17735), no offer; Jones, Newbridge (16919), 11/8; Jones, Newbridge (15568), 12/; Oram, Mudgee (11972), 9/, balance, 20 bales straw, 6/2 per cwt.

Lucerne Hay.—Hyam, Nowra (7116), 6/6; A. E. Tomkins, Mt. Frome (3729), 6/ per cwt.

Pumpkins.—R. Dangar, Whittingham (3793), on account of Red Cross Fund, £6/13/ per ton.

FRUIT MARKETS.

There was a fair demand for local fruit yesterday, the market being fairly well supplied, rates showing practically no alteration. Seville oranges made an appearance, and were worth 4/ a bushel-case. Small Tasmanian eating apples were slow of sale, but large varieties sold well.

Quotations were:—

The quotations for locally-grown fruit do not include cases.

Passionfruit.—Local: Choice 6/ to 7/, medium 2/ to 4/, small 1/6 to 2/ a half-bushel case.

Lemons.—Local: Choice 8/, medium 5/, small 2/6 a bushel-case.

Bananas.—Fiji, 20/ to 21/ a case, 5/ to 8/ a bunch; loose, 9/ to 10/ a case; Tweed River, 14/ to 18/ a case.

Mandarins.—Local: Second crop, choice 7/ to 8/, medium 3/ to 4/, small 1/6 to 2/; main crop, Emperors, choice 5/6 to 6/, medium 3/ to 3/6, small 2/ a bushel-case.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Following are the wholesale prices for fruit at the Western Market:—Apples, eating 4/ to 9/ a case, cooking 4/ to 7/6; lemons, Mildura 3/ to 5/6, New South Wales 6/6 to 7/6; mandarins, 7/ to 9/; oranges, New South Wales 6/ to 7/, Queensland 7/ to 8/; passionfruit, Victorian 10/ to 14/, New South Wales 10/ to 15/; pears, 5/ to 8/; pineapples, Queens 8/ to 10/ double-case, Rougie 6/ to 7/6 a double-case.

VEGETABLE MARKET.

At the municipal market yesterday a fair volume of trade was transacted in vegetables. Prices, on the whole, showed a slight irregularity, but in the majority of cases rates were on a higher level. Peas were cheaper, and bunch lines, especially carrots and parsnips, were inclined to ease. Beans were dearer, and a rise of from 10/ to £1 per ton was reported in potatoes and Swedes. Cabbages sold well at late rates.

Beetroot, 2/; carrots, 1/6 to 1/9; celery, 2/6 to 3/6; eschalots, 1/6; herbs, 1/6 to 2/; leeks, 2/3; lettuce, /6 to 1/3; mint, /9 to 1/; parsley, 2/; parsnips, 2/ to 2/3; radishes, /9 to 1/3; rhubarb, 1/9 to 2/6; watercress, 2/6; white turnips, 1/6 to 2/6; spinach, 2/ per dozen bunches; beans, 7/ to 9/; river beans, 7/6 to 8/6; peas, 6/ to 8/ per bushel; cabbages, 2/ to 9/; cauliflowers, 5/ to 12/; tomatoes, Brisbane, 5/6 to 7/ per half-case; vegetable marrows, 5/6 to 7/6 per dozen; jam melons, 1/ to 6/ per cwt; pumpkins, local 2/6 to 25/ per dozen; Queensland, 10/ per bag; onions, brown, 9/, New Zealand 8/ per cwt; potatoes, Redskins 10/, Bismarcks 9/, Carmens 9/, Up-to-dates 6/, local varieties 6/ to 8/ per cwt; Swedes, 10/ to 12/ per cwt.

MELBOURNE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The wool sales were resumed in the local market to-day, when 2950 bales were submitted. The selection, as a whole, was by no means a good one. There was a full attendance of the trade, and competition for the better class of the staple was very keen, at prices which showed an appreciation of up to 10 per cent. when compared with those current in this market a month ago. Short faulty and inferior sorts, however, commanded little attention, with the result that withdrawals of these were fairly heavy, and prices in buyers' favour. Yorkshire secured a large share of the offerings, as did those operating on American account, the bulk of any good combing merinos being taken for this latter destination.

HOMEBUSH STOCK MARKET.

SHEEP.

PRIME FIRMER—OTHERS UNCHANGED.

A light supply was in view for yesterday's sales, only 12,571 sheep, including lambs, being listed from 54 consignors, and 13,722 head were penned. The consignments included a couple of drafts of 1000, two of 800, and one of 700, the balance being mainly in lots of 100 to 300 head. The weather was fine and cool. The selection was not up to the usual standard. The penning comprised all descriptions, but prime were scarce in both crossbred and merino. The merinos were mainly drawn from the tablelands, and carried shortwool skins. There was a large proportion of fair to useful trade quality wethers and ewes, a light sprinkling of prime, and a few extra prime, with occasional pens of inferior. Crossbreds were not so well represented as usual. They, however, ranged from medium to odd pens of extra prime, and included a fair showing of good to prime. The crossbreds generally carried earlier shorn skins than the bulk of the merinos.

There was only a moderate attendance of buyers, including the Sydney Meat Preserving Company, Ltd., Glebe Island, suburban, and country trade, with a few graziers. Victorian operators were absent. The market was somewhat irregular; it opened strong, and values were generally 1/ to 2/, and in places 2/6 per head higher on good lines of both merino and crossbred; while at times there was very little, if any, improvement. Medium and inferior descriptions were at times dull, and generally without quotable change.

Included in the principal sales was a draft of merino wethers from the A.A. Company (Willow Tree) that sold to 26/3, executors late R. Vickers (Uralla) to 24/10, and G. Chisholm (Breadalbane) to 23/4. Among the crossbreds were a few wethers from F. J. Henning (Wallerawang) at 47/ and a few ewes at 35/; a draft of crossbred ewes from A. W. Everett (Curlewis) to 27/4, hoggets from executors H. C. White (Gunnedah) to 23/8, wethers from Kennedy Bros. (Coonamble) to 28/6, W. G. Bailey (Singleton) to 27/9, and L. J. Milson (Yarra) to 29/8, and Baker and Reeves (Ben Lomond) to 28/3.

Quotations: Prime merino w 25/ to 27/, extra prime merino wethers 29/ to 31/, good merino wethers 17/ to 22/, medium merino wethers 12/ to 15/; prime shorn and short-wool merino wethers 20/ to 22/, extra prime 24/ to 26/, good shorn and short-wool merino w 15/ to 18/, medium shorn and short-wool merino w 10/ to 12/; inferior, from 3/; prime merino e 18 to 20/, extra prime 23/ to 25/, good merino e 14/ to 16/, medium 11/ to 13/; prime shorn and short-wool merino e 17/ to 19/, good shorn and short-wool merino e 13/ to 14/6, medium shorn and short-wool 9/ to 11/; prime woolly crossbred w and h 27/ to 29/, extra prime woolly crossbred w and h 31/ to 33/, a few to 47/, good woolly crossbred w and h 18/ to 20/, medium woolly crossbred w and h 13/ to 15/; prime woolly crossbred e 26/ to 28/, extra prime woolly crossbred e 29/ to 31/, a few to 35/, good woolly crossbred e 16/ to 18/, medium woolly crossbred e 12/ to 14/6.

LAMBS.

SMALL SUPPLY—FIRM DEMAND.

A small supply was penned, chiefly crossbreds, with odd pens of merino. All descriptions were forward, the bulk being fair to good quality woolly lambs and suckers, also occasional pens of prime and extra prime, with skins fairly free of seed and burr. A few pens of medium and light were also in evidence. The demand was active, competition free, and values without change on last Thursday's levels. A line of crossbreds from L. J. Milson (Yarra) to 23/, J. J. Darmody (Queanbeyan) sold to 20/.

Quotations: Prime woolly lambs and suckers, 18/ to 19/6, extra prime 21/ to 23/; good lambs, 13/ to 16/; medium suckers and woolly lambs, 8/ to 10/, inferior 5/ to 6/6; prime short-woolled lambs, 15/ to 17/, extra prime 11/ to 13/, medium 8/ to 10/.

CATTLE.

PRIME FIRM—MEDIUM LOWER.

With 2528 cattle listed for yesterday's sales and 2790 head yarded from 101 consignors, the market was well supplied so far as numbers were concerned, but the general average quality was none too good. The consignments came mainly from the northern, Hunter River, and coastal districts, with occasional lots from the west and south. The yardings included a moderate representation of prime, medium-weight, and heavy bullocks, also handy-weight bullocks and steers, as well as occasional yards of prime yearlings. The cows and heifers included a sprinkling of prime and occasional yards of extra prime, but medium, plain, and inferior descriptions, with rough bullocks, steers, and bulls, considerably preponderated. It was a medium yarding, and below the usual standard.

Buyers, except for the Victorian representatives, were in the usual attendance, and as the supply of prime appeared to be within requirements the market opened firm for the better qualities, but medium and rough sorts which were plentiful in the early sales were dull at values fully 20/ per head below previous rates. This fall on plain to rough cows was less pronounced during the later sales, when the decline was about 10/ to 15/. Extra prime heavy bullocks were firmer, and recovered some of the fall of Thursday last.

Included in the principal sales was a line of 18 blks from E. Smith (Dungog) to £22/15/, avg £21/8/, and 9 steers to £17/10/, avg £16/18/, from J. K. Mackay (Farley), 27 to £21/1/, avg £19/19/8; A. R. and F. Bowman (Scone), 22 to £17/18/, avg £16/19/; J. K. and W. H. Mackay (Farley), 26 blks to £17/5/, avg £15/16/3, and 5 cows to £14/12/, avg £12/12/2; J. Hudson (Farley), 31 blks to £17/15/, avg £16/3/11; a line of 24 cows from H. Abbott (Gloucester) to £11/17/, avg £8/13/5.

Quotations: Yards of prime heavy bullocks, £21 to £22/15/; yards of prime medium-weight bullocks and steers, £18 to £20; yards of prime handy-weight bullocks and steers, £15 to £16/10/; yards of prime light bullocks and steers, £12 to £13/10/; yards of good bullocks and steers £10 to £11; yards of good light steers, £7/10 to £8/10/; yards of medium and light steers, £6 to £7; yards of inferior, lower; yards of prime cows and heifers, £11 to £12/10/; yards of extra prime cows and heifers, £13 to £14; odd beasts to £14/12/; yards of good cows and heifers, £9 to £10; yards of medium cows and heifers, £6 to £7; yards of inferior, £4 to £5. Beef: light beef, 46/ to 48/; prime heavy beef, 42/ to 44/; good beef, 32/ to 34/; medium beef, 26/ to 28/ per 100lb; inferior, lower.

ATTRACTIVE CATTLE AND SHEEP SALES.

Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Ltd., report having sold at Flemington yesterday 1115 cattle and 5113 sheep, including the following high-priced consignments: 18 bullocks, Edwin Smith, Mound, to £22/15/, averaging £21/8/; 9 steers to £17/10/, averaging £16/18/; J. HALF-TIME SYSTEM.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

The North B.H. and South B.H. mines, the Amalgamated Zinc and the Zinc Corporation mines all close down this week under the half-time system. It is reported, however, that this principle of working will only last about two months until surplus stocks have been cleared in Broken Hill and Port Pirie.

MINING.

COPPER AND TIN STOCKS SOUND.

BARRIERS EASIER.

There was nothing very attractive about the market yesterday from a business point of view, for the simple reason that a pronounced weakness in Barriers cast a damper upon speculation, even in the case of those sections unaffected by the weakness of silver-lead-spelter propositions.

The decision of the directors of the principal producing mines of Broken Hill to work them and the milling plants on the half-time system came into operation on Sunday night, and this was doubtless the primary cause of the sag in share values. It brought forcibly under the notice of speculators the reduced ability of the mines to earn profits.

Moreover, it is becoming more and more apparent that the war is a big stumbling block in the way of the ready sale of the zinc and lead concentrates or the actual metal products of the mines—first because there is a difficulty in getting the concentrates carried either to London or America; second, because of the limited facilities for the manufacture of spelter in England; and third, the restrictions said to operate at Port Pirie in regard to the manufacture of spelter.

It is freely stated that in the agreement under which the Associated Smelters' Company acquire possession of the Port Pirie smelters from the Broken Hill Proprietary Company, together with the Bellambi Coke Works, the Broken Hill Proprietary retains the right to use the zinc smelting portion of the plant up to six months after the termination of the war. It is said this condition is well-known in Adelaide and Melbourne, but is only becoming known here, and that possibly this knowledge accounts for the weakness of Barrier stocks. Moreover, it is said that operators are becoming aware of the difficulty of the Broken Hill companies disposing of their zinc concentrates, by the statement that when an official of the Amalgamated Zinc Company recently went to America with authority to sell 80,000 tons of concentrates, he succeeded in selling 7500 tons only, and had to accept a maximum price of £32, with a minimum of £26, for a metal that is now quoted at £97 per ton. The deal in every way is not regarded as showing that the Broken Hill mines have an easy task in disposing of their zinc concentrates to advantage whilst the war lasts.

Moreover, as a leading operator remarked yesterday: "The Broken Hill Proprietary Company turns out 5000 tons of spelter per annum. The tonnage will absorb the whole of the time of the Port Pirie plant, hence neither the B.H. South, the B.H. North, nor the Zinc Corporation can benefit by the spelter portion of that plant. Its working will be absorbed by the Broken Hill Proprietary, and it will be as good as a little gold mine to that company." To sum up, the weakness of Barriers was attributed to the reversion to the half-time system of production, the passing of the quarterly dividend by the B.H. South and B.H. North, and the growing knowledge of the difficulty facing the companies in disposing of their zinc concentrates.

On the other hand, holders of copper and tin stocks had no cause to complain of the tone of the market. It was sound, for though the volume of business recorded was small, it was on solid lines.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

The Antarctic disturbance, which has been responsible for some good rains over the greater part of the State, has moved eastward at about the normal rate, and is at present centrally situated off our South Coast.

The eastern high pressure, which has been stagnating over the Tasman Sea for the past week or two, is now gradually losing in barometric values. The new high pressure still maintains its energy; during the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday it has advanced about 600 miles eastward, and at 9 o'clock yesterday morning was centred over the western portion of the Bight.

Further showers may be expected over the southern and eastern half of the State. The winds should veer round to the S.W., and colder weather may be expected generally.

Ocean Forecast.—Rough weather east of Kangaroo Island; heavy rains and strong gales indicated on New South Wales coast.

TOWN-PLANNING.

A meeting of the women's section of the Town Planning Association was held yesterday, Dr. Grace Boelke presiding. Sub-committees were formed to present reports on (1) hygiene in public buildings, (2) the probable danger to public health through house drainage flowing into lanes, (3) the methods of controlling hoardings with a view to improvement or prohibition. Reports were submitted by Mrs. Vale regarding comfort stations for women, and by Mrs. Hyman with regard to tree-planting at Randwick. The reports stated that the requests had been favourably received by the authorities.

RED CROSS.

A statement of work done by the Red Cross Society was made yesterday by Misses Owen and Mort, joint honorary secretaries. Up to June 8 £8082 in cash and goods to the value of £7917 11s 1d had been sent to the troops in Egypt. Nearly £2000 worth of hospital foodstuffs and necessaries had been purchased, and were being shipped to Egypt this week. Clothing and foodstuffs are placed on board every vessel that leaves Sydney for Egypt. Not only are the hospitals in Egypt supplied, but every hospital in the Mediterranean that contains Australian soldiers is under the notice of the Society. The Australian Red Cross Society had also forwarded £70,000 in cash and kind to the British Red Cross Society, and the latter had guaranteed that if Australian wounded were landed in England they would be well cared for.

FRENCH-AUSTRALIAN LEAGUE.

A large number of shirts are cut out and waiting to be made up, and as the League is anxious to get away as large a shipment as possible before next winter, further workers will be welcomed.

The Cafe Chantant, in aid of the League's fund, will be opened at 177 Liverpool-street this afternoon, at 3 o'clock, and will continue open till 11 p.m. Arrangements have been made for Mr. Fay to play the dance music in the evening.

Madame Viviani, the French Premier's wife, writes to the secretary of the French-Australian League of Help: "Paris, April 10.—Mademoiselle,—I received this morning your letter apprising me of the sending of a generous gift of clothes for the bereaved mothers and children of our Institution Hotel Biron. We look forward with great joy to the arrival of your gift. Your committee forwarded to us for food the sum of four thousand francs, and we are deeply grateful, for the need is great. I pray you transmit to the members of the French-Australian League the expression of our warm thanks. Yours faithfully, ISABELLE RENEE VIVIANI."

The hon. treasurer, 113 Pitt-street, Sydney, acknowledges the following further donations:—Amount already acknowledged, £8065/18/8. General: Collected by Madame Thibault at Yanco, £107/14/; R. MINERS' FINES.

WOLLONGONG, Tuesday.

Thomas Gilmore, the first of the miners of the Coalcliff colliery to be dealt with by the local Court, was taken to gaol this morning for failing to pay his fine on April 29. Gilmore was fined 20s, or three weeks' imprisonment, time being allowed to pay. That time having expired, and Gilmore not having paid his fine, he was conveyed to gaol. The miners are determined that they will not pay the fines at all, but will go to gaol.

VOLUNTEER'S DEATH.

ULMARRA, Tuesday.

A tragic incident occurred last night, when Samuel Jackson, aged 28, who was one of a batch of volunteers publicly farewelled at Ulmarra, was accidentally drowned. He and his brother volunteers were crossing the river by the ferry punt, which ran into a patch of water hyacinth. Jackson, thinking that the punt had reached land, stepped off, and sank. The punt passed over him. Owing to the darkness it was not possible to do much. The body was recovered several hours later.

NARRABRI, Tuesday.

Yesterday's special effort made by town and district to raise funds for the Belgian Relief Fund was a great success. The secretary, Mr. M'Alister, estimates that the fund will benefit to the extent of £1300.

CASUALTIES.

MAN SHOT.

The City Coroner (Mr. H. S. Hawkins) yesterday held an inquiry into the cause of death of John James Jones, who was found dead on the 29th ult at his residence, Military-road, Mosman. Evidence given showed that he had for some time been worried by business troubles. A verdict of suicide by a bullet wound was returned.

BLASTING ACCIDENT.

Yesterday an explosion occurred at the White Bay deviation works. Two men, Stephen Batty and Joseph Kelly, were preparing a charge for the purpose of blasting a quantity of rock, when a premature explosion took place. Both men were severely injured. Harry was removed by the Civil Ambulance to the Balmain Hospital and Kelly to the Sydney Hospital.

DOCTOR INJURED.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

Dr. Moulden, while motoring home last evening during a rainstorm, ran into a steam tram owing to his car skidding. He was rather badly hurt, especially about the face.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

On the 1st inst Mrs. Annie Stern, 58, and Harry Lewis, 42, were found dead from the effects of bullet wounds at the former's lodging-house, Riley-street, Surry Hills.

The City Coroner on Tuesday held an inquiry. Evidence showed that Mrs. Stern and Lewis had been on friendly terms, though they had occasional quarrels. The Coroner found that Mrs. Stern died from the effects of two bullet wounds inflicted by Lewis, and that the latter had committed suicide.

YOUR DREAM OF A HOME IS HERE READY FOR YOU
AT HABERFIELD.

A HOME must be more than a HOUSE. Haberfield offers the true home-lover not only the ideal situation, but also the finished surroundings—the right environment.

It is situated within easy access of the City at all hours by tram or train.

The environment of each separate Home in this delightful suburb is influenced by the atmosphere of dignity, comfort, and convenience, developed through 12 years of sympathetic improvement and careful home building.

£50 PUTS YOU INTO A HABERFIELD HOME.

Haberfield not only offers you exceptional living advantages, but very easy terms of purchase, which should enable you to have a Home of your own, without any sacrifices—£50 deposit, 25s to 30s a week—and Interest at only 5 per cent. Try where you will, you will not be able to equal these generous terms. It means simply this—that you can come to Haberfield, and with the same money that you now pay for rent, you can pay off for a Home that in a few years will be your own.

FINE BRICK COTTAGES,
ATTRACTIVE AND WELL-BUILT.
AMPLE GROUND FOR GARDENS.

There's no crowding at Haberfield. Every Cottage has plenty of ground. Each is well built of Brick on Stone or Concrete foundations, with slate or tile roofs. They are tastefully finished inside and out, and fitted with all modern conveniences.

COME OUT TO HABERFIELD, AND LET US TAKE YOU ROUND.

We have a Motor at your disposal. We'll gladly show you several Cottages now ready for occupation. If you can't come out, send for interesting Illustrated Booklet, sent free on request.

OWING TO THE WAR

many women's thoughts are turning to commercial work. For women so situated there is no more suitable or remunerative work than SHORTHAND and TYPEWRITING, or BOOKKEEPING.

If you need advice on how best to enter business life, come and talk over the matter with us. That will not put you under the slightest obligation, and may help you materially to solve your particular problem. Many women of 30 years of age and upward—some of them married women—have successfully completed our courses and obtained good positions.

Various booklets free on application, including our Report for 1914, with many photographs of successful students.

WHAT FAILURE MEANS.
If I undertake to treat you for the removal of SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS, and the operation is not successful—which means that hairs removed by me have grown again, or others in their places—I forfeit to you personally the sum of £100 STERLING.
So you take absolutely no risk if you come to me for ever being troubled again with these humiliating disfigurements. To satisfy you further of my method, permit me to give you
A FREE TRIAL TREATMENT.
No charge is made for this, nor will this commit you to subsequently come to me for treatment. I have practised this profession at my present address for 14 years without a single failure or complaint. Absolute privacy is maintained by individual waiting-rooms. Moles and Hairy Moles can be removed in single operation. If unable to call, send for my Booklet, posted free to any address.
FACE MASSAGE is done so as to restore the healthy and clear complexion. Try one treatment, it will convince.

AFRAID HE WOULD.

A friend of mine was raffling a clock. He approached an Irishman, and urged him to take a chance on the time-piece.

"No," said the Irishman, "o'ill not take it; of have no use for a clock." "Oh, never mind," came the reply in a reassuring manner. "Take a chance; you may not get it."

But the wise business manager of the home will take no chance if she includes in her Grocery order. he will find plenty of uses, too, for "REX" HAM PATE. Try it for mid-day lunches. Spread it on thin slices of nicely cut and buttered bread; and interlay with crisp, fresh lettuce leaves or with finely-cut cucumbers. It's equally delicious on biscuits.

"REX" HAM PATE

Made from "Rex" Ham ground fine and seasoned with rich spices in the good old-fashioned "Rex" way. Its taste is remembered long after the empty tin has been thrown away.

Procurable at all Grocers in generous-sized tins. Ask for "REX." Take no proffered substitute.

THE PERFECT BISCUIT.
ARNOTT'S "SAOS."

Perfection begins with the selection of the ingredients, and continues through every stage of the making of "Saos." It is not enough to bake perfect biscuits. Much depends upon keeping them perfect by packing them so that they retain their freshness and flavour from oven to table. The famous "Arnott" tin protects "Saos"—protects them from air and other contaminating influences, and protects their flavour from "getting out."

Their wholesomeness, crispness, and delicate flavour will make an immediate appeal to you. Try "Saos" to-day with Butter.

Health-building, appetising, economical.

"ALL THOSE IN FAVOUR SA-O!"

THE SAFEST MEDICINE FOR INVALIDS.

It is most essential that delicate women and invalids should not take opening medicine which is likely to cause pain and distress and thus weaken the patient.

LAXATINE TABLETS

are frequently prescribed by doctors and recommended by nurses, as they contain no drastic irritants, but act gently, causing neither pain nor griping, sickness nor weakness. Laxatines are pleasant to take, and must be masticated or dissolved in the mouth. They are made in England, and packed in screw-top bottles, 1/, all chemists.

MILLINERY BARGAINS.

We invite your inspection, Ladies, of our Winter Season's Attractions in Headgear.
They're very chic and elegant, and quite the newest thing in this important section of Ladies' outfit.
No matter what style of coiffure you affect, we can find the Hat to suit and fit you to perfection, to show off the symmetry of your features, to emphasise the bloom of your cheeks, or to soften any austere lines which may have appeared.
Our Millinery Experts are real artists, and can be relied on to give satisfaction, and their recommendation may be safely accepted by our Lady Patrons.
We invite you to test their skill.

SNOW'S.

A STORE THAT EXISTS BY THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE.

When Rousseau taught to Revolutionary inclined France that no one—not even Kings—should have any more privileges than another, the people hailed the new doctrine with delight.
"Everything," said Rousseau, "should be settled by the will of the people."
It is the pride of this Store that its methods of doing business were hailed with delight from the day that opened, over three years ago, since which time it may be said to have existed "by the will of the people."

For if the shoppers had not found this to be a desirable shopping centre, we should have had to close these doors long ago. But as it is, the four entrances are open each business day, and the crowds come and go, finding great satisfaction in SNOW'S SERVICE and the Lower-than-Elsewhere Prices.

A LITTLE WALK ROUND THE DRESS SHOP

reveals to the woman in search of Blousings something very choice and low-priced in ALL-WOOL DELAINES, which are nearly as scarce as hens' teeth.
The old price was 1/6 PER YARD, and that is the price to-day. If it were not for our foresightedness, the price would be 1/9½ per yard. There are Pencil-striped Designs in Black, Sky, Navy, Helio., Pink, and Blue. Floral designs on Cream Grounds, with Pink and Blue Flowers; also spots of various kinds.
If you prefer the Block Stripes, they are here in Black and White, Navy and White, and Helio., and White, at 1/11½ YARD.
Also a choice little lot of PAISLEYS, in all the wanted colourings—a really good French Blousing at 1/11½ YARD.

THE FLANNELETTE BLOUSINGS.

A list of all the different BLOUSING FLANNELETTES is out of the question here. The stock, however, includes Checks and Stripes of all kinds, and colours supplemented with Paisleys, Florals, and Spot Designs. In Navy, Saxe, Tan, Brown, V. Rose, Royal, Grey, Turquoise, Red and Cream Grounds. Prices ranging from 6¼d, 7d, 10¼d, 11¼d YARD.

THE SEARCH FOR TWEEDS

goes on. The women who want the right TWEEDS know they are to be found here, at prices which begin as low as 1/6½, and rise gently in price up to 8/11 PER YARD.
They are arranged on tables for easy selection, and we could well devote this space to writing up the variety on any one table.

THE SERGES ARE HERE in every desirable quality, from 3/6, 3/11, 5/11, 6/11, 7/11 upwards.

A newly-arrived wide-ribbed (extra wide) also CHEVIOT ALL WOOL SERGE, in Black.
SNOW'S PRICE, 2/11 YARD.
Other CHEVIOTS, in all colours, including Black, Navy, and Cream.
2/11 and 3/6 PER YARD.
